THE NEW BOARD WINS.

Judge Frick Gives the Decision of the Court in the Case of the Board of Public Works.

THE CHARTER AMENDMENTS ARE DECLARED LEGAL.

Contrary to All Expectation the Opinion Was an Oral One.

THE CIVIC CONTEST ENDED.

Mayor Davie, Engineer Wilson and Attorney Peirsol Triumph.

ALL TANGLES NOW SETTLED.

It Is Probable, Though, That the Ousted Officials May Appeal.

The four Superior Judges sat in bank Judge Frick's department of the Superior court this afternoon in order to hear the Board of Public Works case. Judge Frick rendered the opinion of the court as follows:

"It is the opinion of the court that the legislative authority of the city had the power to call an election for the purpose of submitting proposed charter amendments to the qualified voters of the city and that such election need not be held at the time and upon the day on which a general election legally called for some other pupose was being held. The demurrer to the complaint is therefore sustained."

"The decision of the court is in favor of the new Board of Works.

The opinion, which was an oral one, was short and to the point. The four Judges evidently concurred in it for there was no dissenting opinion.

Mayor John L. Davie, City Engineer Wilson and City Attorney J. K. Piersol will now comprise the Board of Public Works for the ensuing two years.

The suit, however, is not ended by any means. It has been stated by ex-Commissioners Hughes and Miller that in case they lost the contest they would appeal to the Supreme Court. If the case goes to the higher court it will be a long time before it is finally settled.

So far as the Superior Court is concerned the matter is fully settled. The sustaining of the demurrer decides the case business. The defeated litigants cannot amend their pleading as the decision went to the merits of the case. The four judges at first did not fully agree on the law of the case. The fact that no dissenting opinion was filed shows that there was a desire for harmony on the bench of this county. The opinion was at first intended to render a written opinion, but this course was abandoned. The opinion given by Judge Frick in the presence of his associates on the bench covers the whole ground.

The decision will allow the city government to continue as it is at present and will prevent any great complications in the administration of the city's affairs.

The most interesting phase of the situation that now presents itself is the question of patronage. That has been the only topic of conversation since the news was spread that the decision was imminent.

The departments of the city government which come under the direct control of the Board of Works are the Police, Fire and Street. In each of these there are a large number who may or may not be affected by the decree which fixes the right of the elected members of the Board to their seats.

There will undoubtedly be some very warm hustling in certain quarters from this time on. So far as direct information is concerned there is nothing upon which to base any statement as to the slightest opinion upon the matter. It was tacitly understood, however, that all matters pertaining to the question of patronage would be kept in the background until a decision had been rendered. THE POLITICAL PHASES.

The complexion of the Board politically is possible of some interest at this juncture. The Mayor is a straight Populist. City Attorney Peirsol was the nominee of the Republican and the Populist parties. City Engineer Wilson was elected as a straight Republican.

Many are inclined to think that politics will not cut much of a figure in any appointments that may be made by the Board.

The heads of the various departments are Fire Chief Lawton, with Myles Doody and Fred A. Murdock assistants. Chief of Police Shaffer and Superintendent of Streets Harrison, with M. W. Holmes assistant.

There will be a decided flurry all along the line as soon as the news becomes generally known, and not a few will be placed on the anxious seat.

The Board will meet tomorrow evening for the first time to congratulate itself upon the victory.

Editor John P. Young on the Problems of Finance.

The San Francisco Chronicle yesterday presented to its readers a most exhaustive review of the financial problems of the day. The material was from the pen of John P. Young, managing editor of the Chronicle, and it was compiled in a manner that indicated a broad range of thought on the part of the author. Nine pages, of 56 columns of the Chroncile were devoted to an able and interesting discussion of the subject. The whole field of finance was covered and in such a way that the layman would receive a comprehensive grasp of the conditions.

Argument after argument of the monometallists was dissected and the fallacies of the gold supporters were laid bare by a magnificent array of facts that carried conviction. The author has given to the world a treatise upon finance that will prove one of the most valuable contributions upon the subject that has yet appeared. The beauty of Mr. Young's treatment of the question is his simplicity and directness of argument. He turns a flood of light upon the distracting question and leaves it clear to the mind of the reader at once. His whole article is proof of his first proposition that the question is not too abstruce for the lay mind. The work will attract great attention throughout this country and abroad as well.

SIMMS UNDER FIRE.

Croker's Jockey Examined by the Officials in London.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LONDON, July 1.—William Simms, Croker's colored jockey, was examined today by an officer of the Royal Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, regarding the statements made that he had driven a horse to death Monday, June 17th, in an attempt to drive from Newmarket to Cambridge, and back, a distance of twenty-six miles, within an hour.

Simms said he drove the horse from Cambridge to the place where it died, but not faster than a walk.

Croker had left the horse at Cambridge to be shod and was not aware that Simms drove the horse until after the animal's death.

Simms is trying to retain Edward H. Carson, M. P., who prosecuted Oscar Wilde, to prosecute his libel suits.

LAMBERT SENTENCED.

He Is to Serve Five Years in San Quentin Prison.

IMPRESSIVE SCENE IN COURT.

The Prisoner Said He Would as Soon Go Up for Life.

AN APPEAL AT ONCE TAKEN.

Pending Its Settlement He Will Remain in Oakland.

Walter R. Lambert, ex-clerk of the Police Court, was this afternoon sentenced to serve a term of five years in San Quentin prison. He was convicted of stealing $569 of the city's money that had been entrusted to his care.

Attorney Brearly, who represents the defendant, stated that he will appeal the case to the Supreme Court at once. Lambert will probably be allowed to remain in the county jail until the appeal is settled.

When the defendant was brought into court this morning for sentence Mr. Brearty was not present. Attorney Colin Campbell made a statement on behalf of Mr. Brearty and said that the attorney was sick and that it would be dangerous for him to leave his home. He asked to have the passing of sentence postponed.

Judge Frick remarked that he had notified Mr. Brearty several days ago that he would finish the case this morning. His Honor said that Attorney Garrity, who was in court, was familiar with the case, and could attend to the motion. "If he does not desire to act," said the judge, "then I shall appoint an attorney to represent him."

Attorney Campbell pleaded for a little time and said that he would try and have Mr. Brearty present, notwithstanding the fact that he was ill. The case was then continued until 12 o'clock.

At the appointed hour Mr. Brearty put in an appearance and made a statement to the court. He said that he desired to state that there was no diversity of opinion between himself and Mr. Garrity in regard to the defense in the case. The only difference of opinion between them was whether the defendant should enter a plea of guilty or not guilty. He desired to set this matter straight in open court. The counsel then made a motion for arrest of judgment on the usual statutory grounds. The motion was denied.

APPEAL FOR A NEW TRIAL.

Attorney Brearty now made a motion for a new trial. He argued that it had not been proven that the defendant had not taken away the public funds. Mr. Brearty claimed that the proof simply showed a private transaction between Bailiff, Mitchell and Lambert. Mr. Brearty claimed that District Attorney Snook had commented before the jury on the fact that Lambert had not taken the stand.

There was a dispute between counsel as to the language used before the jury. Judge Snook said that he could not agree with Mr. Brearty in the matter, as he remembered what had been said.

Mr. Brearty said that he could produce affidavits by parties present to show that Mr. Snook had used language that tended to prejudice the defendant's case.

Judge Frick said that his attention was called to the point in question during the trial. He did not think that the language used by Mr. Snook was of such a character as to warrant a new trial. The motion for a new trial was then denied.

"It is undoubtedly true that every defendant is entitled to a fair and impartial trial," said the judge. "It will be a sorry day when such right is not given the defendant. The law clothes every defendant with the presumption of innocence until he is proven guilty. There is, however, no force in any of the objections made by the counsel. We went over these objections at the time of the trial. They were all heard. The verdict of the jury in my judgment is a righteous and proper one. Have you anything further to say, Mr. Brearty?"

"I want to say a few more words," said Mr. Brearty. "It is true that this defendant has been tried by a jury and found to be sane. I now claim that at this time he is insane. His actions during the trial convince me that he is insane. I ask your honor not to send him to San Quentin or Folsom, but to send him to an insane asylum. As a humanitarian that would have more effect than to make him a common felon. It would be an act of charity; an act that God would recognize as justice. Don't cast him among the felons. Don't send him to the quarry to break stones where he will become a raving maniac. This man at the bar is not the Walter Lambert of four years ago. Dr. Crowley says he is not. To send him to an asylum would simply be an act of justice. It would not be for the purpose of allowing him to escape punishment for he will have to answer the judgment when he recovers. To send him to one of these prisons in his condition means to condemn him to death. In justice to his friends, in justice to himself and in the interest of humanity send him to an asylum. For God's sake let him be treated as a human being."

Judge Frick in response to the appeal decline to submit the question of insanity again. "Have you anything more to say, Mr. Brearty?"

Mr. Brearty—Nothing more.

The Court—Mr. Lambert, stand up.

NOW FOR THE SENTENCE.

Judge Frick, in passing sentence, said: "Perhaps the most unpleasant task of a judge is the sentencing of a human being to the penitentiary. The unpleasantness is intensified in some cases, as in this, when a man is up for sentence who might have come to some better end. The defendant was a bright and intelligent man, educated for a lawyer and had opportunities to advance. His capabilities were enough to enable him to take his place in society and discharge his duties to his fellow man. There is a sad lesson to be drawn from this case. There is a warning to be drawn from undue indulgence in the habit of drink. The object of the law is not punishment. Punishment for punishment's sake is a relic of barbarism. The reformation of the criminal and protection of society is the object of punishment. I am not going to give the defendant the maximum punishment. I am going to give a sentence that will give him a chance to reflect. On reflection he may come out with some of the possibilities of life before him. I am going to give him a sentence as a warning and as an example to others to show that crime cannot be committed, that public duties cannot be violated; that public funds cannot be taken without punishment. The decision of the court is that he shall be confined for five years in San Quentin."

Lambert heard the words, "five years in San Quentin" and then he dropped into his chair.

"My God!" said Lambert, "he might just as well have given me life."

Lambert was completely crushed by the sentence and he shook like a leaf. If he is good he will have to serve three years and eight months.

General Campos Is Having a Hard Time in Cuba.

In Addition to the Insurgents Yellow Fever Rages.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, July 1.—The World publishes an address from General Rafael De Quesdad to the American people. Among other things this statement says:

"Many misstatements regarding the Cuban situation have been made. They should be corrected."

"I have received word from Cuba today that General Maceo is not a prisoner. He is at the head of his forces and confident of speedy success.

"I wish to express gratitude to the American people for their sympathy. We are fighting a system of infamy and oppression. We are fighting the Spanish government, not the Spanish people.

"I find American sentiment with us. I have more than a thousand letters from leading citizens of the United States, expressing sympathy and offering aid in behalf of free Cuba.

"I have told all these gentlemen that we cannot violate the law. They must wait until we are recognized as belligerents by the United States Government. Then we shall have all the men and arms we need and the war will end quickly.

"I may say, however, that Cuba is practically ours. Victory is already in sight. We occupy nearly all the island. The Spanish soldiers have the town and the ground they stand on.

"Despite statements to the contrary, the death rate among the Spanish troops is appalling. The reinforcements asked by General Campos are to fill broken regiments. The pestilence is sweeping away the soldiers at increasing speed.

"General Campos a few weeks ago had a total force of 40,000 men. We have 20,000 armed soldiers in the field, but we have 100,000 men ready to go to the front and fight as soon as they can get guns and ammunition.

"The situation in Cuba has changed within a week. The yellow fever destroys more men in a day than are killed in many battles. It is safe to say that during July and August General Campos will lose 10,000 men from yellow fever alone.

"We want more arms and ammunition. We could dispose of 2,000,000 cartridges at once. The men to use them are ready to march at an hours' notice."

POUGHKEESPIE, N. Y., July 1.—Mrs. Buchanan, wife of the condemned murderer made an unsuccessful effort to induce Governor Morton to commute her husban's sentence to life imprisonment at 6 o'clock this morning.

The woman sank on her knees before the Governor and pleaded for her husband's life, though her grief almost prevented her speaking.

Governor Morton was overcome.

Tears stood in his eyes as he lifted her to her feet, and told her he could not grant her request.

AT THE PRISON.

SING SING, July 1.—The following dispatch was received at the prison from New York:

"To Warden Sage,

Sing Sing Prison, N. Y.:

"The opinion of the Attorney General is misleading and misstates facts as to the appeal. The Buchanan case is in the Supreme court of the United States and by the United States laws your authority is stayed. You must choose between your supposed duty to the state and obedience to the supreme laws of your country.

"ARTHUR C. BUTTS,
"GEORGE W. GIBBONS."

Mrs. Buchanan arrived on a train reaching here at 10:30.

She was taken to the residence of the pastor of the Presbyterian church.

Warden Sage sent her word she could not see the prisoner.

THE END.

At 11:04 the witnesses were called to the execution chamber.

Electrician Davis was at the switchboard.

In a closed box was a convict, who upon a signal, was to turn the switch.

When the party was seated the electrician put a bank of incandescent lights on the chair and sent a current though them.

There were 1740 volts in the bank.

When the current was switched off, the Warden and two guards appeared at the door with Dr. Buchanan.

He walked in without a word, and took his seat.

In about thirty seconds he was strapped and in forty seconds he was pronounced dead.

A voltage of 1740 was kept on for four seconds, and then reduced to 40 volts, which was kept on thirty seconds more.

It was the quickest and most successful execution ever seen at the prison.

The Britannia Again Carries Off a Big Yacht Race.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ROTHESAY, July 1.—In the race for the big yachts today Valkre III did not start, as a heavy rain was falling and George L. Watson decided not to wet her new sails.

The Britannia and Ailsa, however, started over the same course as Saturday, fifty miles.

The Prince of Wales' cutter led immediately.

In the race for yachts above ten and not exceeding the rating course, being thirty-one miles, the Niagara, Seinta and Dakotah started in a good breeze.

The Niagara was last in crossing the line, but forged ahead of her competitors within 200 yards and began rapidly increasing her lead.

The Niagara won in 3 hours 13 minutes and 40 seconds.

The Britannia led throughout and won by two miles in a stiff breze.

The following were the times of the three yachts of the twenty-rate class: the Anish: Niagara, 3 hours, 13 minutes, 40 seconds; Seinita, 3 hours, 27 minutes, 24 seconds; Dakotah, 3 hours, 24 minutes, 45 seconds.

The Niagara crossed the line 11 minutes and 5 seconds ahead of the Dakotah, but the latter wins the race, as the Niagara allows her 42 minutes and 53 seconds, and she has a margin of 1 minute and 3½ seconds to spare.

Hawaiian Natives Express Sorrow at the Death of Gresham.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—The steamer Australia, which arrved from Honolulu this morning, brought the following advices dated June 24:

Much opposition is manifested to the appointment of W. R. Castle to succeed Thurston as minister to Washington.

The Senate has not confirmed the appointment, which was referred to the committee on foreign affairs. The committee today asked for more time.

Castle's unpopularity with the masses is the alleged ground of the opposition.

A resolution introduced in the House, indorsing Castle was tabled.

For the council of state, created by the new constitution, the House selected Mark Robinson, John Ena, Geo. W. Smith, A. G. M. Robertson and D. L. Naone. The Senate chose W. C. Wilder, Cecil Brown, G. Bolte, Peter C. Jones and J. A. Kennedy. President Dole will also name five members of the council.

A mass meeting of natives on June 20 adopted resolutions of condolence on Secretary Gresham's death. The resolution stated: "After the secretary of state had investigated with great forbearance he decided that wrong was done to our Queen and our nation and that it was fitting the President of the United States should make amends for the wrong which the servants of the United States had done."

Henry Johnson, defaulting treasurer of Muscatine county, Ia., who came to Honolulu one year ago with $80,000 municipal funds was taken to San Fra[n]cisco by the steamer Australia and the[n]ce to Iowa for trial.

LAMBERT SENTENCED.

He Is to Serve Five Years in San Quentin Prison.

IMPRESSIVE SCENE IN COURT.

The Prisoner Said He Would as Soon Go Up for Life.

AN APPEAL AT ONCE TAKEN.

Pending Its Settlement He Will Remain in Oakland.

Walter R. Lambert, ex-clerk of the Police Court, was this afternoon sentenced to serve a term of five years in San Quentin prison. He was convicted of stealing $500 of the city's money that had been entrusted to his care.

Attorney Brearty, who represents the defendant, stated that he will appeal the case to the Supreme Court at once. Lambert will probably be allowed to remain in the county jail until the appeal is settled.

When the defendant was brought into court this morning for sentence Mr. Brearty was not present. Attorney Colin Campbell made a statement on behalf of Mr. Brearty and said that the attorney was sick and that it would be dangerous for him to leave his home. He asked to have the passing of sentence postponed.

Judge Frick remarked that he had notified Mr. Brearty several days ago that he would finish the case this morning. His Honor said that Attorney Garrity, who was in court, was familiar with the case, and could attend to the motion. "If he does not desire to act," said the judge, "then I shall appoint an attorney to represent him."

Attorney Campbell pleaded for a little time and said that he would try and have Mr. Brearty present, notwithstanding the fact that he was ill. The case was then continued until 12 o'clock.

At the appointed hour Mr. Brearty put in an appearance and made a statement to the court. He said that he desired to state that there was no diversity of opinion between himself and Mr. Garrity in regard to the defense in the case. The only difference of opinion between them was whether the defendant should enter a plea of guilty or not guilty. He desired to set this matter straight in open court. The counsel then made a motion for arrest of judgment on the usual statutory grounds. The motion was denied.

APPEAL FOR A NEW TRIAL.

Attorney Brearty now made a motion for a new trial. He argued that it had not been proven that the defendant had not taken away the public funds. Mr. Brearty claimed that the proof simply showed a private transaction between Bailiff, Mitchell and Lambert. Mr. Brearty claimed that District Attorney Snook had commented before the jury on the fact that Lambert had not taken the stand.

There was a dispute between counsel as to the language used before the jury. Judge Snook said that he could not agree with Mr. Brearty in the matter, as he remembered what had been said.

Mr. Brearty said that he could produce affidavits by parties present to show that Mr. Snook had used language that tended to prejudice the defendant's case.

Judge Frick said that his attention was called to the point in question during the trial. He did not think that the language used by Mr. Snook was of such a character as to warrant a new trial. The motion for a new trial was then denied.

"It is undoubtedly true that every defendant is entitled to a fair and impartial trial," said the judge. "It will be a sorry day when such right is not given the defendant. The law clothes every defendant with the presumption of innocence until he is proven guilty. There is, however, no force in any of the objections made by the counsel. We went over these objections at the time of the trial. They were all heard. The verdict of the jury in my judgment is a righteous and proper one. Have you anything further to say, Mr. Brearty?"

"I want to say a few more words," said Mr. Brearty. "It is true that this defendant has been tried by a jury and found to be sane. I now claim that at this time he is insane. His actions during the trial convince me that he is insane. I ask your honor not to send him to San Quentin or Folsom, but to send him to an insane asylum. As a humanitarian that would have more effect than to make him a common felon. It would be an act of charity; an act that God would recognize as justice. Don't cast him among the felons. Don't send him to the quarry to break stones where he will become a raving maniac. This man at the bar is not the Walter Lambert of four years ago. Dr. Crowley says he is not. To send him to an aslyum would simply be an act of justice. It would not be for the purpose of allowing him to escape punishment for he will have to answer the judgment when he recovers. To send him to one of these prisons in his condition means to condemn him to death. In justice to his friends, in justice to himself and in the interest of humanty send him to an asylum. For God's sake let him be treated as a human being."

Judge Frick in response to the appeal said: "It is undoubtedly provided in the law that a person shall not be punished by imprisonment while in a state of insanity. Recognizing that provision of the law on account of the doubt raised by Dr. Crowley's testimony we gave Mr. Lambert a trial. The matter was fully tried and a large amount of testimony was heard and upon that testimony the defendant was found to be sane. I have seen nothing in the demeanor of the defendant in [illegible] since that time to change the [illegible] by [illegible] decline to submit the question of insanity again. Have you anything more to say, Mr. Brearty?"

Mr. Brearty—Nothing more.

NOW FOR THE SENTENCE.

Judge Frick, in passing sentence, said: "Perhaps the most unpleasant task of a judge is the sentencing of a human being to the penitentiary. The unpleasantness is intensified in some cases, as in this, when a man is up for sentence who might have come to some better end. The defendant was a bright and intelligent man, educated for a lawyer and had opportunities to advance. His capabilities were enough to enable him to take his place in society and discharge his duties to his fellow man. There is a sad lesson to be drawn from this case. There is a warning to be drawn from undue indulgence in the habit of drink. The object of the law is not punishment. Punishment for punishment's sake is a relic of barbarism. The reformation of the criminal and protection of society is the object of punishment. I am not going to give the defendant the maximum punishment. I am going to give a sentence that will give him a chance to reflect. On reflection he may come out with some of the possibilities of life before him. I am going to give him a sentence as a warning and as an example to others to show that crime cannot be committed, that public duties cannot be violated; that public funds cannot be taken without punishment. The decision of the court is that he shall be confined for five years in San Quentin."

Lambert heard the words, "five years in San Quentin" and then he dropped into his chair.

"My God!" said Lambert, "he might just as well have given me life."

Lambert was completely crushed by the sentence and he shook like a leaf. If he is good he will have to serve three years and eight months.

General Campos Is Having a Hard Time in Cuba.

In Addition to the Insurgents Yellow Fever Rages.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, July 1.—The World publishes an address from General Rafael De Quesdad to the American people. Among other things this statement says:

"Many misstatements regarding the Cuban situation have been made. They should be corrected.

"I have received word from Cuba today that General Maceo is not a prisoner. He is at the head of his forces and confident of speedy success.

"I wish to express gratitude to the American people for their sympathy. We are fighting a system of infamy and oppression. We are fighting the Spanish government, not the Spanish people.

"I find American sentiment with us. I have more than a thousand letters from leading citizens of the United States, expressing sympathy and offering aid in behalf of free Cuba.

"I have told all these gentlemen that we cannot violate the law. They must wait until we are recognized as beligerents by the United States Government. Then we shall have all the men and arms we need and the war will end quickly.

"I may say, however, that Cuba is practically ours. Victory is already in sight. We occupy nearly all the island. The Spanish soldiers have the town and the ground they stand on.

"Despite statements to the contrary, the death rate among the Spanish troops is appalling. The reinforcements asked by General Campos are to fill broken regiments. The pestilence is sweeping away the soldiers at increasing speed.

"General Campos a few weeks ago had a total force of 40,000 men. We have 20,000 armed soldiers in the field, but we have 100,000 men ready to go to the front and fight as soon as they can get guns and ammunition.

"The situation in Cuba has changed within a week. The yellow fever destroys more men in a day than are killed in many battles. It is safe to say that during July and August General Campos will lose 10,000 men from yellow fever alone.

"We want more arms and ammunition. We could dispose of 2,000,000 cartridges at once. The men to use them are ready to march at an hours' notice."

AT THE PRISON.

SING SING, July 1.—The following dispatch was received at the prison from New York:

"To Warden Sage,
Sing Sing Prison, N. Y.:

"The opinion of the Attorney General is misleading and misstates facts as to the appeal. The Buchanan case is in the Supreme court of the United States and by the United States laws your authority is stayed. You must choose between your supposed duty to the state and obedience to the supreme laws of your country.

"ARTHUR C. BUTTS,
"GEORGE W. GIBBONS."

Mrs. Buchanan arrived on a train reaching here at 10:30.

She was taken to the residence of the pastor of the Presbyterian church.

Warden Sage sent her word she could not see the prisoner.

THE END.

At 11:14 the witnesses were called to the execution chamber.

Electrician Davis was at the switchboard.

In a closed box was a convict, who upon a signal, was to turn the switch.

When the party was seated the electrician put a bank of incandescent lights on the chair and sent a current though them.

There were 1740 volts in the bank.

When the current was switched off, the Warden and two guards appeared at the door with Dr. Buchanan.

He walked in without a word, and took his seat.

In about thirty seconds he was strapped and in forty seconds he was pronounced dead.

A voltage of 1740 was kept on for four seconds, and then reduced to 40 volts, which was kept on thirty seconds more.

It was the quickest and most successful execution ever seen at the prison.

The Britannia Again Carries Off a Big Yacht Race.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ROTHESAY, July 1.—In the race for the big yachts today Valkre III did not start, as a heavy rain was falling and George L. Watson decided not to wet her new sails.

The Britannia and Ailsa, however, started over the same course as Saturday, fifty miles.

The Prince of Wales' cutter led immediately.

In the race for yachts above ten and not exceeding the rating course, being thirty-one miles, the Niagara, Seinta and Dakotah started in a good breeze.

The Niagara was last in crossing the line, but forged ahead of her competitors within 200 yards and began rapidly increasing her lead.

The Niagara won in 3 hours 12 minutes and 40 seconds.

The Britannia led throughout, and won by two miles in a stiff brese.

The following were the times of the three yachts of the twenty-rate class at the finish: Niagara, 3 hours, 12 minutes, 40 seconds; Seinta, 3 hours, [illegible] minutes, 20 seconds; Dakotah, 3 hours, 24 minutes, 45 seconds.

The Niagara crossed the line 11 minutes and 5 seconds ahead of the Dakotah, but the latter wins the race, as the Niagara allows her 12 minutes and 53 seconds, and she has a margin of 1 minute and 38 seconds to spare.

A POINTER FOR JURORS.

District Attorney Snook rendered an opinion revising one given by him some time ago, in which he set forth that jurors could collect mileage for every day during their attendance upon causes in the Superior Court. He said that a recent decision would seem to indicate that during a continuous session of the court a juror must be in attendance thereon unless excused. He, therefore, advised that jurors would be entitled to mileage more than once in the same case only when they are excused from attendance on the court for a time that would exceed one day. In other words that, when jurors are in attendance upon the court, and the court adjourns from day to day, they are supposed, under the decision, to make the county seat their residence, and it is only when they are excused for more than a day that they would be entitled to mileage in coming back to the court from their residence. "Gentlemen: I hereby tender to your honorable body my resignation as justice of the peace of the town of Berkeley, to take effect immediately upon your acceptance thereof. TO PURIFY POLITICS.

That Is the Sole Aim and Object of the A. P. A.

State President Huddleson on the Organization's Work.

Rev. Dr. Huddleson, State president of the A. P. A., delivered an address in Hamilton Hall yesterday before an audience comprising hundreds of the most intelligent people in the community.

He was introduced by Mayor Davie, at whose request the audience sang "America" with great enthusiasm.

"Sweet and Low" was sung in an expressive manner by the Golden Gate Quartette.

Mr. Huddleson claimed that the A. P. A., of which he is proud to be a member, had been misrepresented and that it had been said that the object of the association is to make a religious contest in politics. Such, he claimed, is not the purpose of the A. P. A.

"It is," he said, "designed with a view to getting religion out of politics. In addressing myself to this question I shall speak of organizations and not of individuals. We do not single out Catholics because they are Catholics, but because they are an organization striving for a union between church and State. I am as much opposed to any other religious order when it becomes an organization and a factor in politics. We must keep the church and State separate. It is suicidal to effect a marriage of the two. Our constitution says that no sectarian institution shall be supported by public moneys. A sectarian institution, we understand, is one that teaches tenets, doctrines and beliefs of its own and admits no attachees but those of its own organization. When the State supports such an institution it supports a sectarian institution. Does the State do it? Over in San Francisco is the Magdalene Society, composed of Roman Catholics, and under their direction there is paid $15 per month by the State for every inmate, and then they make the inmates work for nothing. The product of their labor is put in competition with the product of your labor. It is unmanly, it is unjust, it is unconstitutional, and so long as this continues the State is paying for the support of sectarian schools. Some $150,000 is paid every year for the support of State officers, as against $212,000 of State money for the maintenance of Roman Catholic charitable institutions. If this money is to be given let the State take hold of and introduce its non-sectarian principles."

Rev. Mr. Huddleson said that the Catholics are receiving appropriations of money from the national government and that Protestants had received assistance in the same way, but as soon as they became convinced of the wrong thus accomplished they resolved to receive no more aid from the government.

SATOLLI'S WORK.

"Perhaps some people might say to me here, why do you single out a Roman Catholic running for office? He is not responsible for the acts of the Catholic hierarchy and the encroachments of the Catholic church. I will say in reply to such a one that it is not possible to drive the Catholic organization out of politics unless you defeat the individual. Let the Roman Catholic church cease to be found on the floors of the Senate and Congress; let her Satolli cease to dictate what our government shall be; let her take her hand out of our treasuries; let her stop her interference with our schools and we will let the individual alone. Just so long as she has a Satolli in Washington, just so long as she makes her attacks on our public school system, just so long will the A. P. A. strike straight from the shoulder and below the fifth rib of every Roman Catholic I would not belong to it if it did not. People will find that we mean 'business.'

"We have had for too long governments of the bosses, for the bosses and by the bosses," said Mr. Huddleson "We have had Chris Buckley, Dan Burns, Phil Crimmins, and now Phillip Martin is coming into notice. At the last election engineered by Buckley not one of the successful candidates could represent the people and owe their election to the people. They owed their election to the bosses and were in their positions to serve the bosses instead of the people. It is our principle to defeat such things as this. And here some one might ask why we don't come out from behind closed doors and do it openly. I say because secrecy is the only thing to conquer by. Tammany was not defeated in an open campaign. Though movement after movement was made against them openly they all failed. While Tammany was in power nearly all the officers in New York were Catholics. (The doctor here read a long list of them to substantiate his statement.) And they were only defeated when the A. P. A. went into the campaign as a secret organization with the same men who for twenty years before had been fighting it."

The speaker then said that the A. P. A stands for a rigid enforcement of the naturalization laws and does not believe that the right of franchise should be given to anybody until he can read and write the English language and has read the United States constitution and the constitution of the State. He also encouraged those who feared a loss of Catholic trade because of being connected with the A. P. A. to take courage because such a boycott could not effect them, because Catholics never trade with those who are not Catholics and have not done so since the fourteenth century. He then closed with a brilliant peroration, admonishing everybody to be in line on the Fourth of July.

Mayor Davie made an eloquent and talking address, endorsing all that the reverend lecturer had said, and giving expression to many forcible facts and ideas of his own.

THE SEALING SEIZURE.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—No surprise was manifested at the state department over the reported seizure by the Rush of the Salva, the Canadian sealer. The fact that there is a sealing fleet in the prohibited waters and the officers of the revenue cutters have been instructed to prevent illegal sealing indicates, the officials say, that a great many seizures are likely to occur before the season is over.

MINISTER OR NOT?

Factions Fighting Over a Minister in Indiana.

CINCINNATI, July 1.—A special from Richmond Ind., says an interesting question was raised yesterday with regard to Dr. Dougan Clark, who has caused a furore in the friends of the church by allowing himself to be baptized

He was deposed from his ministry by the meeting of ministers and elders but when the matter was submitted to the monthly meeting a disagreement resulted.

There are now two factions—one claiming that Dr. Clark is an authorized minister and the other that he is not.

The question is more interesting in view of the fact that a prominent young couple was united in marriage by him last week, and the assertion that he is not a minister places them and him in an embarrassing position.

WANTED TO BE MARINERS.

A Colored Proposition That Came to Grief.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

DENVER Col., July 1.—The Rev. D. L. Johnson, pastor of the Church of the Redeemer, announced last night to his congregation that the Afro-American Steamship Company had gone into liquidations and that subscribers to the fund for a steamship line to Liberia could have their money returned on application.

"The same course," he said, "would be adopted wherever there were subscribers."

The scheme was sprung over two years ago and caught the fancy of the colored race, who were assured that they could command the respect of the world if they obtained a footing on the seas.

Mr. Johnson now says that the trade has been monopolized by white men.

There is no way of estimating the amount deposited by the ambitious Afro-Americans, and it is said there is little hope of the fund being restored to the subscribers in out-of-the-way places.

During the progress of the parade national President William V. Weber alighted from his carriage drawn by four white horses and joined the party on the reviewing stand.

Miss Clara Bonne, an actress at the German theater, was loudly applauded from the reviewing stand for the able manner in which she led the New York Independent Schuetzen corps.

THE PLACE TO EAT.

Visitors on the Fourth Should Go to the Crellin.

On the Fourth of July there will be thousands of strangers in this city from all parts of the county and these will occupy the main part of the business district during the greater part of the day. There will also be thousands of residents who will not return to their homes from early morning until after the fireworks display shall have closed on Lake Merritt at night.

Such people, of course, must eat somewhere and, as they have not time to return to their homes. It is reasonable to believe that they will want to take their lunch and dinner where they may do so with the greatest enjoyment. Such a place will be found in the Hotel Crellin, on the northwest corner of Tenth and Washington street, in which M. N. Hartman, the capable, courteous and farseeing manager will be ready to receive and entertain in a royal manner.

As the Fourth of July commemorates one of the greatest events in the history of the world it should be a day of feasting as well as of mental rejoicing. For this reason the meals which Mr. Hartman will serve on that day will be worthy not only of the host and the Hotel Crellin, but also of the great event which the celebration calls to mind.

They will be meals that will have the perfection for which Mr. Hartman's hotels is noted and will be provided and served under that gentleman's exacting attention.

These meals will be served in the dining room of the Crellin and will thus be far removed from the maddening crowd on the street.

A meal in a dining room on that day will be a source of rest from the excitement of the street and will be refreshing compared to a meal served with the hurry and noise of a restaurant.

Mr. Hartman will be prepared for all who favor him with a call and no patron will regret having sampled the hospitality of the genial manager of the Hotel Crellin.

THE NEW BOARD WINS.

Judge Frick Gives the Decision of the Court in the Case of the Board of Public Works.

HE CHARTER AMENDMENTS ARE DECLARED LEGAL.

Contrary to All Expectation the Opinion Was an Oral One.

HE CIVIC CONTEST ENDED.

ayor Davie, Engineer Wilson and Attorney Peirsol Triumph.

L TANGLES NOW SETTLED.

Is Probable, Though, That the Ousted Officials May Appea

The four Superior Judges sat in bank dge Frick's department of the Su- court this afternoon in order to the Board of Public Works case. Frick rendered the opinion of t as follows:

I the opinion of the court that gislative authority of the city had power to call an election for the rpose of submitting proposed char- amendments to the qualified voters the city and that such election need t be held at the time and upon the y on which a general election legally lled for some other puose was be- g held. The demurrer to the com- s therefore sustained."

The decision of the court is in favor the new Board of Works.

The opinion, which was an oral one, as short and to the poin. The four dges evidently concurred in it for er , as no dissenting opinion.

Mayor John L. Davie, City Engineer lson and City Attorney J. K. Pierson ll now comprise the Board of Public orks for the ensuing two years.

The suit, however, is not ended by ny means. It has been stated ex-Commissioners Hughes and Mil- that in case they lost the contest ey would appeal to the Supreme urt. If the case goes to he higher urt it will be a long time before it is ally settled.

So far as the Superior Court is con- ned the matter is fully settled. The aining of the demurrer decides the e business. The defeated litigants ot amend their pleading as the de- rer went to the merits of the case. e four judges at first did not fully ee on the law of the case. The fact no dissenting opinion was filed s that there was a desire to har- on the bench of this county was at first intended to render a en opinion, but this course was doned. The opinion given by dge Frick in the presence of his as- ciates on the bench covers the whole ound.

The decision will allow the city gov- ment to continue as it is at present nd will prevent any great complica- ns in the administration of the city's siness.

WHAT WILL NOW HAPPEN?

Now that the decision has effectua y ttled all disputes in the matter it will probably be some act ken within a short time regarding much-discussed question of patron- e. The [illegible] it now exists, how- r, has [illegible] to him in any way a the [illegible] will be made in the ection.

[illegible] course, sustains the [illegible] using Adams' Tutti [illegible] after each meal.

legality of the amendments voted upon in January last and shows that the city was competent to make these changes in the charter that sent the present incumbents.

The most interesting phase of the situation that now presents itself is the question of patronage. That has been the only topic of conversation since the news was spread that the decision was imminent.

The departments of the city government which come under the direct control of the Board of Works are the Police, Fire and Street. In each of these there are a large number who may or may not be affected by the decree which fixes the right of the elected members of the Board to their seats.

There will undoubtedly be some very warm hustling in certain quarters from this time on. So far as direct information is concerned there is nothing upon which to base any statement as to the slightest opinion upon the matter. It was tacitly understood, however, that all matters pertaining to the question of patronage would be kept in the background until a decision had been rendered. With this cleared up it is supposed that some action will be take soon and some changes are anticipated before long in some of the departments. The Board, however, has not intimated what way it will turn. The office-holders are very much at sea on the subject. So are the gossips about town who profess to be on the "inside."

THE POLITICAL PHASES.

The complexion of the Board politically is possible of some interest at this juncture. The Mayor is a straight Populist. City Attorney Peirsol was the nominee of the Republican and the Populist parties. City Engineer Wilson was elected as a straight Republican.

Many are inclined to think that politics will not cut much of a figure in any appointments that may be made by the Board.

The heads of the various departments are Fire Chief Lawton, with Myles Doody and Fred A. Murdock assistants. Chief of Police Shaffer and Superintendent of Streets Harrison, with M. W. Holmes assistant.

There will be a decided flurry all along the line as soon as the news becomes generally known, and not a few will be placed on the anxious seat.

The Board will meet tomorrow evening for the first time to congratulate itself upon the victory.

AN ABLE ARTICLE.

Editor John P. Young on the Problems of Finance.

The San Francisco Chronicle yesterday presented to its readers a most exhaustive review of the financial problems of the day. The material was from the pen of John P. Young, managing editor of the Chronicle, and it was compiled in a manner that indicated a broad range of thought on the part of the author. Nine pages, of 56 columns of the Chronicle were devoted to an able and interesting discussion of the subject. The whole field of finance was covered and in such a way that the layman would receive a comprehensive grasp of the conditions.

Argument after argument of the monometallists was dissected and the fallacies of the gold supporters were laid bare by a magnificent array of facts that carried conviction. The author has given to the world a treatise upon finance that will prove one of the most valuable contributions upon the subject that has yet appeared. The beauty of Mr. Young's treatment of the question is his simplicity and directness of argument. He throws a flood of light upon the distracting question and leaves it clear to the mind of the reader at once. His whole article is proof of his first proposition that the question is not too abstruse for the lay mind. That work will attract great attention throughout this country and abroad as well.

CASTLE IS NOT POPULAR.

Fight to Prevent Him From Succeeding Minister Thurston.

Hawaiian Natives Express Sorrow at the Death of Gresham.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—The steamer Australia, which arrived from Honolulu this morning, brought the following advices dated June 24:

Much opposition is manifested to the appointment of W. R. Castle to succeed Thurston as minister to Washington.

The Senate has not confirmed the appointment, which was referred to the committee on foreign affairs. The committee today asked for more time.

Castle's unpopularity with the masses is the alleged ground of the opposition.

A resolution introduced in the House, indorsing Castle was tabled.

For the council of state, created by the new constitution, the House selected Mark Robinson, John Ena, Geo. W. Smith, A. G. M. Robertson and D. L. Naone. The Senate chose W. C. Wilder, Cecil Brown, G. Bolte, Peter C. Jones and J. A. Kennedy. President Dole will also name five members of the council.

A mass meeting of natives on June 20 adopted resolutions of condolence on Secretary Gresham's death. The resolution stated: "After the secretary of state had investigated with great forbearance he decided that wrong was done to our Queen and our nation and that it was fitting the President of the United States should make amends for the wrong which the servants of the United States had done."

Henry Johnson, defaulting treasurer of Muscatine county, Ia., who came to Honolulu one year ago with $80,000 municipal funds was taken to San Francisco by the steamer Australia and thence to Iowa for trial.

SIMMS UNDER FIRE.

Croker's Jockey Examined by the Officials in London.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LONDON, July 1.—William Simms, Croker's colored jockey, was examined today by an officer of the Royal Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, regarding the statements made that he had driven a horse to death Monday, June 17th, in an attempt to drive from Newmarket to Cambridge, and back, a distance of twenty-six miles, within an hour.

Simms said he drove the horse from Cambridge to the place where it died, but not faster than a walk.

Croker had left the horse at Cambridge to be shod and was not aware that Simms drove the horse until after the animal's death.

Simms is trying to retain Edward H. Carson, M. P., who prosecuted Oscar Wilde, to prosecute his libel suits.

LAMBERT SENTENCED.

He Is to Serve Five Years in San Quentin Prison.

IMPRESSIVE SCENE IN COURT.

The Prisoner Said He Would as Soon Go Up for Life.

AN APPEAL AT ONCE TAKEN.

Pending Its Settlement He Will Remain in Oakland.

Walter R. Lambert, ex-clerk of the Police Court, was this afternoon sentenced to serve a term of five years in San Quentin prison. He was convicted of stealing $500 of the city's money that had been entrusted to his care.

Attorney Brearty, who represents the defendant, stated that he will appeal the case to the Supreme Court at once. Lambert will probably be allowed to remain in the county jail until the appeal is settled.

When the defendant was brought into court this morning for sentence Mr. Brearty was not present. Attorney Colin Campbell made a statement on behalf of Mr. Brearty and said that the attorney was sick and that it would be dangerous for him to leave his home. He asked to have the passing of sentence postponed.

Judge Frick remarked that he had notified Mr. Brearty several days ago that he would finish the case this morning. His Honor said that Attorney Garrity, who was in court, was familiar with the case, and could attend to the motion. "If he does not desire to act," said the judge, "then I shall appoint an attorney to represent him."

Attorney Campbell pleaded for a little time and said that he would try and have Mr. Brearty present, notwithstanding the fact that he was ill. The case was then continued until 12 o'clock.

At the appointed hour Mr. Brearty put in an appearance and made a statement to the court. He said that he desired to state that there was no diversity of opinion between himself and Mr. Garrity in regard to the defense in the case. The only difference of opinion between them was whether the defendant should enter a plea of guilty or not guilty. He desired to set this matter straight in open court. The counsel then made a motion for arrest of judgment on the usual statutory grounds. The motion was denied.

APPEAL FOR A NEW TRIAL.

Attorney Brearty now made a motion for a new trial. He argued that it had not been proven that the defendant had not taken away the public funds. Mr. Brearty claimed that the proof simply showed a private transaction between Bailiff, Mitchell and Lambert. Mr. Brearty claimed that District Attorney Snook had commented before the jury on the fact that Lambert had not taken the stand.

There was a dispute between counsel as to the language used before the jury. Judge Snook said that he could not agree with Mr. Brearty in the matter, as he remembered what had been said.

Mr. Brearty said that he could produce affidavits by parties present to show that Mr. Snook had used language that tended to prejudice the defendant's case.

Judge Frick said that his attention was called to the point in question during the trial. He did not think that the language used by Mr. Snook was of such a character as to warrant a new trial. The motion for a new trial was then denied.

"It is undoubtedly true that every defendant is entitled to a fair and impartial trial," said the judge. "It will be a sorry day when such right is not given the defendant. The law clothes every defendant with the presumption of innocence until he is proven guilty. There is, however, no force in any of the objections made by the counsel. We went over these objections at the time of the trial. They were all heard. The verdict of the jury in my judgment is a righteous and proper one. Have you anything further to say, Mr. Brearty?"

"I want to say a few more words," said Mr. Brearty. "It is true that this defendant has been tried by a jury and found to be sane. I now claim that at this time he is insane. His actions during the trial convince me that he is insane. I ask your honor not to send him to San Quentin or Folsom, but to send him to an insane asylum. As a humanitarian that would have more effect than to make him a common felon. It would be an act of charity; an act that God would recognize as justice. Don't cast him among the felons. Don't send him to the quarry to break stones where he will become a raving maniac. This man at the bar is not the Walter Lambert of years ago. Dr. Crowley says he is not. To send him to an asylum would simply be an act of justice. It would not be for the purpose of allowing him to escape punishment for he will have to answer the judgment when he recovers. To send him to one of these prisons in his condition means to condemn him to death. In justice to his friends, in justice to himself and in the interest of humanity send him to an asylum. For God's sake let him be treated as a human being."

Judge Frick in response to the appeal said: "It is undoubtedly provided in the law that a person shall not be punished by imprisonment while in a state of insanity. Recognizing that provision of the law on account of the doubt raised by Dr. Crowley's testimony we gave Mr. Lambert a trial. The matter was fully tried and a large amount of testimony was heard and upon that testimony the defendant was found to be sane. I have seen nothing in the demeanor of the defendant in court since that time to change the opinion expressed by the jury. In fact the defendant seemed to brighten up after the verdict was rendered. I shall decline to submit the question of insanity again. Have you anything more to say, Mr. Brearty?"

Mr. Brearty—Nothing more.

The Court—Mr. Lambert, stand up.

NOW FOR THE SENTENCE.

Judge Frick, in passing sentence, said: "Perhaps the most unpleasant task of a judge is the sentencing of a human being to the penitentiary. The unpleasantness is intensified in some cases, as in this, when a man is up for sentence who might have come to some better end. The defendant was a bright and intelligent man, educated for a lawyer and had opportunities to advance. His capabilities were enough to enable him to take his place in society and discharge his duties to his fellow man. There is a sad lesson to be drawn from this case. There is a warning to be drawn from undue indulgence in the habit of drink. The object of the law is not punishment. Punishment for punishment's sake is a relic of barbarism. The reformation of the criminal and protection of society is the object of punishment. I am not going to give the defendant the maximum punishment. I am going to give a sentence that will give him a chance to reflect. On reflection he may come out with some of the possibilities of life before him. I am going to give him a sentence as a warning and as an example to others to show that crime cannot be committed, that public duties cannot be violated; that public funds cannot be taken without punishment. The decision of the court is that he shall be confined for five years in San Quentin."

Lambert heard the words, "five years in San Quentin" and then he dropped into his chair.

"My God!" said Lambert, "he might just as well have given me life."

Lambert was completely crushed by the sentence and he shook like a leaf. If he is good he will have to serve three years and eight months.

General Campos Is Having a Hard Time in Cuba.

In Addition to the Insurgents Yellow Fever Rages.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, July 1.—The World publishes an address from General Rafael De Quesdad to the American people. Among other things this statement says:

"Many misstatements regarding the Cuban situation have been made. They should be corrected.

"I have received word from Cuba today that General Maceo is not a prisoner. He is at the head of his forces and confident of speedy success.

"I wish to express gratitude to the American people for their sympathy. We are fighting a system of infamy and oppression. We are fighting the Spanish government, not the Spanish people.

"I find American sentiment with us. I have more than a thousand letters from leading citizens of the United States, expressing sympathy and offering aid in behalf of free Cuba.

"I have told all these gentlemen that we cannot violate the law. They must wait until we are recognized as belligerents by the United States Government. Then we shall have all the men and arms we need and the war will end quickly.

"I may say, however, that Cuba is practically ours. Victory is already in sight. We occupy nearly all the island. The Spanish soldiers have the town and the ground they stand on.

"Despite statements to the contrary, the death rate among the Spanish troops is appalling. The reinforcements asked by General Campos are to fill broken regiments. The pestilence is sweeping away the soldiers at increasing speed.

"General Campos a few weeks ago had a total force of 40,000 men. We have 26,000 armed soldiers in the field. But we have 100,000 men ready to go to the front and fight as soon as they can get guns and ammunition.

"The situation in Cuba has changed within a week. The yellow fever destroys more men in a day than are killed in many battles. It is safe to say that during July and August General Campos will lose 10,000 men from yellow fever alone.

"We want more arms and ammunition. We could dispose of 2,000,000 cartridges at once. The men to use them are ready to march at an hours' notice."

SING SING, July 1.—The following dispatch was received at the prison from New York:

"To Warden Sage,

Sing Sing Prison, N. Y.:

"The opinion of the Attorney General is misleading and misstates facts as to the appeal. The Buchanan case is in the Supreme court of the United States and by the United States laws your authority is stayed. You must choose between your supposed duty to the state and obedience to the supreme laws of your country.

He walked in without a word, and took his seat.

In about thirty seconds he was strapped and in forty seconds he was pronounced dead.

It was the quickest and most successful execution ever seen at the prison.

The Niagara won in 3 hours 13 minutes and 40 seconds.

The Britannia led throughout and won by two miles in a stiff breze.

The following were the times of the three yachts of the twenty-rate class at the finish: Niagara, 3 hours, 13 minutes, 40 seconds; Selnita, 3 hours, 16 minutes, 26 seconds; Dakotah, 3 hours, 24 minutes, 45 seconds.

The Niagara crossed the line 11 minutes and 5 seconds ahead of the Dakotah, but the latter wins the race, as the Niagara allows her 42 minutes and 53 seconds, and she has a margin of 1 minute and 58 seconds to spare.

A POINTER FOR JURORS.

District Attorney Snook rendered an opinion revising one given by him some time ago, in which he set forth that jurors could collect mileage for every day during their attendance upon causes in the Superior Court. He said that a recent decision would seem to indicate that during a continuous session of the court a juror must be in attendance thereon unless excused. He, therefore, advised that jurors would be entitled to mileage more than once in the same case only when they are excused from attendance on the court for a time that would exceed one day. In other words that, when jurors are in attendance upon the court, and the court adjourns from day to day, they are supposed, under the decision, to make the county seat their residence, and it is only when they are excused for more than a day that they would be entitled to mileage in coming back to the court from their residence. Filed.

Filed.

Dr. Cleary of the County Infirmary reported that there are 224 patients in that institution, and that 56 had been admitted during June, and that there is due him $20.10.

A host of resolutions was adopted, clearing up the financial business in the various road districts before the commencement of the next fiscal year and saving the various road district funds by allowing that certain claims to be paid in part out of the general road fund and the county general fund.

Among the claims allowed in this manner was that of the Columbus Buggy Company for $275 against the Fruit Vale road district fund; Joseph K. "Gentlemen: I hereby tender to your honorable body my resignation as justice of the peace of the town of Berkeley, to take effect immediately upon your acceptance thereof. The $75 per month alloted by the last Legislature to justices of the peace is insufficient to lure me from the practice of my profession to the dispensation of justice in a temperance town.

"Very respectfully yours,

"E. H. SHAW."

The resolution was accepted, and, on motion of Supervisor Johnston a resolution was adopted appointing Frank W. James justice of the peace in the town mentioned. TO PURIFY POLITICS.

That Is the Sole Aim and Object of the A. P. A.

State President Huddleson on the Organization's Work.

Rev. Dr. Huddleson, State president of the A. P. A., delivered an address in Hamilton Hall yesterday before an audience comprising hundreds of the most intelligent people in the community.

He was introduced by Mayor Davie, at whose request the audience sang "America" with great enthusiasm.

"Sweet and Low" was sung in an expressive manner by the Golden Gate Quartette.

Mr. Huddleson claimed that the A. P. A., of which he is proud to be a member, had been misrepresented and that it had been said that the object of the association is to make a religious contest in politics. Such, he claimed, is not the purpose of the A. P. A.

"It is," he said, "designed with a view to getting religion out of politics. In addressing myself to this question I shall speak of organizations and not of individuals. We do not single out Catholics because they are Catholics, but because they are an organization striving for a union between church and State. I am as much opposed to any other religious order when it becomes an organization and a factor in politics. We must keep the church and State separate. It is suicidal to effect a marriage of the two. Our constitution says that no sectarian institution shall be supported by public moneys. A sectarian institution, we understand, is one that teaches tenets, doctrines and beliefs of its own and admits no attachees but those of its own organization. When the State supports such an institution it supports a sectarian institution. Does the State do it? Over in San Francisco is the Magdalene Society, composed of Roman Catholics, and under their direction there is paid $15 per month by the State for every inmate, and then they make the inmates work for nothing. The product of their labor is put in competition with the product of your labor. It is unmanly; it is unjust; it is unconstitutional, and so long as this continues the State is paying for the support of sectarian schools. Some $150,000 is paid every year for the support of State officers, as against $212,000 of State money for the maintenance of Roman Catholic charitable institutions. If this money is to be given let the State take hold of and introduce its non-sectarian principles."

Rev. Mr. Huddleson said that the Catholics are receiving appropriations of money from the national government and that Protestants had received assistance in the same way, but as soon as they became convinced of the wrong thus accomplished they resolved to receive no more aid from the government.

SATOLLI'S WORK.

"Perhaps some people might say to me here, why do you single out a Roman Catholic running for office? He is not responsible for the acts of the Catholic hierarchy and the encroachments of the Catholic church. I will say in reply to such a one that it is not possible to drive the Catholic organization out of politics unless you defeat the individual. Let the Roman Catholic church cease to be found on the floors of the Senate and Congress; let her Satolli cease to dictate what our government shall be; let her take her hand out of our treasuries; let her stop her interference with our schools and we will let the individual alone. Just so long as she has a Satolli in Washington, just so long as she makes her attacks on our public school system, just so long will the A. P. A. strike straight from the shoulder and below the fifth rib of every Roman Catholic. I would not belong to it if it did not. People will find that we mean 'business.'"

"We have had for too long governments of the bosses, for the bosses and by the bosses," said Mr. Huddleson. "We have had Chris. Buckley, Dan Burns, Phil Crimmins, and now Phillip Martin is coming into notice. At the last election engineered by Buckley not one of the successful candidates could represent the people and owe their election to the people. They owed their election to the bosses and were in their position to serve the bosses instead of the people. It is our principle to defeat such things as this. And here some one might ask why. We don't come out from behind closed doors and do it openly. I say because secrecy is the only thing to conquer by. Tammany was not defeated in an open campaign. Though movement after movement was made against them openly they all failed. While Tammany was in power nearly all the officers in New York were Catholics. (The doctor here read a long list of them to substantiate his statement.) And they were only defeated when the A. P. A. went into the campaign as a secret organization with the same men who for twenty years before had been fighting them."

The speaker then said that the A. P. A. stands for a rigid enforcement of the naturalization laws and does not believe that the right of franchise should be given to anybody until he can read and write the English language and has read the United States constitution and the constitution of the State. He also encouraged those who feared a loss of Catholic trade because of being connected with the A. P. A. to take courage because such a boycott could not effect them, because Catholics never trade with those who are not Catholics and have not done so since the fourteenth century. He then closed with a brilliant peroration, admonishing everybody to be in line on the Fourth of July.

Mayor Davie made an eloquent and taking address, endorsing all that the reverend lecturer had said, and giving expression to many forcible facts and ideas of his own.

LONDON, July 1.—At the opening of the House of Commons today the parties changed sides in the house, Ministerials going to the right of the speaker, and the Liberals to the left. A. J. Balfour, first lord of the treasury, and Joseph Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, were both re-elected today without opposition.

MINISTER OR NOT?

Factions Fighting Over a Minister in Indiana.

CINCINNATI, July 1.—A special from Richmond, Ind., says an interesting question was raised yesterday with regard to Dr. Dougan Clark, who has caused a furore in the friends of the church by allowing himself to be baptized.

He was deposed from his ministry by the meeting of ministers and elders but when the matter was submitted to the monthly meeting a disagreement resulted.

There are now two factions—one claiming that Dr. Clark is an authorized minister and the other that he is not.

The question is more interesting in view of the fact that a prominent young couple was united in marriage by him last week, and the assertion that he is not a minister places them and him in an embarrassing position.

WANTED TO BE MARINERS.

A Colored Proposition That Came to Grief.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

DENVER, Col., July 1.—The Rev. D. E. Johnson, pastor of the Church of the Redeemer, announced last night to his congregation that the Afro-American Steamship Company had gone into liquidations and that subscribers to the fund for a steamship line to Liberia could have their money returned on application.

"The same course," he said, "would be adopted wherever there were subscribers."

The scheme was sprung over two years ago and caught the fancy of the colored race, who were assured that they could command the respect of the world if they obtained a footing on the seas.

Mr. Johnson now says that the trade has been monopolized by white men.

There is no way of estimating the amount deposited by the ambitious Afro-Americans, and it is said there is little hope of the fund being restored to the subscribers in out-of-the-way places.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENS.

Many Patriotic Speeches Made in Chicago Churches.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, July 1.—In many of the churches yesterday patriotic sermons were preached in answer to the request of the National Christian Citizenship League.

In the evening a mass meeting was held in the Third Presbyterian church, Dr. J. L. Withrow and J. H. Brown, State Organizer of the National Christian Citizenship League, spoke.

Mass meetings were held also in the First Methodist Episcopal, church of Englewood, the First Baptist church, Grace Methodist Episcopal church, Calvary Presbyterian church and South Chicago Congregational church. Similar patriotic sermons and addresses were made in all parts of the country.

A PIANO BURNED.

Small Fire in C. H. Cushing's Home at West Oakland.

C. H. Cushing lost a valuable piano which was burned this morning at 8 o'clock in his dwelling at 1816 Seventh street. A lighted lamp left standing on the instrument exploded about 8 o'clock, the burning oil spread and ignited the piano. The fire department was called and extinguished the flames before they had spread much. The loss will be OMAHA, July 1.—A private dispatch from Hot Springs, S. D., says that Judge Lundy of the Federal court district of Nebraska, suffered a broken leg and other injuries there Sunday. He was in the bath and made use of the toboggan slide and in some way ran into an obstruction and fell over. His wife and son left here this morning to attend him.

SHARPSHOOTERS.

Five Thousand Marksmen on Parade in New York.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, July 1.—The German shooting societies of America paraded today on the occasion of the assembling of the national schuetzenbund, and then took cars to Glendale Park, where the crack sharpshooters enjoyed themselves for the remainder of the day.

There were fully 5,000 men in line when the head of the procession passed the reviewing stand.

During the progress of the parade national President William V. Weber alighted from his carriage drawn by four white horses and joined the party on the reviewing stand.

Miss Clara Bonne, an actress at the German theater, was loudly applauded from the reviewing stand for the able manner in which she led the New York Independent Schuetzen corps.

AFLOAT AT LAST.

The Defender Is Off the Ways at Bristol.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

BRISTOL, July 1.—Workmen are placing pontoons under the bow of the Defender.

It is expected she will be floated at high tide this afternoon.

Owing to the non-arrival of heavy lumber from Providence the pontoons which were to assist in floating the Defender are practically useless.

An effort will be made at high tide to pull the yacht off.

The Defender was pushed off the ways at 2:55 P. M.

THE PLACE TO EAT.

Visitors on the Fourth Should Go to the Crellin.

On the Fourth of July there will be thousands of strangers in this city from all parts of the county and these will occupy the main part of the business district during the greater part of the day. There will also be thousands of residents who will not return to their homes from early morning until after the fireworks display shall have closed on Lake Merritt at night.

Such people, of course, must eat somewhere and, as they have not time to return to their homes. It is reasonable to believe that they will want to take their lunch and dinner where they may do so with the greatest enjoyment. Such a place will be found in the Hotel Crellin, on the northwest corner of Tenth and Washington street, in which M. N. Hartman, the capable, courteous and farseeing manager will be ready to receive and entertain in a royal manner.

As the Fourth of July commemorates one of the greatest events in the history of the world it should be a day of feasting as well as of mental rejoicing. For this reason the meals which Mr. Hartman will serve on that day will be worthy not only of the host and the Hotel Crellin, but also of the great event which the celebration calls to mind.

They will be meals that will have the perfection for which Mr. Hartman's hotel is noted and will be provided and served under that gentleman's exacting attention.

These meals will be served in the dining room of the Crellin and will thus be far removed from the maddening crowd on the street.

A meal in a dining room on that day will be a source of rest from the excitement of the street and will be refreshing compared to a meal served with the hurry and noise of a restaurant.

Mr. Hartman will be prepared for all who favor him with a call and no patron will regret having sampled the hospitality of the genial manager of the Hotel Crellin.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

A Mother Seeks Oblivion for Self and Children.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., July 1.—Mrs. Benson Bennett poisoned her two children, Homer, six years old, and Lotta, aged twelve.

After watching them die she took poison herself and is dying.

She is the widow of Benson Bennett, who defaulted as treasurer of Clark Lodge, of the Brotherhood of Firemen, and committed suicide.

Mrs. Bennett left a note under the door, desiring that her sister, Mrs. Cans, and the coroner to be notified.

TAKES A NEW TACK.

Edward Barron Wants the Heirs to Prove Up.

By Associated Press to the Tribune.

SAN JOSE, Cal., July 1.—Edward A. Barron, a minor and negro claimant for a share of the estate of Edward Barron, deceased, today dismissed his petition for a partial distribution of the estate through his attorney, George Monteith.

A new petition was field earlier in the day, in which said Edward Barron asks that all the parties be cited to appear in court and establish their interest in the estate.

The petitioner is the one who claims to be a son of the deceased millionaire by a negro woman.

In his new petition he proposes to have his heirship adjudicated.

The Last of the Strike.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—The cases against 132 strikers from Oakland, Sacramento, Red Bluff, Palo Alto and Vallejo, who were indicted by the Federal grand jury for obstructing the United States mails and interfering with interstate commerce, were dismissed in the United States District Court today.

Failing All Right.

PORTLAND, Or., July 1.—The indictment against Henry Failing, president of the First National Bank, was dismissed in the Circuit court to-day. Failing was indicted for not furnishing the assessor with names of the bank's depositors in accordance with the law passed by the last legislature. Judge Stephens held the law unconstitutional.

Fourth of July Picnics.

Piedmont Parlor, No. 120, N. S. G. W. will give a grand Fourth of July picnic at Glenwood, in the Santa Cruz mountains. The committee in charge of the arrangements for the event consists of Dr. H. F. Setler, J. F. Cronin and H. L. Tisdale. They say the programme will be the finest that has ever been arranged for any of the parlor's Fourth of July picnics. Colonel Thomas F. Garritty will be the orator.

Brooklyn Parlor, N. S. G. W., will also give a picnic on the Fourth at Trestle Glen. Arrangements for the affair are now being made by Messrs. Paul W.

WANTED—HELP, MALE.

Thin Children.

The reason why they are thin is because their food does not nourish them. Probably they do not assimilate enough fat. Cod-liver Oil is the most easily assimilated of all fats, but in its natural state it upsets the stomach and deranges the digestion.

In Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites this difficulty is overcome. It is half-digested already and is very palatable. Children grow fat on it when all other food fails to nourish them.

Don't be persuaded to accept a substitute!

MONDAY,.....JULY 1, 1895.

The publication of Daily Coin in Chicago has been given up. W. H. Harvey, author of "Coin's Financial School," started the enterprise, inspired no doubt by the success that had attended the publication of his book, a success which was due in a great measure to the criticisms that the book provoked. The public didn't care for more, and so the last venture has dropped out of sight. It is a straw which shows which way the wind is blowing.

The story has been current in New Orleans that a suit is to be brought in the District of Columbia for an injunction to restrain the Treasury Department from the payment of the sugar bounty under the law passed by the late Congress. The basis of such a suit is said to be the recent decision in the suit brought by the Miles Planting Company of Louisiana, asking that a mandamus issue to the Secretary of the Treasury requiring the bounty to be paid, which had been repealed under the Wilson law. The court refused the mandamus on the ground that the bounty was unconstitutional. There has been no final decision on the question. It is doubtful if there will be any that will interfer with the payment of the bounty.

The Great Railway Decision.

Judge Ross of the Federal Circuit court, having decided adversely to the Government claim against the Stanford estate, that is probably the end of the case. There may be an appeal to the Appellate court, but that is doubtful. The demurrer went to the very heart of the case. The decision, therefore, practically disposes of any point that has been raised. The suit involved hardly less than $15,000,000, or nearly the whole of the Stanford estate. Had it been adverse to the estate, the University at Palo Alto would have ceased to exist at the end of another year. Now that a Federal court after as able arguments for both sides as have ever been heard here, has settled the law of the case, and incidentally the justice of the case, there will be general congratulations that this great estate will go to the building up of a great educational institution for the benefit of the community.

At Mount Holyoke.

According to the report published in the Springfield Republican, Mount Holyoke College had a great day on the recent commencement occasion. The Alumnae Associations that were represented there agreed substantially to raise $150,000 to secure the Pearsons gift of $50,000. Practically $200,000 was secured to the college by friends of that institution. Mrs. Mills of Mills College, was one of the most interesting figures present on that occasion. She represented the class of '45, which graduted just 50 years ago. At the Alumnae meeting the quarter century and the half century classes had reunions. This is the outline of the remarks made by Mrs. Mills:

"Mrs. Dr. Mills of California responded for the class of '45 in an interesting address. The members of the class are not ashamed of their ages, she said, but it does not seem possible that 50 years have elapsed since they were undergraduates. There were 51 in the class—the last class taught by Mary Lyon. She taught them in Butler's 'Analogy.' They loved her dearly. Of the 51 there are 20 living; nine are here. There were 13 expected, but the others were kept away. Various, indeed, have the lives of the members been. Twelve died unmarried. Many have been teachers, some have been missionaries, home or foreign. Looking back they are thankful that they were educated at Mount Holyoke and that they came under Mary Lyon's teaching. They are glad to see the wonderful improvements that have been made. The younger graduates must take up the work of Mount Holyoke as the older ones lay it down."

Mount Holyoke for more than half a century maintained its distinctive character as a seminary. The aim was to give young women the best possible education for the least money. It was a pioneer institution. It maintained a high religious character. The seminary gradually developed into the college under the demand for "higher education." It takes its place now the Eastern states having enough graduates to keep up such an association. This influence is well illustrated by the fact that they promptly undertook to raise for the college $150,000, and that pledges were presented for for a considerable part of it at this Alumnae meeting.

Mrs. Mills will return to the institution, which she and her husband had founded, to prosecute her work there as long as health and strength remain. She has seen this younger Holyoke grow gradually into a great institution. What it is to-day is only the promise of what it will be in the future. Its picturesque grounds, with parks, sunny meads, quiet dells and living water, will never be less attractive than now, because hands of taste are continually enriching the landscape. New edifices will cluster about the older ones. The time will come when the thousands of Alumnae will do for this institution what has just been done for Mount Holyoke.

For State Independence.

The Manufacturers' and Producers' Association have made a call for industrial independence. The demand is that the people of this State shall help themselves. If they want anything they must reach out and take it. The complaint about dull times will cease when every citizen has done something to encourage home manufactures. A citizen was heard to say the other day that he always gave the preference in his purchases for articles made at home. He would even give more for them. That is the right spirit. What is needed is more local pride.

If one goes through the markets, stores and shops he will be reminded that millions of dollars are sent out of the State for articles that ought to be made at home. The cloth in his suit of clothes has been made thousands of miles away. The dress goods, which his wife selects were not made at home; the leather in the shoes which he wears was made on the other side of the country; the hats which he wears were made in some one of the Eastern states. The paper on which he writes his letters, and the envelopes that enclose them, were not made in California. He will finally make his memorandum so long that he will see the many millions that are going out of the State that ought to be expended here.

In the greatest fruit state in the world, he will see tins of jams and jellies that have been put up two or three thousand miles away, hams that were cured somewhere East of the Rocky mountains, green corn that was probably put up down in Maine, and any amount of small hardware that was probably made in Connecticut.

The list does not end here; but it is long enough to furnish the best reasons for calling a halt. This the Manufacturers' and Producers' Association have done, and at the same time have proposed an advance in a new direction. Public institutions are falling into line. But the greater gain to be made is in the consent of the whole community as one mind, to buy nothing abroad that can be produced at home. And wherever there are blanks to give all possible encouragement for filling them with home-made goods. This is the key note of the Manufacturers' and Producers' Association. It is the note that every citizen is requested to sound and encourage by example until an industrial revolution has been wrought in California.

The Great Scientist Gone.

The death of Prof. Huxley has removed from the world the greatest scientist of the age. He was in accord with Darwin where the lines of investigation wer parallel. But unlike Darwin, Huxley was a controversialest. That was an element of weakness, rather than strength. He was ready to have a bout with any one who crossed his path. In many instances he gained signal victories in that way. He could interpret science with far greater ability than he could interpret the scriptures. Huxley was an evolutionist from first to last. But he was much more. He ranged over the whole field of science, making great and important discoveries, until his name became illustrious in all the civilized world.

Prof. Huxley accomplished a great work in bringing his investigations and discoveries to the knowledge of the common people. He illustrated what was best in university extension. He knew how to translate science into terms that the people could understand. He was the popular teacher of science for the great assembly. He published a great many works. His labors were prodigious in his chosen fields. His attitude toward religion aroused strong antagonisms. It was one of doubt. He had the weakness of an agnostic with the strength of a great scientist, who had cleared up his doubts in one field, but had left them as clouds over the whole field of divine revelation. He belonged to the new school of scientific men who have made their pathway luminous along many lines of modern investigation. The succession of great men is never wholly broken. But among English speaking savants there was no name greater than that of Huxley.

The more the fruit men of California discuss the best method of selling fruit in the Eastern markets the nearer do they come to an agreement on the proposition to concentrate on a single auction house in each city. Fruit dealers in Chicago have heretofore dictated terms to the fruit men of this State. They have set up rival auction houses, and demanded that sales should only be made to wholesale dealers. Competition has been cut off. The small dealers had no chance. The fruit growers here have sadly needed an independent agent to represent their interests both in Chicago and New York. A first-class man would clear away the obstructions very soon. One central point for business and free competition for everbody who wants to buy California fruit.

The reports sent out from the great business centers beyond the Rocky mountains are of the most encouraging character. There is an advance along all the lines of the more important industries. This year is a far better one for the country than the preceding one. This industrial revival has not been felt

Judge McKesick's Construction.

According to Judge McKesick's construction, the University at Palo Alto was at no time in peril by reason of the suit brought by the Federal Government against the Stanford estate. This view is hardly consistent with known facts. Senator Stanford made a partial endowment of the University. This consisted principally of three great ranches with some other property. The value of the endowment might have been nominally $5,000,000. In reality it was something less. The income was not sufficient at any time to support the institution. Senator Stanford was compelled to draw from other sources to keep the institution in operation. He had arranged to turn over the bulk of his estate, estimated at not less than $15,000,000, to the University.

He left the actual transfer to his wife. It was clearly in her province to give it or to withhold it. She had often said that if the suit went against the estate she could not sustain the institution. The fifteen millions or more, would have been turned aside, and there would not have been enough left for a permanent basis of educational operations at Palo Alto. Judge McKesick's view that the institution would be in no way affected by the litigation, is just the opposite of that held by the public.

The way the new Valkyrie slipped through the water on her recent trial indicates that this is the fastest yacht ever put afloat in British waters. The Britannia came in first on a time allowance, and by the good luck of having caught a white cap breeze, but the general opinion was that the Valkyrie was much the faster boat. The American yacht Defender has had bad luck in getting clear of the launching ways. When the boats are matched it will be the greatest yacht race of modern times.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

Lady Mary Hamilton-Douglas, the eleven-year-old daughter of the late Duke of Hamilton, will be one of the richest heiresses of the age. Her father could not leave her his title, but left her the bulk of his property, including the Isle of Arran, which is larger than the Isle of Wight. Her income now is $800,000 a year, and will be a million and a quarter by the time she comes of age.

Among the plans for special attractions for the 1900 exhibition selected by the commissioners for more careful examination are four schemes for captive balloons, four for the reproduction of an ironclad or ocean steamer, eleven panoramas, including one of a journey from Paris to the North Pole, sixteen reproductions of "Old France," "Old Paris," etc., a large refracting telescope, a reproduction of the moon, a tremendous bell in a monumental belfry, luminous cataracts and fountains, projection of light on artificial clouds, an electric gyroscope, a children's exposition, and many special exhibitions. A curious feature is the large number of plans based on aerial navigation.

are deficient it has not been possible to determine as yet whether the negro population can maintain itself in the towns, although there has been a strong belief that it could not and that the negro population of the cities was kept up only by drawing from the rural districts. This Dr. De Saussene now shows beyond question.

In the fourteen years between 1880 and 1894, the deaths among the negroes in Charleston exceeded the births by 5,426; that is, there were three deaths for every two births. The Charleston negroes are decreasing at the rate of 388 a year, and the negro population of the city would completely disappear in a couple of generations if it were not recruited elsewhere. The Charleston mortality is a little less than that of New Orleans, and allowing for this difference and the larger number of negroes here, in order to keep up its colored popuation New Orleans must draw 1,551 negroes every year, or 15,510 every decade, to prevent an actual decrease.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Ready to Help the Powerful.

Detroit Free Press.

I was sitting in a railroad depot in Buffalo waiting for a train when a stranger approached me and said:

"It's kinder queer how hard up the best of us may get sometimes, eh?"

"How do you mean?" I asked.

"Well, I just met the Governor of New York out here, Levi P. Morton, and he asked me for the loan of $2."

"You don't say!"

"That's what's the matter. Had his pocket picked and wanted to use $2 right away. He didn't know what to do about it till he saw me."

"You know him, then?"

"Never sat eyes on him afore today. He jest picked me outer the crowd fur a man who'd do him a favor. He only wanted $2, but I made him take $3. He'll send it back in a day or two. Ever meet the Governor?"

"I've seen him several times."

"Wonder how he got his nose broke?"

"His nose isn't broken. What sort of a man was the chap you lent money to?"

"Red hair—side whiskers—broken nose, and two teeth out in front."

"Governor Morton is no such looking man. You have been swindled by some sharper."

"It can be. He said he was the Governor."

"I might say the same thing."

"And he called me by name."

"So can I. You are James H. Johnson. There is your name on your satchel. Is the man around here, do you think?"

We went to the door of the depot and looked around, and we went to the depot officer and he looked around, but the "Governor" had vanished, as might have been expected.

"You ought to have known better!" exclaimed the officer, after giving up the search.

"How had I orter known better?" demanded the victim. "Didn't he pick me out as a man who'd do him a favor? Didn't he say he was Governor Morton? Didn't he praise my confidence in human natur' when I made him take $3?"

"You'd better go and soak your head!"

"What tur? What good will soakin' my head do?"

The officer turned away with a tired look, and the old man sat down and thought it all over and then said to me:

"Yes, I guess I've bin swindled, and I guess I'm to blame fur it. It's a good experience, though. I felt so mighty proud about lendin' the Governor of New York $3 that if a feller had come along and said he was President of the United States I'd a handed him over my other $7 and walked sixty-two miles to git home."

Engineers Need Not Whistle.

The Supreme court of Nebraska has just rendered a decision of great interest to railroads. There is a law on the statute books of the state compelling engineers to whistle at every public highway crossing, and on failure to do so, the railway company is subject to a fine of $50—of which one-half goes to the informer. The law has cost the Nebraska railroads several small fortunes, and every suit hitherto has resulted in favor of the plaintiffs and against the railroads. The Supreme court has just decided the law unconstitutional. J. H. Hale, a farmer, who waited until he had a number of cases, secured judgment in the lower court against the Omaha and Republican Valley, which is a part of the Union Pacific, for $3500 of this whistling money, representing 700 failures to whistle, and it was appealed to the Supreme court, and the law was declared unconstitutional.

After the Turk.

Miss Dodge (Gail Hamilton) taught in the school at Ipswich, and many legends are still preserved in the old town of the unprecedented things she used to do. The conventional always had a strange fascination for her. One morning, on going to the class room, she found all the seats had been removed to the hall for a lecture the previous evening. Instead of calling the janitor to replace them she said to the class: "Well, young ladies, there's nothing left for us but to become Turks," and down she went upon the floor in the oriental attitude. The girls followed, and the recitation from "Paley's Natural Theology" proceeded until Mrs. Cowles suddenly appeared. She surveyed the teacher and pupils squatted on the floor and said quietly, "This class may be excused until tomorrow."—Boston Transcript.

When Bees Will Sting.

Bees will sting only when hurt or attacked, and when they are driven to sting they lose their lives, literally dying in defense of their homes. Just inside the entrance to the hive are a number of guard bees under a leader; so soon as an alarm is given this leader rushes out, followed by thirty or forty others, and it is then time for the wise to move off. Should the leader strike the object of alarm the following bees will do likewise, but if the leader fail to strike, or by dodging the head or otherwise one manages to avoid, the other bees will religiously follow the leader's movements and leave you in peace.—Chicago Chronicle.

A POINTER FOR JURORS.

District Attorney Snook rendered an opinion revising one given by him some time ago, in which he set forth that jurors could collect mileage for every day during their attendance upon causes in the Superior Court. He said that a recent decision would seem to indicate that during a continuous session of the court a juror must be in attendance thereon unless excused. He, therefore, advised that jurors would be entitled to mileage more than once in the same case only when they are excused from attendance on the court for a time that would exceed one day. In other words that, when jurors are in attendance upon the court, and the court adjourns from day to day, they are supposed, under the decision, to make the county seat their residence, and it is only when they are excused for more than a day that they would be entitled to mileage in coming back to the court from their residence. Filed.

W. D. Conard applied for the position of night watchman or any other position which he was competent to fill in the gift of the Board. Filed.

The District Attorney rendered an opinion relative to the payment of the [illegible] been admitted during June, and that there is due him $20.10.

A host of resolutions was adopted, clearing up the financial business in the various road districts before the commencement of the next fiscal year and saving the various road district funds by allowing that certain claims to be paid in part out of the general road fund and the county general fund.

Among the claims allowed in this manner was that of the Columbus Buggy Company for $275 against the Fruit Vale road district fund; Joseph K. Lemps for $394.25 against the Washington road district fund; Cotton Brothers & Co., $150 against the Pleasanton road district fund; Chadbourne Warehouse Co. for $85.44 and $129.65 against the Dublin road district fund; Johnson & Peterson, for $355 against the Fruit Vale road district fund, and Cotton Bros. & Co., for $499.20 against the Alvarado road district fund.

JUSTICE SHAW RESIGNS.

The following communication was presented:

"Oakland, Cal., July 1, 1895.

To the Honorable the Board of Supervisors of the County of Alameda, State of California.

"Gentlemen: I hereby tender to your honorable body my resignation as justice of the peace of the town of Berkeley, to take effect immediately upon your acceptance thereof. The $75 per month alloted by the last Legislature to justices of the peace is insufficient to lure me from the practice of my profession to the dispensation of justice in a temperance town.

"Very respectfully yours,

"E. H. SHAW."

The resolution was accepted, and, on motion of Supervisor Johnston a resolution was adopted appointing Frank W. James justice of the peace in the town mentioned. This action was taken in response to a petition from the residents in Berkeley favoring the appointment of James, signed by E. H. Shaw, Richard Lloyd, Charles T. Kerns and a number of others.

That Is the Sole Aim and Object of the A. P. A.

State President Huddleson on the Organization's Work.

Rev. Dr. Huddleson, State president of the A. P. A., delivered an address in Hamilton Hall yesterday before an audience comprising hundreds of the most intelligent people in the community.

He was introduced by Mayor Davie, at whose request the audience sang "America" with great enthusiasm.

"Sweet and Low" was sung in an expressive manner by the Golden Gate Quartette.

Mr. Huddleson claimed that the A. P. A., of which he is proud to be a member, had been misrepresented and that it had been said that the object of the association is to make a religious contest in politics. Such, he claimed, is not the purpose of the A. P. A.

"It is," he said, "designed with a view to getting religion out of politics. In addressing myself to this question I shall speak of organizations and not of individuals. We do not single out Catholics because they are Catholics, but because they are an organization striving for a union between church and State. I am as much opposed to any other religious order when it becomes an organization and a factor in politics. We must keep the church and State separate. It is suicidal to effect a marriage of the two. Our constitution says that no sectarian institution shall be supported by public moneys. A sectarian institution, we understand, is one that teaches tenets, doctrines and beliefs of its own and admits no attachees but those of its own organization. When the State supports such an institution it supports a sectarian institution. Does the State do it? Over in San Francisco is the Magdalene Society, composed of Roman Catholics, and under their direction there is paid $15 per month by the State for every inmate, and then they make the inmates work for nothing. The product of their labor is put in competition with the product of your labor. It is unmanly; it is unjust; it is unconstitutional, and so long as this continues the State is paying for the support of sectarian schools. Some $150,000 is paid every year for the support of State officers, as against $212,000 of State money for the maintenance of Roman Catholic charitable institutions. If this money is to be given let the State take hold of and introduce its non-sectarian principles."

Rev. Mr. Huddleson said that the Catholics are receiving appropriations of money from the national government and that Protestants had received assistance in the same way, but as soon as they became convinced of the wrong thus accomplished they resolved to receive no more aid from the government.

SATOLLI'S WORK

"Perhaps some people might say to me here, why do you single out a Roman Catholic running for office? He is not responsible for the acts of the Catholic hierarchy and the encroachments of the Catholic church. I will say in reply to such a one that it is not possible to drive the Catholic organization out of politics unless you defeat the individual. Let the Roman Catholic church cease to be found on the floors of the Senate and Congress; let her Satolli cease to dictate what our government shall be; let her take her hand out of our treasuries; let her stop her interference with our schools and we will let the individual alone. Just so long as she has a Satolli in Washington, just so long as she makes her attacks on our public school system, just so long will the A. P. A. strike straight from the shoulder and below the fifth rib of every Roman Catholic. I would not belong to it if it did not. People will find that we mean business."

"We have had for too long governments of the bosses, for the bosses and by the bosses," said Mr. Huddleson. "We have had Chris Buckley, Dan Burns, Phil Crimmins, and now Philip Martin is coming into notice. At the last election engineered by Buckley not one of the successful candidates could represent the people and owe their election to the people. They owed their election to the bosses and were in their positions to serve the bosses instead of the people. It is our principle to defeat such things as this. And here some one might ask why we don't come out from behind closed doors and do it openly. I say because secrecy is the only thing to conquer by. Tammany was not defeated in an open campaign. Though movement after movement was made against them openly they all failed. While Tammany was in power nearly all the officers in New York were Catholics. (The doctor here read a long list of them to substantiate his statement.) And they were only defeated when the A. P. A. went into the campaign as a secret organization with the same men who for twenty years before had been fighting them.'

The speaker then said that the A. P. A. stands for a rigid enforcement of the naturalization laws and does not believe that the right of franchise should be given to anybody until he can read and write the English language and has read the United States constitution and the constitution of the State. He also encouraged those who feared a loss of Catholic trade because of being connected with the A. P. A. to take courage because such a boycott could not effect them because Catholics never trade with those who are not Catholics and have not done so since the fourteenth century. He then closed with a brilliant peroration, admonishing everybody to be in line on the Fourth of July.

Mayor Davie made an eloquent and taking address, endorsing all that the reverend lecturer had said, and giving expression to many forcible facts and ideas of his own.

THE SEALING SEIZURE.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—No surprise was manifested at the state department over the reported seizure by the Rush of the Salva, the Canadian sealer. The fact that there is a sealing fleet in the prohibited waters and the officers of the revenue cutters have been instructed to prevent illegal sealing indicates, the officials say, that a great many seizures are likely to occur before the season is over.

HETTY GREEN DEFEATED.

NEW YORK, July 1.—Surrogate Fitzgerald has denied Mrs. Hetty Green's application for the removal of Henry A. Farling, executor of the will of her father, Edwin M. Robison. The surrogate also denied the motion to compel the executor to furnish security of $100,000.

Balfour, first lord of the treasury, and Joseph Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, were both re-elected today without opposition.

MINISTER OR NOT?

Factions Fighting Over a Minister in Indiana.

CINCINNATI, July 1.—A special from Richmond, Ind., says an interesting question was raised yesterday with regard to Dr. Dougan Clark, who has caused a furore in the friends of the church by allowing himself to be baptized.

He was deposed from his ministry by the meeting of ministers and elders but when the matter was submitted to the monthly meeting a disagreement resulted.

There are now two factions—one claiming that Dr. Clark is an authorized minister and the other that he is not.

The question is more interesting in view of the fact that a prominent young couple was united in marriage by him last week, and the assertion that he is not a minister places them and him in an embarrassing position.

WANTED TO BE MARINERS.

A Colored Proposition That Came to Grief.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

DENVER, Col., July 1.—The Rev. D. E. Johnson, pastor of the Church of the Redeemer, announced last night to his congregation that the Afro-American Steamship Company had gone into liquidations and that subscribers to the fund for a steamship line to Liberia could have their money returned on application.

"The same course," he said, "would be adopted wherever there were subscribers."

The scheme was sprung over two years ago and caught the fancy of the colored race, who were assured that they could command the respect of the world if they obtained a footing on the seas.

Mr. Johnson now says that the trade has been monopolized by white men.

There is no way of estimating the amount deposited by the ambitious Afro-Americans, and it is said there is little hope of the fund being restored to the subscribers in out-of-the-way places.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENS.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, July 1.—The German shooting societies of America paraded today on the occasion of the assembling of the national schuetzenbund, and then took cars to Glendale Park, where the crack sharpshooters enjoyed themselves for the remainder of the day.

There were fully 5,000 men in line when the head of the procession passed the reviewing stand.

During the progress of the parade national President William V. Weber alighted from his carriage drawn by four white horses and joined the party on the reviewing stand.

Miss Clara Bonne, an actress at the German theater, was loudly applauded from the reviewing stand for the able manner in which she led the New York Independent Schuetzen corps.

AFLOAT AT LAST.

The Defender Is Off the Ways at Bristol.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

BRISTOL, July 1.—Workmen are placing pontoons under the bow of the Defender.

It is expected she will be floated at high tide this afternoon.

The Defender aws pushed off the ways at 2:55 P. M.

THE PLACE TO EAT.

Visitors on the Fourth Should Go to the Crellin.

On the Fourth of July there will be thousands of strangers in this city from all parts of the county and these will occupy the main part of the business district during the greater part of the day. There will also be thousands of residents who will not return to their homes from early morning until after the fireworks display shall have closed on Lake Merritt at night.

Such people, of course must eat somewhere and, as they have not time to return to their homes. It is reasonable to believe that they will want to take their lunch and dinner where they may do so with the greatest enjoyment. Such a place will be found in the Hotel Crellin, on the northwest corner of Tenth and Washington street, in which M. N. Hartman, the capable, courteous and farseeing manager will be ready to receive and entertain in a royal manner.

As the Fourth of July commemorates one of the greatest events in the history of the world it should be a day of feasting as well as of mental rejoicing. For this reason the meals which Mr. Hartman will serve on that day will be worhty not only of the host and the Hotel Crellin, but also of the great event which the celebration calls to mind.

They will be meals that will have the perfection for which Mr. Hartman's hotel is noted and will be provided and served under that gentleman's exacting attention.

These meals will be served in the dining room of the Crellin and will thus be far removed from the maddening crowd on the street.

A meal in a dining room on that day will be a source of rest from the excitement of the street and will be refreshing compared to a meal served with the hurry and noise of a restaurant.

Mr. Hartman will be prepared for all who favor him with a call and no patron will regret having sampled the hospitality of the genial manager of the Hotel Crellin.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

TAKES A NEW TACK.

Edward Barron Wants the Heirs to Prove Up.

By Associated Press to the Tribune.

SAN JOSE, Cal., July 1.—Edward A. Barron, a minor and negro claimant for a share of the estate of Edward Barron, deceased, today dismissed his petition for a partial distribution of the estate through his attorney, George Monteith.

A new petition was filed earlier in the day, in which said Edward Barron asks that all the parties be cited to appear in court and establish their interest in the estate.

Thin Children.

The reason why they are thin is because their food does not nourish them. Probably they do not assimilate enough fat. Cod-liver Oil is the most easily assimilated of all fats, but in its natural state it upsets the stomach and deranges the digestion.

In Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites this difficulty is overcome. It is half-digested already and is very palatable. Children grow fat on it when all other food fails to nourish them.

Don't be persuaded to accept a substitute!

THE TIE-UP OF CITY COIN.

Treasurer Gilpin Says He Gave the Council Notice.

Mayor Davie Suggests a Way Out of the Mess in Futuro.

City Treasurer Gilpin says he does not propose to bear the blame for the lack of money to meet the June salary demands. He says he went before the finance committee of the Council last week and showed them the condition of each fund in the city treasury. He claims it was the business of the finance committee to order the necessary transfer.

Gilpin takes issue with Councilman Bassett who said the treasurer had been derelict. He declares that he did his duty throughout and even went out of the way to accommodate city employes by registering their warrants on Saturday instead of holding them until today.

"A man goes out of his way to do a favor and the thanks he gets is abuse," said Treasurer Gilpin today when discussing the matter. "It seems to me there is someone in this building who is trying to do me up. The same man tried it before election and is continuing his work now. If there is any dereliction it is on the part of the Council who did not order the transfer of money last week.

"So far as placing a steel safe in the vaults is concerned, I have no objections to that at all, but I do say that it will result in the non-payment of salaries for four or five months in the year and a great deal more discounting than is done now.

"I do not propose to be accused of dereliction by anyone especially when it is not my fault that there is not money on hand to meet these demands. I told the finance committee that there was $19,000 in the Street Department fund and only $1 registered against it."

Treasurer Gilpin was very much wrought up over the statements that were made by Councilman Bassett on Saturday. The question between them is still an open one.

THE MAYOR ON DECK.

Mayor Davie took a hand in the dispute over the financial situation this morning.

The mayor is opposed to the appropriation of the city revenue that is received from sources outside of taxation. These include the receipts from licenses, from the courts for fines, forfeitures and costs and from all other departments of the city. All these outside receipts have been apportioned by ordinance in the following pro rata: Fire fund, 25 per cent; police, 25; salary, 20; street, 20, and general, 10.

The mayor proposes that all this money shall be placed to the credit of the general fund and transferred to the other funds as occasion may require. He believes this will insure the payment of salaries and other demands on that fund during the year and will effectually prevent any discounting in the future.

It Isn't There.

This week, the Oakland correspondence, but what of that! There is nothing going on in Oakland, anyhow, nothing of importance in the society world. The Alameda, Sacramento, Berkeley, and Portland, Oregon, correspondents, however, send bright budgets to Pacific Town Talk's current issue and Carrie Roma writes a most interesting letter from New York. "Our Opinion" is chiefly of a fiery, roasting nature this week, suitable to the weather. Kate Clark Brown has a story, W. W. Anderson a poem, the "Graphologist" and the "Saunterer" are on deck, and the society news, musical and dramatic criticisms run above the tide mark.

The Week's Failures.

The Bradstreet Mercantile Agency reports eleven failures in the Pacific coast States and Territories for the week ending Saturday, as compared with eighteen for the previous week and fifteen for the coresponding week of 1894. The failures for the past week are divided among the trades as follows: Two builders, two saloons, two general stores, one lime and cement, one manufacturer of cigars, one boots and shoes, one grocer and one dry goods.

A CANOPY OF COLORS.

Gay Decorations Going Up on the Line of March.

EVERYTHING IN READINESS

The Subscriptions Are Fast Nearing the Six Thousand Dollar Mark.

Today the decorations on the line of march of the Fourth of July parade were carried forward with great rapidity. Early this morning the electric poles were covered with evergreens to the height of about fifteen feet. Instead of simply wrapping the poles with branches those in charge have bound a small tree to each pole. The effect is excellent. The upper portion of the poles is being wound with bunting.

Broadway and Washington streets are being canopied with lines of banners, flags and streamers stretching across the roadway. The corners are particularly gay with bunting. The junction of Broadway, San Pablo avenue and Fourteenth street affords the best opportunity for a lavish display on the line of March. The Central bank building is being draped from top to bottom and the other corners will be similarly treated.

On Broadway and Washington streets the following firms have already begun elaborate decorations: Jonas Bros., Fred Beeker, Kahn Bros., W. B. Standeford, the First National Bank and the Sunset Telephone Company.

In the Tabernacle this morning about thirty boys gathered to receive instruction in drumming. Earnest Snow, the leader of the Fifth Regiment drum corps, is the teacher. The boys piled over the seats and on the platform regardless of everything but noise, which they produced in great quantity. They carried all sorts of instruments, from the shallow orchestra drum to the deep-toned drum of the regiment.

THE CAVALIERS.

The cavalcade is now an assured success. In all there will be about 400 riders in line. They will hail from all over this county and from many of the towns on the other side of the Contra Costa hills. The following are some of those wh will participate: E. McDermott, Jr., Lafayette Riom, M. Mulvihill, Joe Mahar, Wm. Stutt, Joe Galindo, Jno. Stutt, D. W. Murphy, Chas. Lane, E. Poulson, B. Allen, W. B. Coffin, Joe Cavanaugh, Daniel Cavanaugh, Alex. Tomorrow evening the last meeting of the executive committee will be held. Reports will be presented from all the sub-committees and everything will be finally arranged.

Chairman D. C. Brown of the executive committee said today: "Everything is rapidly approaching conclusion. Most of the committees have already finished their work and the merest details have been arranged. Tomorrow's meeting will be the last and final reports will be received. Everything promises the greatest celebration ever seen this side of the Rockies.

A PYTHIAN FLOAT.

The Knights of Pythias are constructing, in the vacant building on the corner of Harrison and Twelfth streets, a huge float representing the last act of the drama, Damon and Pythias. The frame work measures twenty by ten feet and will be about three feet above the ground. In front on the right corner is the execution block, while on the left is a place where Damon will remain in concealment until it is time for him to appear and save Pythias. The rear of the platform is a huge prison of iron, in which Pythias will be confined as hostage for Damon.

There will be about twenty characters on the platform, all dressed in Syracusan costumes. The last act of the drama will be acted in detail many times during the procession. The characters have not all been selected, but as the rehearsals proceed the cast will be completed.

The Knights of Pythias will have from 1,500 to 2,000 men in line and will produce one of the finest attractions of the parade.

THE WORKMEN.

All of the Oakland lodges of the A. O. U. W. and members from most of the lodges in the county will take part in the parade in Oakland next Thursday, and the joint committee promise that the A. O. U. W. division will be one of the features of the parade. They will have the right of line of the fourth division and will be headed by the Artillery band and a large float which is designed to show, by contrast, the advantage of membership in the A. O. U. W.

On one side will be shown the condition of the family of a man who, by his membership in the A. O. U. W., left open house all day at the hall on Thirteenth street.

J. A. C. McDonald is marshal of this division. He will be assisted by W. J. Hall, J. G. Poorman and C. B. Haswell. The aides to the grand marshal from this division are J. W. Ward, E. J. Fennon and J. S. Gilmore.

A GOOD POET.

Charles A. Keelar, who will read a poem during the afternoon exercises, is a poet of tried ability. He is a graduate of the University of California and lives in Berkeley. Several of his poems have been published and have secured a wide reading, from which much praise has resulted.

Doxey, the San Francisco publisher, has published a volume of Mr. Keelar's poems entitled, "A Light Through the Storm," and the San Francisco Academy of Sciences has published his volume on the "Evolution of Color in the Land Birds of North America."

The following by Mr. Keelar appeared in a recent number of the University of California Magazine:

TO JOSEPH LE CONTE ON HIS SEVENTY-SECOND BIRTHDAY.

Simplicity, what charm is thine combined
With such exalted thoughts as only flow
Through souls encumbered with the ceaseless woe
Of wresting truth from Nature's boundless mind,
Through souls exuberant with joy to find
What beauty beams amid the truth they know,
What love is constantly through life aglow,
And all so subtly, faultlessly entwined.
Dear venerable friend whom all revere,
Thou hast indeed attained the fair truth sought
So patiently and long through years alone,
And now thy life to all is doubly dear,
For thou hast lived the truth thy lips have taught,
And sweet simplicity is all thine own.

The finance committee report that the subscriptions up to date amount to $5,750.

George W. Arper has issued the following:

"In answer to many inquiries I wish to say that the Fourth of July parade will counter-march on Broadway, passing over to Washington street on Sixth street or lower down, if necessary, to uncover the line, but, in any event, not above Sixth street.

GEORGE W. ARPER,
Chairman Parade Committee.

The committee earnestly request that no explosives be fired along the line of march during the parade. A great many will be present and there is danger of accident. The chief of police has detailed a large number of officers to see that the request is complied with.

LITERARY NOTES.

D. Appleton & Co. of New York have put on the market "The Zeit Guest" by S. Dougall, the talented author of "The Mermaid," "Beggars All," etc. The work is attracting a good deal of attention as the subject is one out of the ordinary line of reading. Powerful lessons are entwined in casing of fiction and religious sentiments and opinion are ably presented. (Cloth 75 cents.)

In "Four Years of Novel Reading" by Moulton D. C. Heath of Boston has given to literary circles a work well worth taking place among the standard issues of the day. A digest is made of all the leading novels and points are taken as to the strength of the characters, the methods of the author and the style and diction. It is a book that everyone with literary aspirations should read. (Cloth 50 cents.)

John Owen Cost, the author of "Inspirations," is getting many flattering notices for his latest production, "One Man's Thesis." It is well thought out and admirably put.

The Midcontinental Magazine is improving with each issue. It is devoted to matters that particularly interest the West, and well known writers are engaged in its production. The July number contains a carefully prepared article on 'Croatons, the Lost Colony of Americe," by Francis Jones Melton and an illustrated essay on Chicago artists' exhibition.

The Pall Mall Magazine for July is one of the finest monthlies that has ever found the market. The pictoral work is handsomer and more finished than ever and the articles are by the best writers in Great Britain. Sir Henry Cunnigham contributes "The Touch of an Angel's Wing," Judge O'Connor Morris writes of "The Campaign of Trafalgar;" Arthur Warren tells of Lord Keino and John De Walden Page has an admirable study of Combe Florey and Sydney Smith.

Scribner's for July will have especial interest on the Pacific coast as it has an article on the Athletic clubs which includes an illustration of the Olympic grounds in San Francisco. The matter is treated in masterly style. Another subject deserving especial mention is an essay by E. Benjamin Andrews, president of the Brown University, on "The History of the Last Quarter Century of the United States."

In "In the Saddle," by Oliver Optic, the reader continues the acquaintance of many of the characters which are prominent in "Brother against Brother," the preceding volume of the series. The real military opinions of the war now commence and the residents of the section where the scene is laid see and feel the terrors and anxieties of Civil war. Titus Lyons raises a company of Home Guards which soon becomes part of the Confederate Army. Noah Lyon, the younger brother, having obtained a commission, raises a squadron of cavalry, in which, among other old friends, Deck and Artie appear as privates. The operation of this loyal battalion of cavalry in protecting bridges, the repressing of partisan onslaughts, and the guarding of towns and villages largely inhabited by citizens loyal to the Union form the basis of the story. The author carefully avoids reflection on the motives of those who took the Southern side but loses no opportunity to impress upon the minds of his readers the great lessons of honor, duty and love of country. (Price $1.50, for sale by W. B. Hardy, Broadway, Oakland.)

"Jean Belin," the French Robinson Crusoe, from the French of Alfred de Brehat, is a book which will be eagerly read by the young people into whose hands it may come. It has been justly called the companion to the "Swiss Family Robinson," as Jean and his companions thrown upon an uninhabited part of the coast of Africa, show the same fertility of resources in adapting themselves to their surroundings and causing the wilderness to yield up its treasures for their comfort, as did the heroes of the former story. Jean and Leandry's adventures among the savages by whom they are taken prisoners, while attempting to reach the English settlements, and the treachery of Leandry towards Jean after his arrival at Port Natal, from which succor was sent to the shipwrecked family are graphically told. The final happy reunion of Jean and the Peerson family and the humiliation of Leandry end a story which will prove as interesting to girls as to boys and teach them the valuable lessons of self-help and united action with which to achieve the best results. (Price $1.50. For sale by W. B. Hardy, Broadway, Oakland.)

"In the Wild Rose Time," by Amanda M. Douglas, cloth $1.50. Miss Douglas has given us a strong and true picture of life among the poor, and the trials and temptations which surround them, and also of the noble lives which spring up and blossom amid such scenes, as anything which has previously emanated from her pen. Dilsey Quinn "like a gem of purest ray serene" stands out in bold relief, and, though poor and ignorant, in her strong love and mother care for her younger and helpless sister Bess, and her beautiful forgetfulness of self in such love, exercises an influence for good on all with whom she comes in contact, and causes the current of many lives to run in new and better paths. Faith, love, hope and charity shine out on every page of this book like beacon lights, and so vivid are the pen-pictures that one seems to be a participant in them. Had Miss Douglas written but this one book, it would alone have placed her name among our best authors. (Price $1.50. For sale by W. B. Hardy, Broadway, Oakland.)

"Lisbeth Wilson," by Eliza Nelson Blair (Mrs. Henry W. Blair). Some novels are imposed upon a long-suffering public because a man or woman unfitted for the task, and with no appreciation of the art, has a wild ambition to write a novel. Others appear, because the publisher advises a second after a success, or a third or fourth, usually a dreary dilution. Some are turned out as if from a machine or an oven with fatiguing frequency, until the sale stops. A few novels write themselves, recalling impressions burnt in upon the soul, from childhood up; the author impelled by these forceful reminiscences writes because called to tell the story. Such a book makes its own way and lives. And such a novel as that has just been issued by Lee & Shepard, the first book of one of New Hampshire's best known women, who thinks for herself and can tell what she has so carefully observed and stud-

Mahon of 1641 Adeline street. Mary made her appearance in the Police Court this morning and pleaded guilty to charges of battery and disturbing the peace. She will receive her sentence tomorrow.

The Council Tonight.

There will be a meeting of the Council this evening. The franchise for the new Commercial Telephone Company will be considered. The Council will probably call for bids upon the franchise as provided by law. The city finances will be discussed, in all likelihood.

SP. CIAL SALE of CAMPERS' SUPPLIES

A SUCCESSFUL START.

An Excellent Attraction Is at the Oakland Theater.

Everything First-Class and a Big Patronage Is Assured.

The Oakland theater was opened on Saturday night under the most auspicious circumstances. The house was packed until standing room was at a premium. From the proscenium boxes to the last tier in the gallery the available space was occupied.

The theater itself was all that the management had promised. A very thorough renovation had taken place. Everything was new from the fine Brussels laid upon the floor to the mural and ceiling decorations above.

The drop curtain and stage scenery have been in the hands of the painter for some weeks. They have taken on a bright, fresh and inviting appearance. The exterior of the building has likewise been cleaned and painted and all through there is a very marked improvement to be noted.

The first night's performance was a glittering success and is surely the forerunner of a long engagement of equally excellent performances, and is big houses. "Farmer Stebbins" is a bright play with some very clever people in the cast. Sam T. Shaw in the title roll is one of the best farmers that ever fell into difficulties in New York. He is not exaggerated and the fun is clean and natural. George Allen Watson as Frank Armstrong is exceptionally good.

Some of the scenic effects are unusually fine. A saw mill explosion is interesting and effective. The fight of the limited express is also well done.

The orchestra is one of the features of the performance. Seats may be had at Reilley's drug store, 1067 Broadway.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

The ladies of Santa Rosa are to be congratulated upon their success in saving the trees which add so much to the beauty of their pretty little city. We have always been afraid, until lately, that a wave of so-called utilitarianism would some day or other sweep away the trees that make Oakland uniquely handsome and picturesque among the cities of the world. But women are now beginning to impress their character so strongly upon public life and affairs that we have come to the belief that the trees are safe.—San Francisco Report.

The Associated Charities will give an outing to the inmates of the various orphan asylums of San Francisco and Oakland on July Fourth.—Alameda Encinal.

The case of the barkeepers of the ferry boats Oakland, Piedmont and El Capitan, who are charged with selling liquor without a license from the city of Oakland were before Justice Wood in Oakland yesterday. William McCormick, the proprietor of the bars, has admitted all the facts in the case. The point now involved is simply whether or not the city of Oakland has municipal jurisdiction over the boats and can force the proprietor of the bars to pay a license in that city. The cases will be set for argument at an early date. The matter will be submitted on briefs in all probability.—Alameda Encinal.

State Labor Commissioner Fitzgerald is about to take effectual measures to stop the influx of Japanese coolies. He is preparing a petition to be circulated throughout the State and afterward presented to the next Congress, praying for a restricting act in relation to this class of immigration. It is said that the lower class of Japs are worse that the Chinese coolies.—Martinez News.

Oakland has now secured for the Alameda county Fourth of July celebration subscriptions to the amount of $5,500.50, with the prospect of still more funds ere the close of the lists. Every movement indicates a truly grand old-time celebration of the nation's birthday by Alameda county at Oakland.—Alameda Encinal.

Labor Commissioner Fitzgerald of Oakland suggests that the unemployed be sent into the foothills to work abandoned placer mines. The suggestion is good. Some of the thrifty did not wait for the suggestion, but started for the hills early in the hard times and have earned their living while waiting for manufacturing, etc., to revive.—Stockton Independent.

There is seldom such a complete typographical metamorphosis of a newspaper as that recently effected on the Oakland Tribune. Type-setting machines are what did it.—Alameda Argus.

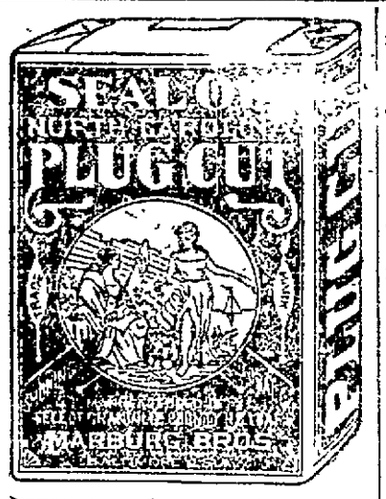

All citizens of Alameda county are earnestly requested to participate in the grand celebration to be held in Oakland July Fourth. A splendid programme has been arranged and it will be a day of continuous enjoyment from 7 o'clock in the morning till midnight. A monster parade will take place which will be by far the grandest thing of its kind ever held in the county. The display of fireworks in the evening will be something grand and will certainly be worth going miles to see. Fares on the railroad have been reduced so that one can make the round trip for what is usually asked for one way. Everybody should attend and help make this a grand Alameda county celebration.—Washington Press.

State Labor Commissioner Fitzgerald of Oakland has been told that hundreds of Japanese are entering the State by the northern land route. They have been doing so for a long time, as the Report has often said during the past two or three years.—San Francisco Report.

The Oakland Water Company is tearing down of nearly all of the old warehouses on their land and building some fine new ones.—Washington Press.

Misses Susan B. Anthony and Rev. Anna Shaw have been entertaining the good people of Oakland with their brilliant and somewhat humorous lectures upon the woman question. They drew a crowded house last Tuesday evening in the First Congregational church, and were introduced to the audience by Col. John P. Irish. Why cannot we have these stars in the woman's firmanent visit Alameda and be heard by our people? They could be assured of a generous welcome, and our people would go to hear them as eagerly as those of our sister city across the estuary.—Alameda Encinal.

Thin Children.

The reason why they are thin is because their food does not nourish them. Probably they do not assimilate enough fat. Cod-liver Oil is the most easily assimilated of all fats, but in its natural state it upsets the stomach and deranges the digestion.

In Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites this difficulty is overcome. It is half-digested already and is very palatable. Children grow fat on it when all other food fails to nourish them.

Don't be persuaded to accept a substitute!

MONDAY,.............. JULY 1, 1895.

The publication of Daily Coin in Chicago has been given up W. H. Harvey, author of "Coin's Financial School," started the enterprise, inspired no doubt by the success that had attended the publication of his book, a success which was due in a great measure to the criticisms that the book provoked. The public didn't care for more, and so the last venture has dropped out of sight. It is a straw which shows which way the wind is blowing.

The story has been current in New Orleans that a suit is to be brought in the District of Columbia for an injunction to restrain the Treasury Department from the payment of the sugar bounty under the law passed by the late Congress The basis of such a suit is said to be the recent decision in the suit brought by the Miles Planting Company of Louisiana, asking that a mandamus issue to the Secretary of the Treasury requiring the bounty to be paid, which had been repealed under the Wilson law. The court refused the mandamus on the ground that the bounty was unconstitutional. There has been no final decision on the question. It is doubtful if there will be any that will interfer with the payment of the bounty.

The Great Railway Decision.

Judge Ross of the Federal Circuit court, having decided adversely to the Government claim against the Stanford estate, that is probably the end of the case. There may be an appeal to the Appellate court, but that is doubtful. The demurrer went to the very heart of the case. The decision, therefore, practically disposes of any point that has been raised. The suit involved hardly less than $15,000,000, or nearly the whole of the Stanford estate. Had it been adverse to the estate, the University at Palo Alto would have ceased to exist at the end of another year. Now that a Federal court after as able arguments for both sides as have ever been heard here, has settled the law of the case, and incidentally the justice of the case, there will be general congratulations that this great estate will go to the building up of a great educational institution for the benefit of the community.

At Mount Holyoke.

According to the report published in the Springfield Republican, Mount Holyoke College had a great day on the recent commencement occasion. The Alumnae Associations that were represented there agreed substantially to raise $150,000 to secure the Pearsons gift of $50,000. Practically $200,000 was secured to the college by friends of that institution. Mrs. Mills of Mills College, was one of the most interesting figures present on that occasion She represented the class of '45, which graduated just 50 years ago. At the Alumnae meeting the quarter century and the half century classes had reunions. This is the outline of the remarks made by Mrs. Mills:

"Mrs. Dr. Mills of California responded for the class of '45 in an interesting address. The members of the class are not ashamed of their ages, she said, but it does not seem possible that 50 years have elapsed since they were undergraduates. There were 51 in the class—the last class taught by Mary Lyon. She taught them in Butler's 'Analogy.' They loved her dearly. Of the 51 there are 20 living; nine are here. There were 13 expected, but the others were kept away. Various, indeed, have the lives of the members been. Twelve died unmarried. Many have been teachers, some have been missionaries, home or foreign. Looking back they are thankful that they were educated at Mount Holyoke and that they came under Mary Lyon's teaching. They are glad to see the wonderful improvements that have been made. The younger graduates must take up the work of Mount Holyoke as the older ones lay it down."

Mount Holyoke for more than half a century maintained its distinctive character as a seminary. The aim was to give young women the best possible education for the least money. It was a pioneer institution. It maintained a high religious character. The seminary gradually developed into the college under the demand for "higher education." It takes its place now among the colleges devoted to the education of women. Its Alumnae are in all lands. The number is so great, embracing many thousands, that Alumnae associations have been maintained. Every city and [illegible]

the Eastern states having enough graduates to keep up such an association. This influence is well illustrated by the fact that they promptly undertook to raise for the college $150,000, and that pledges were presented for for a considerable part of it at this Alumnae meeting.

Mrs. Mills will return to the institution, which she and her husband had founded, to prosecute her work there as long as health and strength remain. She has seen this younger Holyoke grow gradually into a great institution. What it is to-day is only the promise of what it will be in the future. Its picturesque grounds, with parks, sunny meads, quiet dells and living water, will never be less attractive than now, because hands of taste are continually enriching the landscape. New edifices will cluster about the older ones The time will come when the thousands of Alumnae will do for this institution what has just been done for Mount Holyoke.

For State Independence.

The Manufacturers' and Producers' Association have made a call for industrial independence. The demand is that the people of this State shall help themselves If they want anything they must reach out and take it The complaint about dull times will cease when every citizen has done something to encourage home manufactures A citizen was heard to say the other day that he always gave the preference in his purchases for articles made at home. He would even give more for them That is the right spirit What is needed is more local pride

If one goes through the markets, stores and shops he will be reminded that millions of dollars are sent out of the State for articles that ought to be made at home. The cloth in his suit of clothes has been made thousands of miles away. The dress goods, which his wife selects were not made at home, the leather in the shoes which he wears was made on the other side of the country, the hats which he wears were made in some one of the Eastern states. The paper on which he writes his letters, and the envelopes that enclose them were not made in California. He will finally make his memorandum so long that he will see the many millions that are going out of the State that ought to be expended here

In the greatest fruit state in the world, he will see tins of jams and jellies that have been put up two or three thousand miles away, hams that were cured somewhere East of the Rocky mountains, green corn that was probably put up down in Maine, and any amount of small hardware that was probably made in Connecticut

The list does not end here; but it is long enough to furnish the best reasons for calling a halt This the Manufacturers' and Producers' Association have done and at the same time have proposed an advanced in a new direction. Public institutions are falling into line But the greater gain to be made is in the consent of the whole community as one mind, to buy nothing abroad that can be produced at home. And wherever there are blanks to give all possible encouragement for filling them with home-made goods This is the key note of the Manufacturers' and Producers' Association. It is the note that every citizen is requested to sound and encourage by example until an industrial revolution has been wrought in California.

The Great Scientist Gone.

The death of Prof Huxley has removed from the world the greatest scientist of the age He was in accord with Darwin where the lines of investigation wer parallel. But unlike Darwin, Huxley was a controversialest That was an element of weakness, rather than strength. He was ready to have a bout with any one who crossed his path In many instances he gained signal victories in that way. He could interpret science with far greater ability than he could interpret the scriptures Huxley was an evolutionist from first to last But he was much more He ranged over the whole field of science, making great and important discoveries, until his name became illustrious in all the civilized world.

Prof. Huxley accomplished a great work in bringing his investigations and discoveries to the knowledge of the common people. He illustrated what was best in university extension He knew how to translate science into terms that the people could understand. He was the popular teacher of science for the great assembly. He published a great many works. His labors were prodigious in his chosen fields. His attitude toward religion aroused strong antagonisms It was one of doubt. He had the weakness of an agnostic with the strength of a great scientist. who had cleared up his doubts in one field, but had left them as clouds over the whole field of divine revelation. He belonged to the new school of scientific men who have made their pathway luminous along many lines of modern investigation The succession of great men is never wholly broken But among English speaking savants there was no name greater than that of Huxley.

The more the fruit men of California discuss the best method of selling fruit in the Eastern markets the nearer do they come to an agreement on the proposition to concentrate on a single auction house in each city Fruit dealers in Chicago have heretofore dictated terms to the fruit men of this State. They have set up rival auction houses, and demanded that sales should only be made to wholesale dealers. Competition has been cut off. The small dealers had no chance. The fruit growers here have sadly needed an independent agent to represent their interests both in Chicago and New York. A first-class man would clear away the obstructions very soon. One central point for business and free competition for everbody who wants to buy California fruit.

The reports sent out from the great business centers beyond the Rocky mountains are of the most encouraging character. There is an advance along all the lines of the more important industries. This year is a far better one for the country than the preceding one. This industrial revival has not been felt very strongly on the Pacific coast, but it is surely coming. There is not a discouraging report coming from any great business center. Merchants and manufacturers all sound the same note of advance.

Judge McKesick's Construction.

According to Judge McKesick's construction, the University at Palo Alto was at no time in peril by reason of the suit brought by the Federal Government against the Stanford estate. This view is hardly consistent with known facts. Senator Stanford made a partial endowment of the University. This consisted principally of three great ranches with some other property. The value of the endowment might have been nominally $5,000,000 In reality it was something less. The income was not sufficient at any time to support the institution. Senator Stanford was compelled to draw from other sources to keep the institution in operation He had arranged to turn over the bulk of his estate, estimated at not less than $15,000,000, to the University

He left the actual transfer to his wife It was clearly in her province to give it or to withhold it She had often said that if the suit went against the estate she could not sustain the institution The fifteen millions or more, would have been turned aside, and there would not have been enough left for a permanent basis of educational operations at Palo Alto Judge McKesick's view that the institution would be in no way affected by the litigation, is just the opposite of that held by the public

The way the new Valkyrie slipped through the water on her recent trial indicates that this is the fastest yacht ever put afloat in British waters The Britannia came in first on a time allowance, and by the good luck of having caught a white cap breeze, but the general opinion was that the Valkyrie was much the faster boat The American yacht Defender has had bad luck in getting clear of the launching ways. When the boats are matched it will be the greatest yacht race of modern times are deficient it has not been possible to determine as yet whether the negro population can maintain itself in the towns, although there has been a strong belief that it could not and that the negro population of the cities was kept up only by drawing from the rural districts. This Dr De Saussene now shows beyond question.

Lady Mary Hamilton-Douglas, the eleven-year-old daughter of the late Duke of Hamilton, will be one of the richest heiresses of the age Her father could not leave her his title, but left her the bulk of his property, including the Isle of Arran, which is larger than the Isle of Wight. Her income now is $800,000 a year, and will be a million and a quarter by the time she comes of age.

In the fourteen years between 1880 and 1894, the deaths among the negroes in Charleston exceeded the births by 5,426, that is, there were three deaths for every two births. The Charleston negroes are decreasing at the rate of 388 a year, and the negro population of the city would completely disappear in a couple of generations if it were not recruited elsewhere. The Charleston mortality is a little less than that of New Orleans, and allowing for this difference and the larger number of negroes here, in order to keep up its colored population New Orleans must draw 1,554 negroes every year, or 15,540 every decade, to prevent an actual decrease.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Ready to Help the Powerful.

Detroit Free Press.

I was sitting in a railroad depot in Buffalo waiting for a train when a stranger approached me and said

"It's kinder queer how hard up the best of us may get sometimes, eh?"

"How do you mean?" I asked

"Wall, I just met the Governor of New York out here, Levi P. Morton, and he asked me for the loan of $2."

"You don't say!"

"That's what's the matter Had his pocket picked and wanted to use $2 right away. He didn't know what to do about it till he saw me"

"You know him, then?"

"Never sat eyes on him afore today. He jest picked me outer the crowd fur a man who'd do him a favor He only wanted $2, but I made him tak $3 He'll send it back in a day or two Ever meet the Governor?"

"I've seen him several times"

"Wonder how he got his nose broke?"

"His nose isn't broken What sort of a man was the chap you lent money to?"

"Red hair—side whiskers—broken nose and two teeth out in front"

"Governor Morton is no such looking man. You have been swindled by some sharper"

"It can be He said he was the Governor"

"I might say the same thing"

"And he called me by name."

"So can I You are James H Johnson There is your name on your satchel Is the man around here, do you think?"

We went to the door of the depot and looked around, and we went to the depot officer and he looked around, but the "Governor" had vanished, as might have been expected

"You ought to have known better!" exclaimed the officer, after giving up the search.

"How had I otter known better?" demanded the victim "Didn't he pick me out as a man who'd do him a favor? Didn't he say he was Governor Morton? Didn't he praise my confidence in human natur' when I made him take $3?"

"You'd better go and soak your head!"

"What fur? What good will soakin' my head do?"

The officer turned away with a tired look, and the old man sat down and thought it all over and then said to me:

"Yes, I guess I've bin swindled, and I guess I'm to blame fur it It's a good experience, though, I felt so mighty proud about lendin' the Governor of New York $3 that if a feller had come along and said he was President of the United States I'd a handed him over my other $7 and walked sixty-two miles to git home."

Engineers Need Not Whistle.

The Supreme court of Nebraska has just rendered a decision of great interest to railroads There is a law on the statute books of the state compelling engineers to whistle at every public highway crossing, and on failure to do so, the railway company is subject to a fine of $50—of which one-half goes to the informer The law has cost the Nebraska railroads several small fortunes, and every suit hitherto has resulted in favor of the plaintiffs and against the railroads. The Supreme court has just decided the law unconstitutional. J. H Hale, a farmer, who waited until he had a number of cases, secured judgment in the lower court against the Omaha and Republican Valley, which is a part of the Union Pacific, for $3500 of this whistling money, representing 700 failures to whistle, and it was appealed to the Supreme court, and the law was declared unconstitutional

After the Turk.

Miss Dodge (Gail Hamilton) taught in the school at Ipswich, and many legends are still preserved in the old town of the unprecedented things she used to do The conventional always had a strange fascination for her. One morning, on going to the class room, she found all the seats had been removed to the hall for a lecture the previous evening. Instead of calling the janitor to replace them she said to the class: "Well, young ladies, there's nothing left for us but to become Turks," and down she went upon the floor in the oriental attitude. The girls followed, and the recitation from "Paley's Natural Theology" proceeded until Mrs. Cowles suddenly appeared. She surveyed the teacher and pupils squatted on the floor and said quietly, "This class may be excused until tomorrow."—Boston Transcript.

When Bees Will Sting.

Bees will sting only when hurt or attacked, and when they are driven to sting they lose their lives, literally dying in defense of their homes. Just inside the entrance to the hive are a number of guard bees under a leader; so soon as an alarm is given this leader rushes out, followed by thirty or forty others, and it is then time for the wise to move off. Should the leader strike the object of alarm the following bees will do likewise, but if the leader fail to strike, or by dodging the head or otherwise one manages to avoid, the other bees will religiously follow the leader's momements and leave you in peace.—Chicago Chronicle.

In Cuba.

Jose Rodriguez, Spanish translator of the bureau of American republics, discusses the Cuban question with more than ordinary intelligence. He says the ten years' war beginning in 1869 saddled upon Cuba a debt of $[illegible],000,000, which has now been reduced to $198,000,000, on which the annual interest charge is $12,000,000 The burden is about all Cuba can carry. The system of taxation in Cuba is difficult for Americans to understand. When a guest registers at a hotel he must have a stamp placed opposite his name or he cannot stop there. Every sign is placed at a store front only after the payment of a tax on each letter displayed Even a sign of "Rooms to Rent" is subject to this charge Every laborer who sweeps the streets pays a tax or he cannot engage in that work, and every professional and business man must do likewise. All the estates pay a tax. In fact, the island in all its resources is mortgaged to pay the debt. In view of these facts and considering that every dollar of the vast expense incurred in suppression of the current rebellion is charged up to Cuban account, and also for generations to come, Spain will be able to gain revenues from the islands, M. Rodriguez asks the pertinent question. "If the debt becomes so large that Spain must herself guarantee it, will she keep Cuba?"—Times-Herald.

A Historic Incident.

The first use of the telautograph in journalism was made by the Chicago Times-Herald June 20, 1895. Professor Elisha Gray's invention transmitted to the columns of the Times-Herald opinions of the Republican leaders in attendance upon the convention of the National League of Republican Clubs at Cleveland. The handwriting of each man was reproduced as distinctly in the Times-Herald of June 21, 1895, as it appeared on the paper on which the writers penned their sentiments —Times-Herald.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

Proceedings of Adjourned Regular Meeting Held Wednesday, June 26, 1895.

The Board of Supervisors met at ten o'clock A. M. Present, Supervisors Pelouze, Church, Talcott, Johnston, and Chairman Bailey.

GOLDEN GATE SANITARY DISTRICT.

H. B. M. Miller appeared before the board and called its attention to a clerical error in the writing up of the minutes of said Board in regard to said district on the 14th day of April, 1894, and the Board on investigating said minutes and the files of said Board regarding said district and being satisfied that a correction of said minutes is proper, adopted on motion of Supervisor Johnston the following resolution and directed that the same be entered in full upon the margin of the minutes of said Board of April 14, 1894, opposite the entry therein regarding said district.

"Whereas, There was presented to and filed with the Board of Supervisors of Alameda county at a regular meeting thereof, on the 26th day of March 1894, a petition for the formation of a Sanitary District in Golden Gate, Alameda county, signed by J. H. Dieckman, W. Martin Evans and about fifty other residents of said Golden Gate, which said petition came on for hearing before said Board on the 14th day of April, 1894, and was declared by said Board to be signed by more than twenty-five freeholders and residents of the proposed district, and,

Whereas, The resolution at said time made and entered upon the minutes of said Board recited said petition as having been presented to said Board on the 2d day of March, 1894, and through a clerical error of the Clerk of said Board instead of the 26th day of March, 1894.

Now Therefore, It is ordered in open session of said Board that the minutes of said Board for the 14th day of April, 1894, be changed and corrected so that it shall appear therein as the fact exists, that said petition was presented to said Board on the 26th day of March, 1894."

Adopted by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Johnston, Pelouze, Chairman Bailey, 5. Noes—None.

Upon motion of Supervisor Church the reading of the minutes of June 24th was passed until the next meeting.

RELIEF OF INDIGENTS.

The following named persons made application for relief, viz.:

L. G. Wagner, 1511 New Broadway, native of Iowa, married, four children. Referred to Supervisor Pelouze.

Mrs. Myra Tanner, 1843 Grove street, native of Ohio, widow. Referred to Supervisor Pelouze.

WEBB VS. M'NAMEE.

The complaint of Andrew C. Webb against A. McNamee for selling liquor to minors, set for hearing this day was then brought up for consideration. Mr. J. F. Burris appeared as counsel for Mr. McNamee and Mr. L. D. Manning and the district attorney appeared for the complainant. Mr. Burris stated that after argument and when the Board had decided to listen to the evidence, that he would admit the special facts charged for the purpose of saving time. The District Attorney, however, advised the Board to listen to the testimony, claiming that the offer of the defendant to admit the facts charged in the complaint would not be satisfactory or sufficient. It was decided that the attorney for Mr. McNamee should prepare briefs in the matter and serve them upon the district attorney within one week. The Board thereupon continued the hearing until Monday, July 8th, at two o'clock.

BRIDGES IN THE SAN RAMON DISTRICT.

Supervisor Talcott read a communication concerning bridges in the San Ramon Valley and asked that the Board as a Committee of the Whole visit and inspect. Thereupon it was decided to as a Committee of the Whole make inspection on Friday, June 28th.

RECESS.

The chair then declared a recess until two o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Board reassembled at two o'clock. Roll call showed all members present.

AWARDING OF CONTRACTS.

This being the hour for finally considering and awarding contracts for furnishing supplies for the ensuing fiscal year, on proposals presented June 24, 1895, the district attorney addressed the Board concerning their power in the matter of letting the contracts, calling attention to the terms and conditions prescribed in the schedules and advised them that the bids should be upon articles mentioned in schedules adopted, that it was within their discretion to award contracts either to those having the lowest in aggregate or the lowest on each article and that they could if they so thought best, reject any or all bids.

The Clerk then read the proposal of F. Borsi, the only one offered for fruit and vegetables. Upon motion of Supervisor Johnston, seconded by Supervisor Church, the contract for furnishing fruit and vegetables was awarded to F. Borsi by the following called vote. Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Pelouze, Johnston, Chairman Bailey, 5. Noes—None.

The proposal for fish was next brought up for consideration. One bid only had been presented, that of A. Paladini. The expert reported that the advertisement was not annexed to the proposal and that the bidder was not doing business in this county. Thereupon the bid was rejected.

The proposal for furnishing beef and mutton, schedule No. 7, was then brought up for consideration. The expert reported that the proposal of Rice & White was the lowest. Mr. White called attention to one article claiming that his bid was $4 50 instead of $4 as estimated by the expert. The proposal was examined by the members of the Board. Mr. White stated that the change in the figures from $4 to $4.50 had been made before the proposal had been filed. Thereupon the contract was awarded to Rice & White at the aggregate bid of $4430 by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Johnston, Charman Bailey, 4. Absent—Supervisor Pelouze, 1.

The proposal for dry goods, schedule No. 6, was then brought up for consideration. Mr. Nusbaumer addressed the Board in behalf of Mr. Herrscher, one of the bidders, and stated that inasmuch as the terms mentioned in the schedule gave the Board power to reject bids or parts of bids and to award the contracts to the party presenting the lowest bid on each article, that the Board should announce the rule it was going to adopt in letting all other contracts under consideration before the Board. Supervisor Talcott thereupon moved that the Board take a recess of ten minutes and go into a Committee of the Whole in executive session and consider the matter and decide upon a rule to be followed in awarding the other contracts. The motion was carried and a recess then declared for ten minutes, at the expiration of which time the Board reassembled.

The question then came up on awarding the contract and it was developed by a statement made by Supervisor Pelouze that the Board had decided in executive session as Committee of the Whole to allow contracts to those presenting a bid upon all articles upon which they made proposals, that any proposal not showing a bid upon each article would be rejected and that in awarding the contract the bidder bidding upon all articles and being the lowest bidder in the aggregate of estimate should be awarded the contract. Thereupon Supervisor Church moved that the bid of Jos. Harris for furnishing dry goods, clothing, etc., to the County Infirmary be accepted and the contract be awarded to him. The roll was ordered called and the contract awarded by the following vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Johnston, Pelouze, Chairman Bailey, 5. Noes—None.

The proposal for furnishing coal to the County Infirmary, schedule No. 9, was next taken up for consideration. Two proposals had been presented, one each by J. C. Wilson & Co. and James P. Taylor. The bid of J. C. Wilson & Co. being the lowest, aggregating $3623, was thereupon awarded to them by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Pelouze, Johnston, Chairman Bailey, 5. Noes—None.

The next proposal brought up for consideration was that for furnishing the several departments of the County Government with coal and fuel, schedule No. 2. J. C. Wilson & Co., Jas. P. Taylor and the Oregon Navigation Co. had presented proposals. The expert reported that the proposals of Jas. P. Taylor and the Oregon Navigation Company showed that an estimate had not been made on each and every article. Thereupon on motion those bids were rejected and the bid of J. C. Wilson & Co. was accepted and the contract awarded to them by the following [illegible]

Supervisor Church, seconded by Supervisor Johnston all of the bids were rejected.

The matter of awarding contract for groceries was next brought up. Phelan & Fish, F. Borsi, H. C. Howard, Jos. Herrscher and Theodore Lanz had presented bids. The expert reported that the bid of Jos. Herrscher was upon each and every item and that the other four proposals showed estimates on only certain articles. A discussion then arose concerning the question of awarding. Supervisor Johnston moved that the bid for groceries be rejected. Seconded by Supervisor Talcott. The roll was ordered called and the motion lost by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Johnston, 2 Noes—Supervisors Church, Pelouze, Chairman Bailey, 3.

Supervisor Church moved that the contract for furnishing groceries, schedule No. 5, to the County Infirmary, be awarded to Jos. Herrscher, seconded by Supervisor Pelouze. The roll was ordered called and the contract awarded by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Pelouze, Chairman Bailey, 4. Noes—Supervisor Johnston, 1.

The bids for drugs were then taken up, schedule No 1. I. Tabriner, Osgood Bros. and E. H. and E. C Reilly presented proposals. The expert stated that the bids of I. Tabriner and P. H. and E C Reilley were incomplete and that Osgood Bros' bid was on each and every article. Some discussion arose concerning bids and it was found that the schedule bid upon by I. Tabriner showed but two items not bid upon. Supervisor Talcott then moved that the bid of I. Tabriner be accepted, seconded by Supervisor Church. The motion carried by the following vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Pelouze, Chairman Bailey, 5 Noes—None.

LEBERER ROAD.

The matter of the Leberer road set for hearing this day was then brought up. Supervisor Talcott moved that it be continued until the next meeting. So ordered.

FURTHER CONSIDERATION OF PROPOSALS FOR DRUGS.

Mr. Osgood of the firm of Osgood Bros. asked leave to address the Board. It being granted, he stated that he felt that the Board in awarding the contract to I. Tabriner after the rule had been announced concerning the award of contracts wherein it had been decided to require all bidders to bid on every article, worked an injustice, that his bid was on each and every article though in the aggregate it was about $100 more than Mr. Tabriner's. He stated that if the Board did not desire to accept his bid because of his excess in the aggregate of proposal, that it would be nothing more than right that all the bids be rejected and new bids be advertised for and the dealers placed upon equal footing and given another opportunity to bid Supervisor Talcott inquired of the Clerk whether advertising for drugs, in addition to the other articles to be advertised would increase the expense. The Clerk stated that it would cost no more to advertise for drugs as it would be inserted in the same general advertisement. Supervisor Talcott thereupon moved a reconsideration of the vote whereby the contract for furnishing drugs was awarded to I. Tabriner, seconded by Supervisor Johnston. Roll was ordered called and the action of the Board reconsidered by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Johnston, Pelouze, Chairman Bailey, 5. Noes—None. Supervisor Church then moved that all proposals presented for furnishing drugs be rejected. Carried Supervisor Pelouze thereupon moved that the Clerk be instructed to advertise for proposals for fish, stationery, drugs and chemicals. Carried.

The following resolution was introduced, read by the Clerk, and unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, By the Board of Supervisors of Alameda county, California, that the Clerk of this Board be and he is hereby directed to advertise in the Oakland Tribune, daily newspaper printed in the City of Oakland, for at least ten days, for bids for furnishing the County Infirmary and the several departments of the county government at the Court House and the Hall of Records, County Jail, and Receiving Hospital of the County of Alameda with supplies consisting of fish, drugs and chemicals, etc., stationery, etc., from date of contract to June 30th, 1896, inclusive, as per schedules to be furnished by the Clerk of this Board adopted this day and according to the conditions and requirements of schedules contained and that such advertisement shall require bidders to file with each proposal or bid a check payable to the order of Frank C. Jordan, Clerk of this Board, certified to by some responsible bank for an amount which shall not be less than 10 per cent of the aggregate amount of each proposal. Said check to be forfeited to the County of Alameda as agreed and liquidated damages should the party or parties to whom the contract shall be awarded, fail to enter into the contract within ten days after the award or to give the bond required by the Board for the faithful performance of the contract. Said advertisement also to recite that payments by the Board will be made in the manner prescribed by the legislature of the State of California and that bids must be addressed to the Board of Supervisors of Alameda county and be enclosed in sealed envelopes, filed on or before the hour of 12 M., Monday, July, 8th, 1895. Said advertisement also to recite that the Board of Supervisors reserves the right to reject any or all bids as the public interest may require." The resolution was adopted by unanimous vote of the Board.

The schedules for drugs, fish, and stationery upon which proposals were presented on June 24th were adopted in entirety as schedules upon which proposals should be presented and Monday, July 8th, at 12 o'clock M., as recited in the resolution was fixed as the time when bids would be opened and action upon the same taken.

H. V. HERBERT EMPLOYED FOR DETECTIVE WORK.

The district attorney then addressed the Board concerning the employment of assistance in his office for detective work in the prosecution of criminal cases. He stated that some criticism had been made concerning the bills presented during the last few months and stated to the Board that the work was necessary for the proper presentation and prosecution of criminal cases tried during that time and in order that there might be no further difficulty and that expenses might be reduced as much as possible he recommended that the Board employ some one person to assist him. Such person to receive a stated sum, to serve the pleasure of the Board, allowing traveling expenses when engaged on detective work for the office requiring absence from the county. Thereupon the following resolution was introduced and adopted by unanimous vote:

"Resolved, That H. V. Herbert be and he is hereby appointed for detective work for the district attorney at a salary of $125 per month and traveling expenses outside the said county to be paid out of the County General Fund, to date from July 1, 1895, at the pleasure of the Board." The roll was ordered called and the resolution adopted by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Church, Talvote: Ayes—Supervisors Church, Talley, 5.—Noes—None.

AN EPOCH OF TERROR.

Hideous Monsters Swarmed Over the Earth's Surface.

IT'S A LONG, LONG TIME AGO.

Man Did Not Appear Until Millions of Years After.

A GREAT CATASTROPHE CAME.

Alameda County Was Covered by Ice a Mile Thick.

The Scientific discourses that the Rev. V. Marshal Law is delivering at the Church of the Advent in East Oakland are attracting much attention inasmuch as he brings science and religion on the same platform and logically explains away many difficulties that confront the inquiring Christian. His subjects are well thought out and admirably prepared and should be read by all who desire to know something of the world in which they live. His subject last night was "Reptiles, Mammals, Ice and Man" and the deductions he drew were as follows:

According to the most conservative scientific estimates at least sixteen millions of years have passed since the earth was a molten, glowing mass of stone. Of these sixteen millions of years twelve million have already been placed behind us in our telling of the earth's story, which brings us to the close of the carboniferous or coal age geologically and to the close of the fourth day genetically.

We now begin the fifth day, or the age of reptiles and birds, which is to take three millions of years more, leaving the last million for mammals and the other higher land animals, including man, which and who appeared on the sixth day.

In the Scriptural account we are told that after the heavenly lights had been assigned to their duties on the fourth day, the work of the fifth day ushered in the "moving creatures" of the sea, and the fowls which fly above the earth. The "sea monsters" were without any kind of doubt sea reptiles. To this geology agrees perfectly, for immediately after the deposit of the coal measures, began the age of reptiles and reptillian birds. We are not surprised that God should here again supplement evolution and interpose His creative power by shunting off this new kind of creature upon the prevailing marine life. The waters were still warm and contained belated specimens of the vegetation of the coal period, including great forests of Cycads growing out of the borders of the swamps and over the marshy lands. The oceans were in the main still comparatively shallow, but in places were attaining considerable depth, owing to the cooling and crinkling of the earth's crust. The reptiles which dominated the earth in those times were great monsters unlike any of the reptiles we know at present.

Let us take a little walk over there under that forest of tall Cycads, Conifers and club-mosses, and try to see how they looked two or three millions of years ago.

Hark! What terrible noise is that? It sounds as though a flock of Mississippi river steamboats had gone daft, and were trying to outnoise each other with their hoarse whistles. Guided by these unearthly noises we will get a little closer. There! just over there! the sight freezes our very blood! A horrible sea saurian, fifty feet long, with a body like a whale and great paddles for feet, a head eight feet long and eyes as large as a dinner plate, is just crawling up on the shore. As he comes he bellows like a colossal bull. He is followed by thousands of his kind, some larger and some smaller. Striving for the sunniest bank they engage in deadly conflict to make the waters red with their coarse, brutal blood. This battle attracts myriads of smaller and more active reptiles—veritable water buzzards—fish-lizzards, called by the scientists Ichthyosauers. They have short necks, immense eyes and long teeth, with which they lacerate the sides of the contending Enaliosauers.

And what is that forest of weeds appearing away on the horizon? It approaches! They are not weeds, but the long, slender necks of thousands of other lizzard-like reptiles, the Plesiosauers. Their bodies are thirty feet long and very heavy, while from them projects long, slender, serpent-like necks, which rise twenty or thirty feet in the air, and they are surmounted by serpent-like heads, from which dart angry, hissing tongues, as they mingle in the fray and inflict their deadly bites upon the others. The bellowing has become deafening.

Then come the snake-like reptiles, waving their long bodies through the water. They are 80 or 100 feet long, and have an elbow joint to their lower jaws with which to poke their prey down their slimy throats. As far as the eye can reach the sea is a living mass of horrid monsters. The battle is general. The stench from their bodies is sickening. For hours the conflict lasts, until at last, worn out and mangled or dead, the combatants cease from struggling, and those still living slink away beneath the waves and disappear, leaving the shore lined with dead bodies.

The night is coming on. It is uncanny and dangerous and lonely! Let us climb into the nearest Cycad and hide among its fern-like leaves. The moon begins to rise, and with it comes the sound of fight in the air. What can it be? The leaves are still so it is not the rising breeze. O, there, there! what monsters are those flying towards us? They look like great bats. Their wings have a stretch of 40 to 60 feet. It is a flock of Pterodactyls. One almost touches us with his musty-smelling wings. He has great teeth and floats gracefully around and above the dead bodies of the sea reptiles. It is one of the air reptiles of the period. It is a bird-reptile. Existed there ever a creature so perfectly horrible? Hundreds more are coming. They will surely find us and swallow us at a single gulp. O that we were well out of this.

Well, we are out of it. God in His infinite wisdom, saw that the time was not a fit one for man to live in, and He held him back in the bosom of nature for a million or more of years, until those reptiles and reptilian birds had had their day. For three million of years did these monsters dominate the earth. For three millions of years did they struggle and fight and tear each other to pieces. We have heard of the proverbial scarcity of hen's teeth, but here was an age when the very birds of the air had awful teeth, and there was a menace to everything on the face of the [illegible]

Thanksgiving turkeys, it may not add to our appreciation of their toothsomeness to know that they are rally a species of advanced reptile, but such is the fact. And strangest of all is the fact that the mention of them in Genesis, as coming together, or in close succession, is fully confirmed by that which scientists find in the strata of the earth. How could the writer of the sacred pages have known what to us appears so nearly incredible, that birds and reptiles are closely related, unless he had that knowledge from the very Creator Himself?

THE END OF THE ERA.

At last the fifth day draws to a close. The reptilian age drags its three millions of years along, and the cooling earth becomes a suitable home for animals of a still higher nature; then in the wisdom of the most high a change takes place and we enter upon the last million of years, which corresponde to the sixth day.

The more peaceful Zenozoic era has arrived, bringing with it the "cattle" and "creeping thing" and "beast," all corresponding to the account given of them in the creations of the sixth day in Genesis.

It may here be remarked that there is no conflict whatever between Genesis and geology, for these animals, according to the earth's flinty records, follow the reptile age, and the Scriptures tell exactly the same story. The animals which succeed the reptilian age are a grade higher in organization, and the "creeping things" here alluded to are land reptiles, which are clearly distinguishable from the sea reptiles of the former period. The earth has been slowly preparing for their reception, and now they appear according to the plan of God's economy. They are true animals, only one grade below man.

The animals of the sixth day reign upon the earth for nearly a million years, according to the best estimates of conservative geologists, and then comes a radical change to the earth's surface, involving the entire difference in climate and all its physical conditions. A cataclysm or world-catastrophe occurred, which may be likened to an earthquake which extended clear around the globe. The ocean beds and continents rose and fell like great waves, and when they came at last to rest, the age of ice was ushered in. Marine upheavals changed the direction of great ocean currents like the Gulf Stream, which, being stopped or turned otherwise, transformed the tropical climates into those of arctic coldness.

The whole of the northern and southern polar regions were clad in a mantle of ice, which thickened from age to age, destroying all except a few of the hardier animals of the earth and nearly all the vegetable life then existing. What a cheerless spectacle that must have been to superior intelligences looking upon our planet from other realms! The snows steadily falling and constantly accumulating, were, by their own weight, transformed into solid ice, which covered the whole continent to a depth of hundreds of feet.

Here in Alameda and Contra Costa counties the ice was probably not less than a mile in thickness. Right over our heads, up through the solid mass of ice, we might have gone to the surface, if endowed with supernatural powers, and there would have found the snow falling and the unrestricted wintry winds blowing, blowing, while it was snowing, and snowing while it was blowing, as the dreadful age of ice and snow dragged its chilling length along into years and decades and aeons. Not a living thing visible, all buried in the tremendous beds of snow and ice, spring, summer and autumn transformed into one long winter which lasted for thousands of years!

But this mass of ice, a mile to five miles in thickness was not stationary. It was constantly moving from the poles toward the equator. Not rapidly, for, look as carefully as you might, were you living then, you could not have seen it move. It traveled southward only about eighteen inches a year, judging by the present rate of movement in Alpine glaciers. This solid mass of ice filled all the mountain ravines and even covered the tops of the mountains themselves, so that mountains and ice became one solid mass.

Remember now, that the warm earth underneath, and other influences of which we know nothing, caused this great field of thick ice to travel equatorwards a little every year. But you will say the mountains sticking up through the ice would act like pegs or spikes of stone to anchor the glacier and hold it still. This might be true of small masses of ice, but for a glacier miles in thickness and thousands of miles in length and breadth, a mountain top furnished but little obstruction, and the field of ice broke off the tops of the mountains and carried them along toward the south, imbeded firmly in the snow and ice.

In the course of years at only eighteen inches a year the broken tops of the mountains were carried several hundred miles from their starting place, and when these rocks worked to the bottom of the glacier by the thawing underneath, and the adding of snows above, also when the ice began to break up, as it did after thousands of years, these rocks were rubbed against each other and rounded off and crushed up into smaller pieces, and these were in turn rolled about and polished off, so that when the ice had all melted they would look something like balls of stone.

In this condition the melting glaciers dropped them all over the country and you know them as "boulders." Some are so small you can pick them up and throw them, while others are as large as a horse or even a church. We know these boulders came from away north of here because we can find the mountains from which many of them were broken many miles to the north. We know about what direction to go to find the original mountain because the mountain sides and tops were scratched by the stones frozen in the ice as they passed over flat places and these scratches show the direction from which the ice came.

At length the ocean beds again changed, starting the gulf stream and other currents of the ocean back toward the north, and the influence of this warmed up the freezing atmosphere and the glaciers broke up and melted into torrents of water which flowed back into the sea. It was like the breaking up of a river in the spring, when the ice goes out, only on an immense scale—a scale so large that it covered the whole of North America.

There were elks living at the time this breaking up occurred, also hardy cave bears, hairy elephants and other animals called mammoths, which were something like but much larger than elephants. And, wonderful to relate, about the time the break up of these glaciers occurred man first appeared upon the earth. Genesis tells us he was made last of all the animals, and here, to, in geology, we find him last. We find stone arrow heads, knives, stone vessels, and sometimes we find the charcoal which was left from his fires, and all these first appear at the close of this great ice age, which occurred about seven to ten thousand years ago.

HOW DO WE KNOW?

But, the boys will ask, how does geology find out about these things and about the kind of animals and plants which lived so long ago. Listen: When the waters of a river or the sea wash constantly against the rocks they wear away fine particles of the rocks which become sediment that settles to the bottom of the sea or river in fine smooth layers. Now, if a tree overhangs the water and its leaves & branches fall into the water, or there is a flood, and animals are drowned by the waters, these leaves and trees and animals float about and, finally lodge somewhere, and the water covers them up in the fine sand or sediment, burying them entirely out of sight. After a time other plants and animals or parts of them of them would be systematically buried in this way. The oldest would be buried the deepest, and the next oldest would be buried just above them, and so on up to the present time.

After the plants and animals had been buried a long time they would be heaved up by the shrinking and breaking of the earth's crust and the consequent change of the ocean's bed, whereby it becomes dry land instead of the bottom of the ocean. Thus exposed to the sun and wind, these layers would dry out and petrify or become stone, with the plants and animals still hidden in them. After a long, long time these plants and animals would themselves also turn to stone just as they were buried, or possibly after they had partially decayed.

If we get these rocks and break them open we find these stone plants and animals, which show us just how they looked when they lived so many thousands of years ago. In ten or fifteen millions of years there would be many layers of this stone sediment piled one upon the other, so that it is estimated that these layers all told are about seven miles in thickness. They are not everywhere as thick as that, for part of the time the sea was making rocks in Europe while America was dry land. Then Europe became dry land and America settled down beneath the waves and the sea made rocky layers over it; and so it is only in particular places that the rocks or strata, as they are called, would be seven miles in thickness.

Now, if we were to sink a shaft or dig a hole seven miles deep where the various animals and plants were buried and we were to let a man down this morning clear to the bottom and we should call down and ask him what he found at the very bottom that looked like a plant or animal, he would answer back, "I find Eozoon Canadense," a fossil that looks like the white of egg turned to stone. Turning to Genesis we find that the first hint of life recorded there is where it says, "The Spirit of God brooded upon the face of the waters." That is the nearest we can come. So, while it does not tell us much in either case, whether we read the rocks or the account in Genesis, they tell so nearly the same story that we can find no disagreement between them.

We call down again to know what next he finds. He replies, "I find sea weeds and some sea animals that look almost like the weeds." Turning to the Bible, we find that this is probably the case, for the dry land has not yet appeared, and so all the life there must be marine life. Here again there seems little to be learned from either Genesis or geology, but that little is not conflicting.

We might go on in detail and show how each succeeding form of life as it is read in the rocky leaves of the earth, is in at least an ideal harmony with the account of that life as related in Genesis. As we come nearer the surface we call down and inquire as to the order of the latest forms of life, and our informant down the shaft calls back, "Reptiles of the sea, birds, mammals, land reptiles, man." Wonderful! We call again, "Is this order the story of geology?" "Yes, sir." You may turn now and inquire about this order as it is written in the first chapter of Genesis, and you will find the agreement is perfect. Surely the sacred book is inspired, is divine, for when that book was written man knew nothing of geology, but in so far as a short record in a few verses can tell the same story as that contained in volumes of geological research, they are the same.

And when you recall that the various acts which are recorded in accurate order in the first chapter of Genesis are at least ten in number and that with this number it was possible to arrange them in 3,628,800 different ways, and that whoever wrote Genesis got the right order the first time it was put on record, no other explanation than that Almighty God was the informant of the writer will fit the case whatever. That any man should be able to guess the right order out of more than three millions of possible wrong orders shows plainly that something more than human intelligence guided the sacred penman.

NATURE IS ELOQUENT.

But as we cannot sink a shaft seven miles deep, how do men get at the records thus deeply hidden in the bosom of the earth? Here the processes of nature come to our assistance, for the shrinking and breaking of the crust by the contractions and coolings within, and also by the cuttings made in the solid rocks by the water courses in their onward flow to the ocean, we do not require to do much digging after these records, for they are fractured and turned up to the light of day like this. (Illustrated with two handfuls of books). You have all seen these upturned edges of rocky layers as you passed through some railroad cut or mountain canyon. You noticed how they were tilted upwards. In this way they are exposed so that we may easily read what geology has to tell us.

In closing today I cannot refrain from telling (not quoting) to you the beautiful symbol of the human spirit which Professor Le Conte sees in the glacier. The water of the glacier descends from the sky as a snowflake of spotless whiteness and purity, free from every taint of the earth earthy. When it first rests upon the bosom of the glacier it is the emblem of all that is innocent and immaculately white and unsullied. As it mingles with the ice and snow upon which it has fallen it gradually becomes soiled. Its whiteness vanishes. The horrid winds blow their dust over it. It tries in vain to appear white. At last it becomes loaded down with foul dirt, it is broken and crushed among the grinding rocks. In this unhappy plight it passes on down towards the sea, growing more and more bound up with its unlovely associations and, freed from the bondage of glacial debris, it runs joyfully into the great ocean, only to be caught up in mists and borne again heavenwards, the same bright and pure thing it was when it first descended.

So the human spirit first descends in purity and innocence upon the earth and takes the phsical human frame for its home. It remains comparatively pure for a little time. Then it becomes contaminated with the earth, and takes on unlovely habits. It is imprisoned by decaying flesh and loaded down by the griefs and ills of life. Weary at length with the struggle, it throws down its load of earthiness and sin and disease and pain, and speeds away again to the great ocean of eternity, back into the spiritual empyrean where the home of God is and where there is matchless whiteness and celestial purity. Thus may the devout spirit drink from the glaciers' fountain.

BEWARE OF FOXES.

Rev. Campbell Coyle at the First Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Campbell Coyle preached at the First Presbyterian church last night on the text from Solomon—"The little foxes that spoil the vines." He said:

"Examine into the history of the world, into the evolutions of life, or into nature, and you will be impressed with the simple but sublime truth, that the ultimate force back of every movement has been small; so small, indeed as to escape notice were it not for the wonderful effects that flow out of it. The germinal principle is always small. First the acorn, then the oak. But the acorn, as we view it as a whole, is not the starting point. At its center lies a point of force invisible to all eyes but God's; which, when the required conditions are met, begins to energize and expand, and after a while plants its roots deep in the earth and shades out its foliage, and the tiny thing that was rocked in the cradle of the acorn stands there the crowned and sceptered monarch of the forest. History discloses the fathers in the library of Erfurth, when a guiding Providence led him to open a book he had never seen before. That book was the Bible, and that young man was Martin Luther. Immediately under the touch of the fire of that holy book his soul was aflame, and the reformation was under way.

"But this principle as is true on the side of evil as on that of good. And I am not sure but its workings there are more marked, at any rate they are more noticeable. It takes a number of good influences to produce a noble life, whereas a single influence that is evil may blight a life forever. A scratch of a pin will let life out of the body, and the germs of disease so small that the keenest-eyed microscope is needed to find them may defeat the best medical skill. Discontent, if allowed to grow, may develop into treason and take up arms against a great nation.

"Hatred is murder at the core. The way to ruin in thousands of instances has been through the gateway of some modest indulgence. That first drink, that first oath, that first lie, that first act of impurity—one teardrop of repentance could have washed the record clean—but you persisted, and the one sin has become a thousand, and you are enslaved. No prisoner taken in battle and bound to Roman chariot wheel; no negro in bondage on Southern plantation was ever in deeper slavery than you. It is the little foxes that spoil the vines. It is the barnicles on the bottom of the ship that impede the progress. It is the grasshopper that blights the harvest field. Take care of the little things and the great will take care of themselves. But that is just where we fail.

"I have seen a tree beautiful and luxuriant in its growth of foliage. The birds met for choir rehearsal in its branches. The cattle lay in its shade all the long summer afternoon. The mother often sat with her children under it to escape the heat of noon. But after a while its leaves grew yellow and withered, and hung lifeless on their stems, each on its little gibbet. Whence this wholesale execution? Upon examination I found that a tiny insect lay in ambush under each leaf, and, leech-like, was sucking the vitality out of that noble tree. The tree was great, the insect, small, but see that battlefield strewn with death! I have seen men, noble men in their appearance, whose brains were of no ordinary character, whose hearts were like the month of June, but they were careless at first about little things, little sins as they are affectionately called. First one bad habit after another began to settle upon them. They were wholly unconscious of any harm. But by and by you see them begin to wither and fade, and that noble human tree is a grim ruin. Disease invades its trunk and poisonous vines cling round about it and absorb its life, and all too soon it falls with a crash among its fellows. The little foxes did it.

"'It is the little rift within the lute
That by and by will make the music mute,
And ever widening slowly silence all.—
The little rift within the lover's lute.
Or little pitted speck in garnered fruit,
That, rotting inward, slowly moulders all.'

"This fox tribe is a very numerous one and it would be quite impossible for me to mention all the foxes that are nibbling away at the delicate vines of character. It will be sufficent if I mention a few general ones and let them stand for the rest. Foxes are noted for their cunning, and the faults which I shall speak of may, with reason, be called foxes because of their subtlety and power of deception.

THE CAUSES OF TROUBLE.

"Fox nunmber 1—the fox of ill temper—That disposition that leads so many of us to growl and snap and snarl under the slightest provocation, or without provocation at all.

"Fox number 2—the fox of discontent—That quality, or rather that evil genius that so often possesses us, filling us with gloom or discontent, and causing us to drag shadows about with us wherever we go. That quality which depresses the spirit, burdens the heart with heaviness, blots out the sunlight and the stars, and makes life a dungeon of despair. Oh, the fox of discontent. The vine of your life was beautiful; the leaves were fresh and green, and the grapes hung in rich clusters over the wall of character.

"Fox number 3—the fox of evil-speaking—One of the saddest things we have to encounter as we move along through life is the painfully common tendency to speak unkindly of one another. The world is full of it, and the church is full of it, and we are all more or less guilty? Criticism does not indicate a very high order of talent. It is easy to speak unkind words and write unkind things about another, but there is not an atom of Christ-like spirit in it. How many homes have been blighted, how many hearts saddened and broken by the process of unkindly speaking and misrepresentation. Why look for the flaws and hold them up for criticism when there is much good in every man? Christ found some good in Judas, and much good in Mary Magdalene.

"Fox number 4 and last—The fox of delay in religious things—Why is it that hundreds upon thousands of men and women put off accepting the Lord Jesus Christ as their saviour from sin? If you were shipwrecked and floating about in the sea how eagerly you would grasp at any plank or piece of wreckage that might come within your reach. But if you have not laid hold of the life line thrown out to you by the Son of God your peril is just as real as if you were wrecked in mid ocean and had nothing to keep you afloat. There is nothing more dangerous than delay. It blunts the conscience, and blights the life and hardens the heart. It destroys that sensitiveness which in the hoblest souls so quickly responds to the wishes of God.

"Young people, see to it that this fox of delay, so subtle and cunning in his operation, does not destroy the promising vines of your life and rob you of heaven at last. Let Him who said 'I am the vine' into your heart that He may become the vine dresser of your life, and then you will not only be saved, but you will bear much fruit."

MONDAY..................JULY 1, 1895.

The publication of Daily Coin in Chicago has been given up. W. H. Harvey, author of "Coin's Financial School," started the enterprise, inspired no doubt by the success that had attended the publication of his book, a success which was due in a great measure to the criticisms that the book provoked. The public didn't care for more, and so the last venture has dropped out of sight. It is a straw which shows which way the wind is blowing.

The story has been current in New Orleans that a suit is to be brought in the District of Columbia for an injunction to restrain the Treasury Department from the payment of the sugar bounty under the law passed by the late Congress. The basis of such a suit is said to be the recent decision in the suit brought by the Miles Planting Company of Louisiana, asking that a mandamus issue to the Secretary of the Treasury requiring the bounty to be paid, which had been repealed under the Wilson law. The court refused the mandamus on the ground that the bounty was unconstitutional. There has been no final decision on the question. It is doubtful if there will be any that will interfer with the payment of the bounty.

The Great Railway Decision.

Judge Ross of the Federal Circuit court, having decided adversely to the Government claim against the Stanford estate, that is probably the end of the case. There may be an appeal to the Appellate court, but that is doubtful. The demurrer went to the very heart of the case. The decision, therefore, practically disposes of any point that has been raised. The suit involved hardly less than $15,000,000, or nearly the whole of the Stanford estate. Had it been adverse to the estate, the University at Palo Alto would have ceased to exist at the end of another year. Now that a Federal court after as able arguments for both sides as have ever been heard here, has settled the law of the case, and incidentally the justice of the case, there will be general congratulations that this great estate will go to the building up of a great educational institution for the benefit of the community.

At Mount Holyoke.

According to the report published in the Springfield Republican, Mount Holyoke College had a great day on the recent commencement occasion. The Alumnae Associations that were represented there agreed substantially to raise $150,000 to secure the Pearsons gift of $50,000. Practically $200,000 was secured to the college by friends of that institution. Mrs. Mills of Mills College, was one of the most interesting figures present on that occasion. She represented the class of '45, which graduated just 50 years ago. At the Alumnae meeting the quarter century and the half century classes had reunions. This is the outline of the remarks made by Mrs. Mills:

"Mrs. Dr. Mills of California responded for the class of '45 in an interesting address. The members of the class are not ashamed of their ages, she said, but it does not seem possible that 50 years have elapsed since they were undergraduates. There were 51 in the class—the last class taught by Mary Lyon. She taught them in Butler's 'Analogy.' They loved her dearly. Of the 51 there are 20 living; nine are here. There were 13 expected, but the others were kept away. Various, indeed, have the lives of the members been. Twelve died unmarried. Many have been teachers, some have been missionaries, home or foreign. Looking back they are thankful that they were educated at Mount Holyoke and that they came under Mary Lyon's teaching. They are glad to see the wonderful improvements that have been made. The younger graduates must take up the work of Mount Holyoke as the older ones lay it down."

Mount Holyoke for more than half a century maintained its distinctive character as a seminary. The aim was to give young women the best possible education for the least money. It was a pioneer institution. It maintained a high religious character. The seminary gradually developed into the college under the demand for "higher education." It takes its place now among the Eastern states having enough graduates to keep up such an association. This influence is well illustrated by the fact that they promptly undertook to raise for the college $150,000, and that pledges were presented for for a considerable part of it at this Alumnae meeting.

Mrs. Mills will return to the institution, which she and her husband had founded, to prosecute her work there as long as health and strength remain. She has seen this younger Holyoke grow gradually into a great institution. What it is to-day is only the promise of what it will be in the future. Its picturesque grounds, with parks, sunny meads, quiet dells and living water, will never be less attractive than now, because hands of taste are continually enriching the landscape. New edifices will cluster about the older ones. The time will come when the thousands of Alumnae will do for this institution what has just been done for Mount Holyoke.

For State Independence.

The Manufacturers' and Producers' Association have made a call for industrial independence. The demand is that the people of this State shall help themselves. If they want anything they must reach out and take it. The complaint about dull times will cease when every citizen has done something to encourage home manufactures. A citizen was heard to say the other day that he always gave the preference in his purchases for articles made at home. He would even give more for them. That is the right spirit. What is needed is more local pride.

If one goes through the markets, stores and shops he will be reminded that millions of dollars are sent out of the State for articles that ought to be made at home. The cloth in his suit of clothes has been made thousands of miles away. The dress goods, which his wife selects were not made at home; the leather in the shoes which he wears was made on the other side of the country; the hats which he wears were made in some one of the Eastern states. The paper on which he writes his letters, and the envelopes that enclose them, were not made in California. He will finally make his memorandum so long that he will see the many millions that are going out of the State that ought to be expended here.

In the greatest fruit state in the world, he will see tins of jams and jellies that have been put up two or three thousand miles away, hams that were cured somewhere East of the Rocky mountains, green corn that was probably put up down in Maine, and any amount of small hardware that was probably made in Connecticut.

The list does not end here; but it is long enough to furnish the best reasons for calling a halt. This the Manufacturers' and Producers' Association have done, and at the same time have proposed an advanced in a new direction. Public institutions are falling into line. But the greater gain to be made is in the consent of the whole community as one mind, to buy nothing abroad that can be produced at home. And wherever there are blanks to give all possible encouragement for filling them with home-made goods. This is the key note of the Manufacturers' and Producers' Association. It is the note that every citizen is requested to sound and encourage by example until an industrial revolution has been wrought in California.

The Great Scientist Gone.

The death of Prof. Huxley has removed from the world the greatest scientist of the age. He was in accord with Darwin where the lines of investigation wer parallel. But unlike Darwin, Huxley was a controversialest. That was an element of weakness, rather than strength. He was ready to have a bout with any one who crossed his path. In many instances he gained signal vctories in that way. He could interpret science with far greater ability than he could interpret the scriptures. Huxley was an evolutionist from first to last. But he was much more. He ranged over the whole field of science, making great and important discoveries, until his name became illustrious in all the civilized world.

Prof. Huxley accomplished a great work in bringing his investigations and discoveries to the knowledge of the common people. He illustrated what was best in university extension. He knew how to translate science into terms that the people could understand. He was the popular teacher of science for the great assembly. He published a great many works. His labors were prodigious in his chosen fields. His attitude toward religion aroused strong antagonisms. It was one of doubt. He had the weakness of an agnostic with the strength of a great scientist, who had cleared up his doubts in one field, but had left them as clouds over the whole field of divine revelation. He belonged to the new school of scientific men who have made their pathway luminous along many lines of modern investigation. The succession of great men is never wholly broken. But among English speaking savants there was no name greater than that of Huxley.

The more the fruit men of California discuss the best method of selling fruit in the Eastern markets the nearer do they come to an agreement on the proposition to concentrate on a single auction house in each city. Fruit dealers in Chicago have heretofore dictated terms to the fruit men of this State. They have set up rival auction houses, and demanded that sales should only be made to wholesale dealers. Competition has been cut off. The small dealers had no chance. The fruit growers here have sadly needed an independent agent to represent their interests both in Chicago and New York. A first-class man would clear away the obstructions very soon. One central point for business and free competition for everbody who wants to buy California fruit.

The reports sent out from the great business centers beyond the Rocky mountains are of the most encouraging character. There is an advance along all the lines of the more important industries. This year is a far better one for the country than the preceding one. This industrial revival has not been felt

Judge McKesick's Construction.

According to Judge McKesick's construction, the University at Palo Alto was at no time in peril by reason of the suit brought by the Federal Government against the Stanford estate. This view is hardly consistent with known facts. Senator Stanford made a partial endowment of the University. This consisted principally of three great ranches with some other property. The value of the endowment might have been nominally $5,000,000. In reality it was something less. The income was not sufficient at any time to support the institution. Senator Stanford was compelled to draw from other sources to keep the institution in operation. He had arranged to turn over the bulk of his estate, estimated at not less than $15,000,000, to the University.

He left the actual transfer to his wife. It was clearly in her province to give it or to withhold it. She had often said that if the suit went against the estate she could not sustain the institution. The fifteen millions or more, would have been turned aside, and there would not have been enough left for a permanent basis of educational operations at Palo Alto. Judge McKesick's view that the institution would be in no way affected by the litigation, is just the opposite of that held by the public.

The way the new Valkyrie slipped through the water on her recent trial indicates that this is the fastest yacht ever put afloat in British waters. The Britannia came in first on a time allowance, and by the good luck of having caught a white cap breeze, but the general opinion was that the Valkyrie was much the faster boat. The American yacht Defender has had bad luck in getting clear of the launching ways. When the boats are matched it will be the greatest yacht race of modern times.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

Lady Mary Hamilton-Douglas, the eleven-year-old daughter of the late Duke of Hamilton, will be one of the richest heiresses of the age. Her father could not leave her his title, but left her the bulk of his property, including the Isle of Arran, which is larger than the Isle of Wight. Her income now is $800,000 a year, and will be a million and a quarter by the time she comes of age.

Among the plans for special attractions for the 1900 exhibition selected by the commissioners for more careful examination are four schemes for captive balloons, four for the reproduction of an ironclad or ocean steamer, eleven panoramas, including one of a journey from Paris to the North Pole, sixteen reproductions of "Old France," "Old Paris," etc., a large refracting telescope, a reproduction of the moon, a tremendous bell in a monumental belfry, luminous cataracts and fountains, projection of light on artificial clouds, an electric gyroscope, a children's exposition, and many special exhibitions. A curious feature is the large number of plans based on aerial navigation.

are deficient it has not been possible to determine as yet whether the negro population can maintain itself in the towns, although there has been a strong belief that it could not and that the negro population of the cities was kept up only by drawing from the rural districts. This Dr. De Saussene now shows beyond question.

In the fourteen years between 1880 and 1894, the deaths among the negroes in Charleston exceeded the births by 5,426; that is, there were three deaths for every two births. The Charleston negroes are decreasing at the rate of 388 a year, and the negro population of the city would completely disappear in a couple of generations if it were not recruited elsewhere. The Charleston mortality is a little less than that of New Orleans, and allowing for this difference and the larger number of negroes here, in order to keep up its colored population New Orleans must draw 1,554 negroes every year, or 15,540 every decade, to prevent an actual decrease.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Ready to Help the Powerful.

Detroit Free Press.

I was sitting in a railroad depot in Buffalo waiting for a train when a stranger approached me and said:

"It's kinder queer how hard up the best of us may get sometimes, eh?"

"How do you mean?" I asked.

"Wall, I just met the Governor of New York out here, Levi P. Morton, and he asked me for the loan of $2."

"You don't say!"

"That's what's the matter. Had his pocket picked and wanted to use $2 right away. He didn't know what to do about it till he saw me."

"You know him, then?"

"Never sat eyes on him afore today. He jest picked me outer the crowd fur a man who'd do him a favor. He only wanted $2, but I made him take $3. He'll send it back in a day or two. Ever meet the Governor?"

"I've seen him several times."

"Wonder how he got his nose broke?"

"His nose isn't broken. What sort of a man was the chap you lent money to?"

"Red hair—side whiskers—broken nose, and two teeth out in front."

"Governor Morton is no such looking man. You have been swindled by some sharper."

"It can be. He said he was the Governor."

"I might say the same thing."

"And he called me by name."

"So can I. You are James H. Johnson. There is your name on your satchel. Is the man around here, do you think?"

We went to the door of the depot and looked around, and we went to the depot officer and he looked around, but the "Governor" had vanished, as might have been expected.

"You ought to have known better!" exclaimed the officer, after giving up the search.

"How had I orter known better?" demanded the victim. "Didn't he pick me out as a man who'd do him a favor? Didn't he say he was Governor Morton? Didn't he praise my confidence in human natur' when I made him take $3?"

"You'd better go and soak your head!"

"What fur? What good will soakin' my head do?"

The officer turned away with a tired look, and the old man sat down and thought it all over and then said to me:

"Yes, I guess I've bin swindled, and I guess I'm to blame fur it. It's a good experience, though, I felt so mighty proud about lendin' the Governor of New York $3 that if a feller had come along and said he was President of the United States I'd a handed him over my other $7 and walked sixty-two miles to git home."

Engineers Need Not Whistle.

The Supreme court of Nebraska has just rendered a decision of great interest to railroads. There is a law on the statute books of the state compelling engineers to whistle at every public highway crossing, and on failure to do so, the railway company is subject to a fine of $50—of which one-half goes to the informer. The law has cost the Nebraska railroads several small fortunes, and every suit hitherto has resulted in favor of the plaintiffs and against the railroads. The Supreme court has just decided the law unconstitutional. J. H. Hale, a farmer, who waited until he had a number of cases, secured judgment in the lower court against the Omaha and Republican Valley, which is a part of the Union Pacific, for $3500 of this whistling money, representing 700 failures to whistle, and it was appealed to the Supreme court, and the law was declared unconstitutional.

After the Turk.

Miss Dodge (Gail Hamilton) taught in the school at Ipswich, and many legends are still preserved in the old town of the unprecedented things she used to do. The conventional always had a strange fascination for her. One morning, on going to the class room, she found all the seats had been removed to the hall for a lecture the previous evening. Instead of calling the janitor to replace them she said to the class: "Well, young ladies, there's nothing left for us but to become Turks," and down she went upon the floor in the oriental attitude. The girls followed, and the recitation from "Paley's Natural Theology" proceeded until Mrs. Cowles suddenly appeared. She surveyed the teacher and pupils squatted on the floor and said quietly, "This class may be excused until to-morrow."—Boston Transcript.

When Bees Will Sting.

Bees will sting only when hurt or attacked, and when they are driven to sting they lose their lives, literally dying in defense of their homes. Just inside the entrance to the hive are a number of guard bees under a leader; so soon as an alarm is given this leader rushes out, followed by thirty or forty others, and it is then time for the wise to move off. Should the leader strike the object of alarm the following bees will do likewise, but if the leader fail to strike, or by dodging the head or otherwise one manages to avoid, the other bees will religiously follow the leader's movements and leave you in peace.—Chicago Chronicle.

In Cuba.

has now been reduced to $198,000,000, on which the annual interest charge is $12,000,000. The burden is about all Cuba can carry. The system of taxation in Cuba is difficult for Americans to understand. When a guest registers at a hotel he must have a stamp placed opposite his name or he cannot stop there. Every sign is placed at a store front only after the payment of a tax on each letter displayed. Even a sign of "Rooms to Rent" is subject to this charge. Every laborer who sweeps the streets pays a tax or he cannot engage in that work, and every professional and business man must do likewise. All the estates pay a tax. In fact, the island in all its resources is mortgaged to pay the debt. In view of these facts and considering that every dollar of the vast expense incurred in suppression of the current rebellion is charged up to Cuban account, and also for generations to come, Spain will be able to gain revenues from the islands, M. Rodriguez asks the pertinent question: "If the debt becomes so large that Spain must herself guarantee it, will she keep Cuba?"—Times-Herald.

A Historic Incident.

The first use of the telautograph in journalism was made by the Chicago Times-Herald June 20, 1895. Professor Elisha Gray's invention transmitted to the columns of the Times-Herald opinions of the Republican leaders in attendance upon the convention of the National League of Republican Clubs at Cleveland. The handwriting of each man was reproduced as distinctly in the Times-Herald of June 21, 1895, as it appeared on the paper on which the writers penned their sentiments.—Times-Herald.

A Bright Weekly.

Pacific Town Talk has come to the front wonderfully of late, and it now ranks as the best of the society weeklies published in this part of the country. The departments are all ably conducted and well edited, and the doings of the world of fashion, music and art are faithfully chronicled in an interesting way. There is a freshness to every page that commends it to the news reader and its splendid art work is a feature unsurpassed by any of its competitors.

To residents on this side of the bay Town Talk has unusual interest, for lively, up to date correspondence is published from Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley, and all the best local stories find their way into its pages. Typographically the paper is as pretty as any weekly in the country.

THE TIE-UP OF CITY COIN.

Treasurer Gilpin Says He Gave the Council Notice.

Mayor Davie Suggests a Way Out of the Mess in Future.

City Treasurer Gilpin says he dones not propose to bear the blame for the lack of money to meet the June salary demands. He says he went before the finance committee of the Council last week and showed them the condition of each fund in the city treasury. He claims it was the business of the finance committee to order the necessary transfer.

Gilpin takes issue with Councilman Bassett who said the treasurer had been derelict. He declares that he did his duty throughout and even went out of the way to accommodate city employes by registering their warrants on Saturday instead of holding them until today.

"A man goes out of his way to do a favor and the thanks he gets is abuse," said Treasurer Gilpin today when discussing the matter. "It seems to me there is someone in this building who is trying to do me up. The same man tried it before election and is continuing his work now. If there is any dereliction it is on the part of the Council who did not order the transfer of money last week.

"So far as placing a steel safe in the vaults is concerned, I have no objections to that at all, but I do say that it will result in the non-payment of salaries for four or five months in the year and a great deal more discounting than is done now.

"I do not propose to be accused of dereliction by anyone especially when it is not my fault that there is not money on hand to meet these demands. I told the finance committee that there was $19,000 in the Street Department fund and only $1 registered against it."

Treasurer Gilpin was very much wrought up over the statements that were made by Councilman Bassett on Saturday. The question between them is still an open one.

THE MAYOR ON DECK.

Mayor Davie took a hand in the dispute over the financial situation this morning.

The mayor is opposed to the appropriation of the city revenue that is received from sources outside of taxation. These include the receipts from licenses, from the courts for fines, forfeitures and costs and from all other departments of the city. All these outside receipts have been apportioned by ordinance in the following pro rata: Fire fund, 25 per cent; police, 25; salary, 20; street, 20, and general, 10.

The mayor proposes that all this money shall be placed to the credit of the general fund and transferred to the other funds as occasion may require. He believes this will insure the payment of salaries and other demands on that fund during the year and will effectually prevent any discounting in the future.

It Isn't There.

This week, the Oakland correspondence, but what of that! There is nothing going on in Oakland, anyhow, nothing of importance in the society world. The Alameda, Sacramento, Berkeley, and Portland, Oregon, correspondents, however, send bright budgets to Pacific Town Talk's current issue and Carrie Roma writes a most interesting letter from New York. "Our Opinion" is chiefly of a fiery, roasting nature this week, suitable to the weather. Kate Clark Brown has a story, W. W. Anderson a poem, the "Graphologist" and the "Saunterer" are on deck, and the society news, musical and dramatic criticisms run above the tide mark.

The Week's Failures.

The Bradstreet Mercantile Agency reports eleven failures in the Pacific coast States and Territories for the week ending Saturday, as compared with eighteen for the previous week and fifteen for the coresponding week of 1894. The failures for the past week are divided among the trades as follows: Two builders, two saloons, two general stores, one lime and cement, one manufacturer of cigars, one boots and shoes, one grocer and one dry goods.

Mr. Gladstone's appearance on a warm day is "an exciting as an iced drink." The "Grand Old Man" welcomed the advent of spring with all the sprightliness of a gallant a quarter his age, and appears in jaunty gray [illegible], white hat and waistcoat, and [illegible] himself with the most spring-like of businesslike.

A CANOPY OF COLORS.

Gay Decorations Going Up on the Line of March.

The Subscriptions Are Fast Nearing the Six Thousand Dollar Mark.

Today the decorations on the line of march of the Fourth of July parade were carried forward with great rapidity. Early this morning the electric poles were covered with evergreens to the height of about fifteen feet. Instead of simply wrapping the poles with branches those in charge have bound a small tree to each pole. The effect is excellent. The upper portion of the poles is being wound with bunting.

Broadway and Washington streets are being canopied with lines of banners, flags and streamers stretching across the roadway. The corners are particularly gay with bunting. The junction of Broadway, San Pablo avenue and Fourteenth street affords the best opportunity for a lavish display on the line of March. The Central bank building is being draped from top to bottom and the other corners will be similarly treated.

On Broadway and Washington streets the following firms have already begun elaborate decorations: Jonas Bros., Fred Becker, Kahn Bros., W. B. Standeford, the First National Bank and the Sunset Telephone Company.

In the Tabernacle this morning about thirty boys gathered to receive instruction in drumming. Earnest Snow, the leader of the Fifth Regiment drum corps, is the teacher. The boys piled over the seats and on the platform regardless of everything but noise, which they produced in great quantity. They carried all sorts of instruments, from the shallow orchestra drum to the deep-toned drum of the regiment.

THE CAVALIERS.

The cavalcade is now an assured success. In all there will be about 400 riders in line. They will hail from all over this county and from many of the towns on the other side of the Contra Costa hills. The following are some of those wh will participate: B. McDermott, Jr., Lafayetts Riom, M. Mulvihill, Joe Mahar, Wm. Stutt, Joe Galindo, Jno. Stutt, D. W. Murphy, Chas. Lane, E. Poulson, B. Allen, W. B. Coffin, Joe Cavanaugh, Daniel Cavanaugh, Alex. Tierney, Martin Colman, Don F. Miller, H. F. Weltzel.

Tomorrow evening the last meeting of the executive committee will be held. Reports will be presented from all the sub-committees and everything will be finally arranged.

Chairman D. C. Brown of the executive committee said today: "Everything is rapidly approaching conclusion. Most of the committees have already finished their work and the merest details have been arranged. Tomorrow's meeting will be the last and final reports will be received. Everything promises the greatest celebration ever seen this side of the Rockies.

A PYTHIAN FLOAT.

The Knights of Pythias are constructing, in the vacant building on the corner of Harrison and Twelfth streets, a huge float representing the last act of the drama, Damon and Pythias. The frame work measures twenty by ten feet and will be about three feet above the ground. In front on the right corner is the execution block, while on the left is a place where Damon will remain in concealment until it is time for him to appear and save Pythias. The rear of the platform is a huge prison of iron, in which Pythias will be confined as hostage for Damon.

There will be about twenty characters on the platform, all dressed in Syracusan costumes. The last act of the drama will be acted in detail many times during the procession. The characters have not all been selected, but as the rehearsals proceed the cast will be completed.

The Knights of Pythias will have from 1,500 to 2,000 men in line and will produce one of the finest attractions of the parade.

THE WORKMEN.

All of the Oakland lodges of the A. O. U. W. and members from most of the lodges in the county will take part in the parade in Oakland next Thursday, and the joint committee promise that the A. O. U. W. division will be one of the features of the parade. They will have the right of line of the fourth division and will be headed by the Artillery band and a large float which is designed to show, by contrast, the advantage of membership in the A. O. U. W.

On one side will be shown the condition of the family of a man who, by his membership in the A. O. U. W., left his family in comfortable circumstances, while on the reverse will be depicted the condition of the family of the man who, during his lifetime, neglected to make provision for those whom he knew he should some day leave behind.

All the members of the A. O. U. W., no matter where they hold membership, who desire to take part in the parade are invited to be present at Syndicate open house all day at the hall on Thirteenth street.

J. A. C. McDonald is marshal of this division. He will be assisted by W. J. Hall, J. G. Poorman and C. R. Haswell. The aides to the grand marshal from this division are J. W. Ward, E. J. Fennon and J. S. Gilmore.

A GOOD POET.

Charles A. Keelar, who will read a poem during the afternoon exercises, is a poet of tried ability. He is a graduate of the University of California and lives in Berkeley. Several of his poems have been published and have secured a wide reading, from which much praise has resulted.

Doxey, the San Francisco publisher, has published a volume of Mr. Keelar's poems entitled, "A Light Through the Storm," and the San Francisco Academy of Sciences has published his volume on the "Evolution of Color in the Land Birds of North America."

The following by Mr. Keelar appeared in a recent number of the University of California Magazine:

TO JOSEPH LE CONTE ON HIS SEVENTY-SECOND BIRTHDAY.

Simplicity, what charm is thine combined
With such exalted thoughts as only flow
Through souls encumbered with the ceaseless woe
Of wresting truth from Nature's boundless mind,
Through souls exuberant with joy to find
What beauty beams amid the truth they know,
What love is constantly through life aglow,
And all so subtly, faithfully entwined.
Dear venerable friend whom all revere,
Thou hast indeed attained the fair truth sought
So patiently and long through years alone,
And now thy life to all is double dear,
For thou hast lived the truth thy lips have taught,
And sweet simplicity is all thine own.

The finance committee reports that the subscriptions up to date amount to $5,750.

George W. Arper has issued the following:

"In answer to many inquiries I wish to say that the Fourth of July parade will counter-march on Broadway, passing over to Washington street on Sixth street or lower down, if necessary, to uncover the line, but, in any event, not above Sixth street.

GEORGE W. ARPER,
Chairman Parade Committee.

The committee earnestly request that no explosives be fired along the line of march during the parade. A great many will be present and there is danger of accident. The chief of police has detailed a large number of officers to see that the request is complied with.

The past week was an interesting one in Whist Club circles. The contests have been very close. One of the most successful events of the season has been the straight whist tournament which closed last Monday evening. Mrs. Dr. Fine and John D. Eby, were the victors, scoring, 629 points. Mr. and Mrs. W. Joseph L. Kilruff were a close second with 623 points to their credit, while Mrs. J. A. Folger and E. D. Flint followed with 620 points. Mrs. Cornwall and Mr. Henry Wadsworth tied Mrs. John E. Finnegan and Miss Williams for fourth place at 619 points. The Wednesday afternoon tournament finished on Wednesday, Mrs. F. F. Palmer and Mrs. Henry Krebs receiving the trophies. Mrs. P. J. Tormey and Mrs. E. D. Flint were second, and four couples, Mrs. Dr. Fine and Mrs. H. O. Trowbridge, Mrs. J. A. Folger and Mrs. F. W. Hall, Mrs. Capt. Taylor and Mrs. John Finnegan, and Mr. Cornwall and Miss E. G. Lukens, tied for third place. There scores show how close the contests were. Interest in them has grown keener with the progress of each tournament. The two teams of ladies versus gentlemen have been playing some warm games. At the end of the second of their match games the score stood twelve points in favor of the men. A team consisting of Dr. Fine, E. M. Cooper, A. W. Havens and Alex Marx stands ready to play the winners of the challenge game.

LITERARY NOTES.

D. Appleton & Co. of New York have put on the market "The Zeit Guest" by S. Dougall, the talented author of "The Mermaid," "Beggars All," etc. The work is attracting a good deal of attention as the subject is one out of the ordinary line of reading. Powerful lessons are entwined in casing of fiction and religious sentiments and opinion are ably pregeated. (Cloth 75 cents.)

In "Four Years of Novel Reading" by Moulton D. C. Heath of Boston has given to literary circles a work well worth taking place among the standard issues of the day. A digest is made of all the leading novels and points are taken as to the strength of the characters, the methods of the author and the style and diction. It is a book that everyone with literary aspirations should read. (Cloth 50 cents.)

John Owen Cost, the author of "Inspirations," is getting many flattering notices for his latest production, "One Man's Thesis." It is well thought out and admirably put.

The Midcontinental Magazine is improving with each issue. It is devoted to matters that particularly interest the West, and well known writers are engaged in its production. The July number contains a carefully prepared article on "Croatons, the Lost Colony of America," by Francis Jones Mellon and an illustrated essay on Chicago artists' exhibition.

The Pall Mall Magazine for July is one of the finest monthlies that has ever found the market. The pictoral work is handsomer and more finished than ever and the articles are by the best writers in Great Britain. Sir Henry Cunnigham contributes "The Touch of an Angel's Wing," Judge O'Connor Morris writes of "The Campaign of Trafalgar;" Arthur Warren tells of Lord Kelno and John De Warden Page has an admirable study of Combe Florey and Sydney Smith.

Scribner's for July will have especial interest on the Pacific coast as it has an article on the Athletic clubs which includes an illustration of the Olympic grounds in San Francisco. The matter is treated in masterly style. Another subject deserving especial mention is an essay by E. Benjamin Andrews, president of the Brown University, on "The History of the Last Quarter Century of the United States."

In "In the Saddle," by Oliver Optic, the reader continues the acquaintance of many of the characters which are prominent in "Brother against Brother," the preceding volume of the series. The real military opinions of the war now commence and the residents of the section where the scene is laid see and feel the terrors and anxieties of Civil war. Titus Lyons raises a company of Home Guards which soon becomes part of the Confederate Army. Noah Lyon, the younger brother, having obtained a commission, raises a squadron of cavalry, in which, among other old friends, Deck and Artie appear as privates. The operation of this loyal battalion of cavalry in protecting bridges, the repressing of partisan onslaughts, and the guarding of towns and villages largely inhabited by citizens loyal to the Union form the basis of the story. The author carefully avoids reflection on the motives of those who took the Southern side but loses no opportunity to impress upon the minds of his readers the great lessons of honor, duty and love of country. (Price $1.50, for sale by W. B. Hardy, Broadway, Oakland.)

"Jean Bella," the French Robinson Crusoes, from the French of Alfred de Brehat, is a book which will be eagerly read by the young people into whose hands it may come. It has been justly called the companion to the "Swiss Family Robinson," as Jean and his companions thrown upon an uninhabited part of the coast of Africa, show the same fertility of resources in adapting themselves to their surroundings and causing the wilderness to yield up its treasures for their comfort, as did the heroes of the former story. Jean and Leandry's adventures among the savages by whom they are taken prisoners, while attempting to reach the English settlements, and the treachery of Leandry towards Jean after his arrival at Port Natal; from which succor was sent to the shipwrecked family are graphically told. The final happy reunion of Jean and the Pearson family and the humiliation of Leandry end a story which will prove as interesting to girls as to boys and teach them the valuable lessons of self-help and united action with which to achieve the best results. (Price $1.50. For sale by W. B. Hardy, Broadway, Oakland.)

"In the Wild Rose Time," by Amanda M. Douglas, cloth $1.50. Miss Douglas has given us a strong and true picture of life among the poor, and the trials and temptations which surround them, and also of the noble lives which spring up and blossom amid such scenes, as anything which has previously emanated from her pen. Dilsey Quinn "like a gem of purest ray serene" stands out in bold relief, and, though poor and ignorant, in her strong love and mother care for her younger and helpless sister Bess, and her beautiful forgetfulness of self in such love, exercises an influence for good on all with whom she comes in contact, and causes the current of many lives to run in new and better paths. Faith, love, hope and charity shine out on every page of this book like beacon lights, and so vivid are the pen-pictures that one seems to be a participant in them. Had Miss Douglas written but this one book, it would alone have placed her name among our best authors. (Price $1.50. For sale by W. B. Hardy, Broadway, Oakland.)

"Lisbeth Wilson," by Eliza Nelson Blair (Mrs. Henry W. Blair). Some novels are imposed upon a long-suffering public because a man or woman unfitted for the task, and with no appreciation of the art, has a wild ambition to write a novel. Others appear, because the publisher advises a second after a success, or a third or fourth, usually a dreary dilution. Some are turned out as if from a machine or an oven with fatiguing frequency, until the sale stops. A few novels write themselves, recalling impressions burnt in upon the soul, from childhood up; the author impelled by these forceful reminiscences writes because called to tell the story. Such a book makes its own way and lives. And such a novel as that has just been issued by Lee & Shepard, the first book of one of New Hampshire's best known women, who thinks for herself and can tell what she has so carefully observed and studied. The story deals with homely home-like scenes and real New Hampshire people of a generation agone, and their habits, customs, manners, opinions, controversies are shown as in a verbal mirror, true and clear. It is a first book, but neither crude nor sensational; a delightful addition to the few really valuable novels of our day. (Price $1.50. For sale by W. B. Hardy, Broadway, Oakland.)

THE TIE-UP OF CITY COIN.

Treasurer Gilpin Says He Gave the Council Notice.

Mayor Davie Suggests a Way Out of the Mess in Future.

City Treasurer Gilpin says he denes not propose to bear the blame for the lack of money to meet the June salary demands. He says he went before the finance committee of the Council last week and showed them the condition of each fund in the city treasury. He claims it was the business of the finance committee to order the necessary transfer.

Gilpin takes issue with Councilman Bassett who said the treasurer had been derelict. He declares that he did his duty throughout and even went out of the way to accommodate city employes by registering their warrants on Saturday instead of holding them until today.

"A man goes out of his way to do a favor and the thanks he gets is abuse," said Treasurer Gilpin today when discussing the matter. "It seems to me there is someone in this building who is trying to do me up. The same man tried it before election and is continuing his work now. If there is any dereliction it is on the part of the Council who did not order the transfer of money last week.

"So far as placing a steel safe in the vaults is concerned, I have no objections to that at all, but I do say that it will result in the non-payment of salaries for four or five months in the year and a great deal more discounting than is done now.

"I do not propose to be accused of dereliction by anyone especially when it is not my fault that there is not money on hand to meet those demands. I told the finance committee that there was $19,000 in the Street Department fund and only $1 registered against it."

Treasurer Gilpin was very much wrought up over the statements that were made by Councilman Bassett on Saturday. The question between them is still an open one.

THE MAYOR ON DECK.

Mayor Davie took a hand in the dispute over the financial situation this morning.

The mayor is opposed to the appropriation of the city revenue that is received from sources outside of taxation. These include the receipts from licenses, from the courts for fines, forfeitures and costs and from all other departments of the city. All these outside receipts have been apportioned by ordinance in the following pro rata: Fire fund, 25 per cent; police, 25; salary, 20; street, 20, and general, 10.

The mayor proposes that all this money shall be placed to the credit of the general fund and transferred to the other funds as occasion may require. He believes this will insure the payment of salaries and other demands on that fund during the year and will effectually prevent any discounting in the future.

It Isn't There.

This week, the Oakland correspondence, but what of that! There is nothing going on in Oakland, anyhow, nothing of importance in the society world. The Alameda, Sacramento, Berkeley, and Portland, Oregon, correspondents, however, send bright budgets to Pacific Town Talk's current issue and Carrie Roma writes a most interesting letter from New York. "Our Opinion" is chiefly of a fiery, roasting nature this week, suitable to the weather. Kate Clark Brown has a story, W. W. Anderson a poem, the "Graphologist" and the "Saunterer" are on deck, and the society news, musical and dramatic criticisms run above the tide mark.

The Week's Failures.

The Bradstreet Mercantile Agency reports eleven failures in the Pacific coast States and Territories for the week ending Saturday, as compared with eighteen for the previous week and fifteen for the coresponding week of 1894. The failures for the past week are divided among the trades as follows: Two builders, two saloons, two general stores, one lime and cement, one manufacturer of cigars, one boots and shoes, one grocer and one dry goods.

Mr. Gladstone's appearance on a warm day is "as cooling as an iced drink." The "Grand Old Man" welcomes the advent of spring with all the jauntiness of a gallant a quarter as old and appears in jaunty gray clothes, white hat and waistcoat, and adorns himself with the most spring-like of boutonnieres.

The World's Fair Tests showed no baking powder so pure or so great in leavening power as the Royal.

A CANOPY OF COLORS.

Gay Decorations Going Up on the Line of March.

The Subscriptions Are Fast Nearing the Six Thousand Dollar Mark.

Today the decorations on the line of march of the Fourth of July parade were carried forward with great rapidity. Early this morning the electric poles were covered with evergreens to the height of about fifteen feet. Instead of simply wrapping the poles with branches those in charge have bound a small tree to each pole. The effect is excellent. The upper portion of the poles is being wound with bunting.

Broadway and Washington streets are being canopied with lines of banners, flags and streamers stretching across the roadway. The corners are particularly gay with bunting. The junction of Broadway, San Pablo avenue and Fourteenth street affords the best opportunity for a lavish display on the line of March. The Central bank building is being draped from top to bottom and the other corners will be similarly treated.

On Broadway and Washington streets the following firms have already begun elaborate decorations: Jonas Bros., Fred Becker, Kahn Bros., W. B. Standeford, the First National Bank and the Sunset Telephone Company.

In the Tabernacle this morning about thirty boys gathered to receive instruction in drumming. Earnest Snow, the leader of the Fifth Regiment drum corps, is the teacher. The boys piled over the seats and on the platform regardless of everything but noise, which they produced in great quantity. They carried all sorts of instruments, from the shallow orchestra drum to the deep-toned drum of the regiment.

THE CAVALIERS.

The cavalcade is now an assured success. In all there will be about 400 riders in line. They will hail from all over this county and from many of the towns on the other side of the Contra Costa hills. The following are some of those who will participate: B. McDermott, Jr., Lafayette Rlom, M. Mulvihill, Joe Mahar, Wm. Stutt, Joe Galindo, Jno. Stutt, D. W. Murphy, Chas. Lane, E. Poulson, B. Allen, W. B. Coffin, Joe Cavanaugh, Daniel Cavanaugh, Alex. Tierney, Martin Colman, Don F. Miller, H. F. Weltzel.

Tomorrow evening the last meeting of the executive committee will be held. Reports will be presented from all the sub-committees and everything will be finally arranged.

Chairman D. C. Brown of the executive committee said today: "Everything is rapidly approaching conclusion. Most of the committees have already finished their work and the merest details have been arranged. Tomorrow's meeting will be the last and final reports will be received. Everything promises the greatest celebration ever seen this side of the Rockies.

A PYTHIAN FLOAT.

The Knights of Pythias are constructing, in the vacant building on the corner of Harrison and Twelfth streets, a huge float representing the last act of the drama, Damon and Pythias. The frame work measures twenty by ten feet and will be about three feet above the ground. In front on the right corner is the execution block, while on the left is a place where Damon will remain in concealment until it is time for him to appear and save Pythias. The rear of the platform is a huge prison of iron, in which Pythias will be confined as hostage for Damon.

There will be about twenty characters on the platform, all dressed in Syracusan costumes. The last act of the drama will be acted in detail many times during the procession. The characters have not all been selected, but as the rehearsals proceed the cast will be completed.

The Knights of Pythias will have from 1,500 to 2,000 men in line and will produce one of the finest attractions of the parade.

THE WORKMEN.

All of the Oakland lodges of the A. O. U. W. and members from most of the lodges in the county will take part in the parade in Oakland next Thursday, and the joint committee promise that the A. O. U. W. division will be one of the features of the parade. They will have the right of line of the fourth division and will be headed by the Artillery band and a large float which is designed to show, by contrast, the advantage of membership in the A. O. U. W.

On one side will be shown the condition of the family of a man who, by his membership in the A. O. U. W., left his family in comfortable circumstances, while on the reverse will be depicted the condition of the family of the man who, during his lifetime, neglected to make provision for those whom he knew he should some day leave behind.

All the members of the A. O. U. W., no matter where they hold membership, who desire to take part in the parade are invited to be present at Syndicate hall on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. There they will be provided with badges and given a place in line. Members of the Oakland lodges will keep open house all day at the hall on Thirteenth street.

J. A. C. McDonald is marshal of this division. He will be assisted by W. J. Hall, J. G. Poorman and C. R. Haswell. The aides to the grand marshal from this division are J. W. Ward, E. J. Fennon and J. S. Gilmore.

A GOOD POET.

Charles A. Keelar, who will read a poem during the afternoon exercises, is a poet of tried ability. He is a graduate of the University of California and lives in Berkeley. Several of his poems have been published and have secured a wide reading, from which much praise has resulted.

Doxey, the San Francisco publisher, has published a volume of Mr. Keelar's poems entitled, "A Light Through the Storm," and the San Francisco Academy of Sciences has published his volume on the "Evolution of Color in the Land Birds of North America."

The following by Mr. Keelar appeared in a recent number of the University of California Magazine:

TO JOSEPH LE CONTE ON HIS SEVENTY-SECOND BIRTHDAY.

Simplicity, what charm is thine combined
With such exalted thoughts as only flow
Through souls encumbered with the ceaseless woe
Of wresting truth from Nature's boundless mind,
Through souls exuberant with joy to find
What beauty beams amid the truth they know,
What love is constantly through life aglow,
And all so subtly, faultlessly entwined.
Dear venerable friend whom all revere,
Thou hast indeed attained the fair truth sought
So patiently and long through years alone,
And now thy life to all is doubly dear,
For thou hast lived the truth thy lips have taught,
And sweet simplicity is all thine own.

The finance committee report that the subscriptions up to date amount to $5,750.

George W. Arper has issued the following:

"In answer to many inquiries I wish to say that the Fourth of July parade will counter-march on Broadway, passing over to Washington street on Sixth street or lower down. If necessary, to uncover the line, but, in any event, not above Sixth street.

GEORGE W. ARPER,
Chairman Parade Committee.

The committee earnestly request that no explosives be fired along the line of march during the parade. A great many will be present and there is danger of accident. The chief of police has detailed a large number of officers to see that the request is complied with.

A bicycle club is soon to be organized in Alameda by a number of married ladies of that city. Its promoters are: Mesdames Ennal, Souther, Bardwell, De Larm, Richards, Havens, Meyer, Henry, Mastic, Sperbeck, Lamborn, Baker, McNicol and Ewing.

The past week was an interesting one in Whist Club circles. The contests have been very close. One of the most successful events of the season has been the straight whist tournament which closed last Monday evening. Mrs. Dr. Fine and John D. Eby, were the victors, scoring, 629 points. Mr. and Mrs. W. Joseph L. Kilruff were a close second with 623 points to their credit, while Mrs. J. A. Folger and E. D. Flint followed with 620 points. Mrs. Cornwall and Mr. Henry Wadsworth tied Mrs. John E. Finnegan and Miss Williams for fourth place at 619 points. The Wednesday afternoon tournament finished on Wednesday, Mrs. E. F. Palmer and Mrs. Henry Krebs receiving the trophies. Mrs. P. J. Tormey and Mrs. E. D. Flint were second, and four couples, Mrs. Dr. Fine and Mrs. H. O. Trowbridge, Mrs. J. A. Folger and Mrs. F. W. Hall, Mrs. Capt. Taylor and Mrs. John E. Finnegan, and Mr. Cornwall and Miss E. G. Lukens, tied for third place. These scores show how close the contests were. Interest in them has grown keener with the progress of each tournament. The two teams of ladies versus gentlemen have been playing some warm games. At the end of the second of their match games the score stood twelve points in favor of the men. A team consisting of Dr. Fine, E. M. Cooper, A. W. Havens and Alex Marx stands ready to play the winners of the challenge game.

LITERARY NOTES.

D. Appleton & Co. of New York have put on the market "The Zeit Guest" by S. Dougall, the talented author of "The Mermaid," "Beggars All," etc. The work is attracting a good deal of attention as the subject is one out of the ordinary line of reading. Powerful lessons are entwined in easing of fiction and religious sentiments and opinion are ably presented. (Cloth 75 cents.)

In "Four Years of Novel Reading" by Moulton D. C. Heath of Boston has given to literary circles a work well worth taking place among the standard issues of the day. A digest is made of all the leading novels and points are taken as to the strength of the characters, the methods of the author and the style and diction. It is a book that everyone with literary aspirations should read. (Cloth 50 cents.)

John Owen Cost, the author of "Inspirations," is getting many flattering notices for his latest production, "One Man's Thesis." It is well thought out and admirably put.

The Midcontinental Magazine is improving with each issue. It is devoted to matters that particularly interest the West, and well known writers are engaged in its production. The July number contains a carefully prepared article on "Croatons, the Lost Colony of America," by Francis Jones Melton and an illustrated essay on Chicago artists' exhibition.

The Pall Mall Magazine for July is one of the finest monthlies that has ever found the market. The pictoral work is handsomer and more finished than ever and the articles are by the best writers in Great Britain. Sir Henry Cunnigham contributes "The Touch of an Angel's Wing," Judge O'Connor Morris writes of "The Campaign of Trafalgar;" Arthur Warren tells of Lord Kelne and John De Warden Page has an admirable study of Combe Florey and Sydney Smith.

Scribner's for July will have especial interest on the Pacific coast as it has an article on the Athletic clubs which includes an illustration of the Olympic grounds in San Francisco. The matter is treated in masterly style. Another subject deserving especial mention is an essay by E. Benjamin Andrews, president of the Brown University, on "The History of the Last Quarter Century of the United States."

In "In the Saddle," by Oliver Optic, the reader continues the acquaintance of many of the characters which are prominent in "Brother against Brother," the preceding volume of the series. The real military opinions of the war now commence and the residents of the section where the scene is laid see and feel the terrors and anxieties of Civil war. Titus Lyons raises a company of Home Guards which soon becomes part of the Confederate Army. Noah Lyon, the younger brother, having obtained a commission, raises a squadron of cavalry, in which, among other old friends, Deck and Artie appear as privates. The operation of this loyal battalion of cavalry in protecting bridges, the repressing of partisan onslaughts, and the guarding of towns and villages largely inhabited by citizens loyal to the Union form the basis of the story. The author carefully avoids reflection on the motives of those who took the Southern side but loses no opportunity to impress upon the minds of his readers the great lessons of honor, duty and love of country. (Price $1.50, for sale by W. B. Hardy, Broadway, Oakland.)

"Jean Selin," the French Robinson Cruesoe, from the French of Alfred de Brehat, is a book which will be eagerly read by the young people into whose hands it may come. It has been justly called the companion to the "Swiss Family Robinson," as Jean and his companions thrown upon an uninhabited part of the coast of Africa, show the same fertility of resources in adapting themselves to their surroundings and causing the wilderness to yield up its treasures for their comfort, as did the heroes of the former story. Jean and Leandry's adventures among the savages by whom they are taken prisoners, while attempting to reach the English settlements, and the treachery of Leandry towards Jean after his arrival at Port Natal, from which succor was sent to the shipwrecked family are graphically told. The final happy reunion of Jean and the Pearson family and the humiliation of Leandry and a story which will prove as interesting to girls as to boys and teach them the valuable lessons of self-help and united action with which to achieve the best results. (Price $1.50. For sale by W. B. Hardy, Broadway, Oakland.)

"In the Wild Rose Time," by Amanda M. Douglas, cloth $1.50. Miss Douglas has given us a strong and true picture of life among the poor, and the trials and temptations which surround them, and also of the noble lives which spring up and blossom amid such scenes, as anything which has previously emanated from her pen. Dilsey Quinn "like a gem of purest ray serene" stands out in bold relief, and, though poor and ignorant, in her strong love and mother care for her younger and helpless sister Bess, and her beautiful forgetfulness of self in such love, exercises an influence for good on all with whom she comes in contact, and causes the current of many lives to run in new and better paths. Faith, love, hope and charity shine out on every page of this book like beacon lights, and so vivid are the pen-pictures that one seems to be a participant in them. Had Miss Douglas written but this one book, it would alone have placed her name among our best authors. (Price $1.50. For sale by W. B. Hardy, Broadway, Oakland.)

"Lisbeth Wilson," by Eliza Nelson Blair (Mrs. Henry W. Blair). Some novels are imposed upon a long-suffering public because a man or woman unfitted for the task, and with no appreciation of the art, has a wild ambition to write a novel. Others appear, because the publisher advises a second after a success, or a third or fourth, usually a dreary dilution. Some are turned out as if from a machine or an oven with fatiguing frequency, until the sale stops. A few novels write themselves, recalling impressions burnt in upon the soul, from childhood up; the author impelled by these forceful reminiscences writes because called to tell the story. Such a book makes its own way and lives. And such a novel as that has just been issued by Lee & Shepard, the first book of one of New Hampshire's best known women, who thinks for herself and can tell what she has so carefully observed and studied. The story deals with homely home-like scenes and real New Hampshire people of a generation agone, and their habits, customs, manners, opinions, controversies are shown as in a verbal mirror, true and clear. It is a first book, but neither crude nor sensational; a delightful addition to the few really valuable novels of our day. (Price $1.50. For sale by W. B. Hardy, Broadway, Oakland.)

COURSING MATCHES.

Dogs Chase Artificial Hares at the Oakland Trotting Park.

The coursing matches at the Oakland Trotting Park yesterday afternoon were fairly well attended. The dogs chased the artificial hare. The matches were as follow: W. Cramer's Regent vs. J. An Excellent Attraction Is at the Oakland Theater.

Everything First-Class and a Big Patronage Is Assured.

The Oakland theater was opened on Saturday night under the most auspicious circumstances. The house was packed until standing room was at a premium. From the proscenium boxes to the last tier in the gallery the available space was occupied.

The theater itself was all that the management had promised. A very thorough renovation had taken place. Everything was new from the fine Brussels laid upon the floor to the mural and ceiling decorations above.

The drop curtain and stage scenery have been in the hands of the painter for some weeks. They have taken on a bright, fresh and inviting appearance. The exterior of the building has likewise been cleaned and painted and all through there is a very marked improvement to be noted.

The first night's performance was a glittering success and is surely the forerunner of a long engagement of equally excellent performances, and is big houses. Farmer Stebbins' is a bright play with some very clever people in the cast. Sam T. Shaw in the title roll is one of the best farmers that ever fell into difficulties in New York. He is not exaggerated and the fun is clean and natural. George Allen Watson as Frank Armstrong is exceptionally good.

Some of the scenic effects are unusually fine. A saw mill explosion is interesting and effective. The light of the limited express is also well done.

The orchestra is one of the features of the performance. Seats may be had at Reilley's drug store, 1067 Broadway.

The ladies of Santa Rosa are to be congratulated upon their success in saving the trees which add so much to the beauty of their pretty little city. We have always been afraid until lately, that a wave of so-called utilitarianism would some day or other sweep away the trees that make Oakland uniquely handsome and picturesque among the cities of the world. But women are now beginning to impress their character so strongly upon public life and affairs that we have come to the belief that the trees are safe.—San Francisco Report.

The Associated Charities will give an outing to the inmates of the various orphan asylums of San Francisco and Oakland on July Fourth.—Alameda Encinal.

The case of the barkeepers of the ferry boats Oakland, Piedmont and El Capitan who are charged with selling liquor without a license from the city of Oakland were before Justice Wood in Oakland yesterday. William McCormick the proprietor of the bars, has admitted all the facts in the case. The point now involved is simply whether or not the city of Oakland has municipal jurisdiction over the boats and can force the proprietor of the bars to pay a license in that city. The cases will be set for argument at an early date. The matter will be submitted on briefs in all probability.—Alameda Encinal.

State Labor Commissioner Fitzgerald is about to take effectual measures to stop the influx of Japanese coolies. He is preparing a petition to be circulated throughout the State and afterward presented to the next Congress, praying for a restricting act in relation to this class of immigration. It is said that the lower class of Japs are worse that the Chinese coolies.—Martinez News.

Oakland has now secured for the Alameda county Fourth of July celebration subscriptions to the amount of $5,500 50, with the prospect of still more funds ere the close of the lists. Every movement indicates a truly grand old-time celebration of the nation's birthday by Alameda county at Oakland.—Alameda Encinal.

Labor Commissioner Fitzgerald of Oakland suggests that the unemployed be sent into the foothills to work abandoned placer mines. The suggestion is good. Some of the thrifty did not wait for the suggestion, but started for the hills early in the hard times and have earned their living while waiting for manufacturing, etc., to revive.—Stockton Independent.

There is seldom such a complete typographical metamorphosis of a newspaper as that recently effected on the Oakland Tribune. Type-setting machines are what did it.—Alameda Argus.

All citizens of Alameda county are earnestly requested to participate in the grand celebration to be held in Oakland July Fourth. A splendid programme has been arranged and it will be a day of continuous enjoyment from 7 o'clock in the morning till midnight. A monster parade will take place which will be by far the grandest thing of its kind ever held in the county. The display of fireworks in the evening will be something grand and will certainly be worth going miles to see. Fares on the railroad have been reduced so that one can make the round trip for what is usually asked for one way. Everybody should attend and help make this a grand Alameda county celebration.—Washington Press.

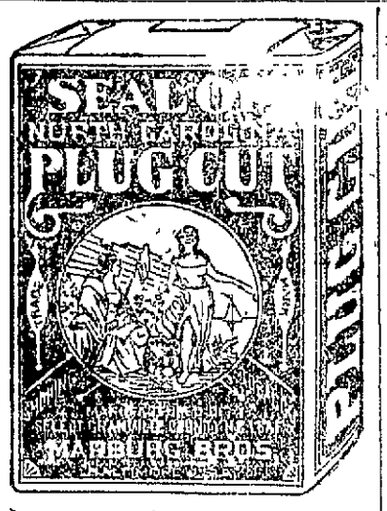

State Labor Commissioner Fitzgerald of Oakland has been told that hundreds of Japanese are entering the State by the northern land route. They have been doing so for a long time, as the Report has often said during the past two or three years.—San Francisco Report.

The Oakland Water Company is tearing down or nearly all of the old warehouses on their land and building some fine new ones.—Washington Press.

Misses Susan B. Anthony and Rev. Anna Shaw have been entertaining the good people of Oakland with their brilliant and somewhat humorous lectures upon the woman question. They drew a crowded house last Tuesday evening in the First Congregational church, and were introduced to the audience by Col. John F. Bush. Why cannot we have these stars in the woman's firmament visit Alameda and be heard by our people? They could be assured of a generous welcome, and our people would go to hear them as eagerly as those of our sister city across the estuary.—Alameda Encinal.

Oakland has now secured for the Alameda county Fourth of July celebration subscriptions to the amount of $5,500.00, with the prospect of still more funds ere the close of the lists. Every movement indicates a truly grand old-time celebration of the nation's birthday by Alameda county at Oakland.—Alameda Encinal.

Labor Commissioner Fitzgerald of Oakland suggests that the unemployed be sent into the foothills to work abandoned placer mines. The suggestion is good. Some of the thrifty did not wait for the suggestion, but started for the hills early in the hard times and have earned their living while waiting for manufacturing, etc., to revive.—Stockton Independent.

All citizens of Alameda county are earnestly requested to participate in the grand celebration to be held in Oakland July Fourth. A splendid programme has been arranged and it will be a day of continuous enjoyment from 7 o'clock in the morning till midnight. A monster parade will take place which will be by far the grandest thing of its kind ever held in the county. The display of fireworks in the evening will be something grand and will certainly be worth going miles to see. Fares on the railroad have been reduced so that one can make the round trip for what is usually asked for one way. Everybody should attend and help make this a grand Alameda county celebration.—Washington Press.

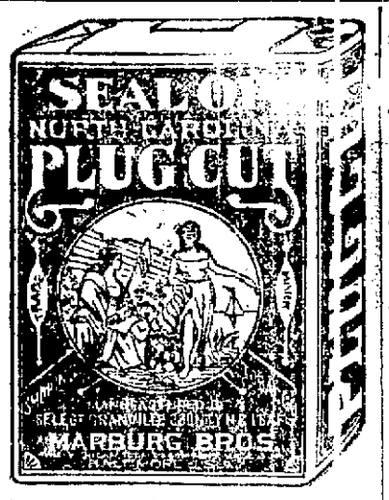

State Labor Commissioner Fitzgerald of Oakland has been told that hundreds of Japanese are entering the State by the northern land route. They have been doing so for a long time, as the Report has often said during the past two or three years.—San Francisco Report.

Misses Susan B. Anthony and Rev. Anna Shaw have been entertaining the good people of Oakland with their brilliant and somewhat humorous lectures upon the woman question. They drew a crowded house last Tuesday evening in the First Congregational church and were introduced to the audience by Col. John P. Irish. Why cannot we have these stars in the woman's firmanent visit Alameda and be heard by our people? They could be assured of a generous welcome, and our people would go to hear them as eagerly as those of our sister city across the estuary.—Alameda Encinal.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

Proceedings of Adjourned Regular Meeting Held Wednesday, June 26, 1895.

The Board of Supervisors met at ten o'clock A. M. Present, Supervisors Pe- Chairman Bailey. louze, Church, Talcott, Johnston, and

GOLDEN GATE SANITARY DISTRICT.

H. B. M. Miller appeared before the board and called its attention to a clerical error in the writing up of the minutes of said Board in regard to said district on the 14th day of April, 1894, and the Board on investigating said minutes and the files of said Board regarding said district and being satisfied that a correction of said minutes is proper, adopted on motion of Supervisor Johnston the following resolution and directed that the same be entered in full upon the margin of the minutes of said Board of April 14, 1894, opposite the entry therein regarding said district.

"Whereas, There was presented to and filed with the Board of Supervisors of Alameda county at a regular meeting thereof, on the 26th day of March, 1894, a petition for the formation of a Sanitary District in Golden Gate, Alameda county, signed by J. H. Dieckman, W. Martin Evans and about fifty other residents of said Golden Gate, which said petition came on for hearing before said Board on the 14th day of April, 1894, and was declared by said Board to be signed by more than twenty-five freeholders and residents of the proposed district, and,

Whereas, The resolution at said time made and entered upon the minutes of said Board recited said petition as having been presented to said Board on the 2d day of March, 1894, and through a clerical error of the Clerk of said Board instead of the 26th day of March, 1894.

Now Therefore, It is ordered in open session of said Board that the minutes of said Board for the 14th day of April, 1894, be changed and corrected so that it shall appear therein as the fact exists, that said petition was presented to said Board on the 26th day of March, 1894."

Adopted by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Johnston, Pelouze, Chairman Bailey, 5. Noes—None.

Upon motion of Supervisor Church the reading of the minutes of June 24th was passed until the next meeting.

RELIEF OF INDIGENTS.

The following named persons made application for relief, viz.:

L. G. Wagner, 1511 New Broadway, native of Iowa, married, four children. Referred to Supervisor Pelouze.

Mrs. Myra Tanner, 1843 Grove street, native of Ohio, widow. Referred to Supervisor Pelouze.

WEBB VS. M'NAMEE.

The complaint of Andrew C. Webb against A. McNamee for selling liquor to minors, set for hearing this day was then brought up for consideration. Mr. J. F. Burris appeared as counsel for Mr. McNamee and Mr. L. D. Manning and the district attorney appeared for the complainant. Mr. Burris stated that after argument and when the Board had decided to listen to the evidence, that he would admit the special facts charged for the purpose of saving time. The District Attorney, however, advised the Board to listen to the testimony, claiming that the offer of the defendant to admit the facts charged in the complaint would not be satisfactory or sufficient. It was decided that the attorney for Mr. McNamee should prepare briefs in the matter and serve them upon the district attorney within one week. The Board thereupon continued the hearing until Monday, July 8th, at two o'clock.

BRIDGES IN THE SAN RAMON DISTRICT.

Supervisor Talcott read a communication concerning bridges in the San Ramon Valley and asked that the Board as a Committee of the Whole visit and inspect. Thereupon it was decided to as a Committee of the Whole make inspection on Friday, June 28th.

RECESS.

The chair then declared a recess until two o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Board reassembled at two o'clock. Roll call showed all members present.

AWARDING OF CONTRACTS.

This being the hour for finally considering and awarding contracts for furnishing supplies for the ensuing fiscal year, on proposals presented June 24, 1895, the district attorney addressed the Board concerning their power in the matter of letting the contracts, calling attention to the terms and conditions prescribed in the schedules and advised them that the bids should be upon articles mentioned in schedules adopted, that it was within their discretion to award contracts either to those having the lowest in aggregate or the lowest on each article and that they could if they so thought best, reject any or all bids.

The Clerk then read the proposal of F. Borsi, the only one offered for fruit and vegetables. Upon motion of Supervisor Johnston, seconded by Supervisor Church, the contract for furnishing fruit and vegetables was awarded to F. Borsi by the following called vote. Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Pelouze, Johnston, Chairman Bailey, 5. Noes—None.

The proposal for fish was next brought up for consideration. One bid only had been presented, that of A. Paladini. The expert reported that the advertisement was not annexed to the proposal and that the bidder was not doing business in this county. Thereupon the bid was rejected.

The proposal for furnishing beef and mutton, schedule No. 7, was then brought up for consideration. The expert reported that the proposal of Rice & White was the lowest. Mr. White called attention to one article claiming that his bid was $4.50 instead of $4 as estimated by the expert. The proposal was examined by the members of the Board. Mr. White stated that the change in the figures from $4 to $4.50 had been made before the proposal had been filed. Thereupon the contract was awarded to Rice & White at the aggregate bid of $4430 by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Johnston, Charman Bailey, 4. Absent—Supervisor Pelouze, 1.

The proposal for dry goods, schedule No. 6, was then brought up for consideration. Mr. Nusbaumer addressed the Board in behalf of Mr. Herrscher, one of the bidders, and stated that inasmuch as the terms mentioned in the schedule gave the Board power to reject bids or parts of bids and to award the contracts to the party presenting the lowest bid on each article, that the Board should announce the rule it was going to adopt in letting all other contracts under consideration before the Board. Supervisor Talcott thereupon moved that the Board take a recess of ten minutes and go into a Committee of the Whole in executive session and consider the matter and decide upon a rule to be followed in awarding the other contracts. The motion was carried and a recess then declared for ten minutes, at the expiration of which time the Board reassembled.

The question then came up on awarding the contract and it was developed by a statement made by Supervisor Pelouze that the Board had decided in executive session as Committee of the Whole to allow contracts to those presenting a bid upon all articles upon which they made proposals, that any proposal not showing a bid upon each article would be rejected and that in awarding the contract the bidder bidding upon all articles and being the lowest bidder in the aggregate of estimate should be awarded the contract. Thereupon Supervisor Church moved that the bid of Jos. Harris for furnishing dry goods, clothing, etc., to the County Infirmary be accepted and the contract be awarded to him. The roll was ordered called and the contract awarded by the following vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Johnston, Pelouze, Chairman Bailey, 5. Noes—None.

The proposal for furnishing coal to the County Infirmary, schedule No. 9, was next taken up for consideration. Two proposals had been presented, one each by J. C. Wilson & Co. and James P. Taylor. The bid of J. C. Wilson & Co. being the lowest, aggregating $3623, was thereupon awarded to them by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Pelouze, Johnston, Chairman Bailey, 5. Noes—None.

The next proposal brought up for consideration was that for furnishing the several departments of the County Government with coal and fuel, schedule No. 8. J. C. Wilson & Co., Jas. P. Taylor and the Oregon Navigation Co. had presented proposals. The expert reported that the proposals of Jas. P. Taylor and the Oregon Navigation Company showed that an estimate had not been made on each and every article. Thereupon on motion those bids were rejected and the bid of J. C. Wilson & Co. was accepted and the contract awarded to them by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Johnston, Pelouze, Chairman

Supervisor Church, seconded by Supervisor Johnston all of the bids were rejected.

The matter of awarding contract for groceries was next brought up. Phelan & Fish, F. Borsi, H. C. Howard, Jos. Herrscher and Theodore Lanz had presented bids. The expert reported that the bid of Jos. Herrscher was upon each and every item and that the other four proposals showed estimates on only certain articles. A discussion then arose concerning the question of awarding. Supervisor Johnston moved that the bid for groceries be rejected. Seconded by Supervisor Talcott. The roll was ordered called and the motion lost by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Johnston, 2. Noes—Supervisors Church, Pelouze, Chairman Bailey, 3.

Supervisor Church moved that the contract for furnishing groceries, schedule No. 5, to the County Infirmary, be awarded to Jos. Herrscher, seconded by Supervisor Pelouze. The roll was ordered called and the contract awarded by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Pelouze, Chairman Bailey, 4. Noes—Supervisor Johnston, 1.

The bids for drugs were then taken up, schedule No. 1. I. Tabriner, Osgood Bros. and E. H. and E. C. Reilly presented proposals. The expert stated that the bids of I. Tabriner and P. H. and E. C. Reilley were incomplete and that Osgood Bros.' bid was on each and every article. Some discussion arose concerning bids and it was found that the schedule bid upon by I. Tabriner showed but two items not bid upon. Supervisor Talcott then moved that the bid of I. Tabriner be accepted, seconded by Supervisor Church. The motion carried by the following vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Pelouze, Chairman Bailey, 5. Noes—None.

LEBERER ROAD.

The matter of the Leberer road set for hearing this day was then brought up. Supervisor Talcott moved that it be continued until the next meeting. So ordered.

FURTHER CONSIDERATION OF PROPOSALS FOR DRUGS.

Mr. Osgood of the firm of Osgood Bros. asked leave to address the Board. It being granted, he stated that he felt that the Board in awarding the contract to I. Tabriner after the rule had been announced concerning the award of contracts wherein it had been decided to require all bidders to bid on every article, worked an injustice, that his bid was on each and every article though in the aggregate it was about $100 more than Mr. Tabriner's. He stated that if the Board did not desire to accept his bid because of his excess in the aggregate of proposal, that it would be nothing more than right that all the bids be rejected and new bids be advertised for and the dealers placed upon equal footing and given another opportunity to bid. Supervisor Talcott inquired of the Clerk whether advertising for drugs, in addition to the other articles to be advertised would increase the expense. The Clerk stated that it would cost no more to advertise for drugs as it would be inserted in the same general advertisement. Supervisor Talcott thereupon moved a reconsideration of the vote whereby the contract for furnishing drugs was awarded to I. Tabriner, seconded by Supervisor Johnston. Roll was ordered called and the action of the Board reconsidered by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Johnston, Pelouze, Chairman Bailey, 5. Noes—None. Supervisor Church then moved that all proposals presented for furnishing drugs be rejected. Carried.

Supervisor Pelouze thereupon moved that the Clerk be instructed to advertise for proposals for fish, stationery, drugs and chemicals. Carried.

The following resolution was introduced, read by the Clerk, and unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, By the Board of Supervisors of Alameda county, California, that the Clerk of this Board be and he is hereby directed to advertise in the Oakland Tribune, daily newspaper printed in the City of Oakland, for at least ten days, for bids for furnishing the County Infirmary and the several departments of the county government at the Court House and the Hall of Records, County Jail, and Receiving Hospital of the County of Alameda with supplies consisting of fish, drugs and chemicals, etc., stationery, etc., from date of contract to June 30th, 1896, inclusive, as per schedules to be furnished by the Clerk of this Board adopted this day and according to the conditions and requirements of schedules contained and that such advertisement shall require bidders to file with each proposal or bid a check payable to the order of Frank C. Jordan, Clerk of this Board, certified to by some responsible bank for an amount which shall not be less than 10 per cent of the aggregate amount of each proposal. Said check to be forfeited to the County of Alameda as agreed and liquidated damages should the party or parties to whom the contract shall be awarded, fail to enter into the contract within ten days after the award or to give the bond required by the Board for the faithful performance of the contract. Said advertisement also to recite that payments by the Board will be made in the manner prescribed by the legislature of the State of California and that bids must be addressed to the Board of Supervisors of Alameda county and be enclosed in sealed envelopes, filed on or before the hour of 12 M., Monday, July, 8th, 1895. Said advertisement also to recite that the Board of Supervisors reserves the right to reject any or all bids as the public interest may require." The resolution was adopted by unanimous vote of the Board.

The schedules for drugs, fish, and stationery upon which proposals were presented on June 24th were adopted in entirety as schedules upon which proposals should be presented and Monday, July 8th, at 12 o'clock M., as recited in the resolution was fixed as the time when bids would be opened and action upon the same taken.

H. V. HERBERT EMPLOYED FOR DETECTIVE WORK.

The district attorney then addressed the Board concerning the employment of assistance in his office for detective work in the prosecution of criminal cases. He stated that some criticism had been made concerning the bills presented during the last few months and stated to the Board that the work was necessary for the proper presentation and prosecution of criminal cases tried during that time and in order that there might be no further difficulty and that expenses might be reduced as much as possible he recommended that the Board employ some one person to assist him. Such person to receive a stated sum, to serve the pleasure of the Board, allowing traveling expenses when engaged on detective work for the office requiring absence from the county. Thereupon the following resolution was introduced and adopted by unanimous vote:

"Resolved, That H. V. Herbert be and he is hereby appointed for detective work for the district attorney at a salary of $125 per month and traveling expenses outside the said county to be paid out of the County General Fund, to date from July 1, 1895, at the pleasure of the Board." The roll was ordered called and the resolution adopted by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Church, Tal- vote: Ayes—Supervisors Church, Talley, 5.—Noes—None.

There being no further business to transact the Board adjourned to meet Monday, July 1st, 1895, at 10 o'clock A. M.

Where Wheelmen Meet.

The Fourth of July has greatly taxed the energy of B. C. Lund, the proprietor of the Central Cyclery, in Central Bank building, immediately opposite the entrance to the Macdonough theater, but he is equal to the emergency. There is nothing in the business that you cannot obtain at the Central Cyclery from the first lesson on a wheel to a Cleveland, Ben Hur or Tribune byk at the lowest possible rates. Mr. Lund has the finest cyclery in town and has made provisions in it for all the accommodations demanded by lady and gentlmen patrons. There will be thousands of bicycles on the streets all this week and especially on July 4th, and there is no place where you can be provided with a silent steed for rent so well as at the Central Cyclery.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

Proceedings of Adjourned Regular Meeting Held Wednesday, June 26, 1895.

The Board of Supervisors met at ten o'clock A. M. Present, Supervisors Pelouze, Church, Talcott, Johnston, and Chairman Bailey.

GOLDEN GATE SANITARY DISTRICT.

H. B. M. Miller appeared before the board and called its attention to a clerical error in the writing up of the minutes of said Board in regard to said district on the 14th day of April, 1894, and the Board on investigating said minutes and the files of said Board regarding said district and being satisfied that a correction of said minutes is proper, adopted on motion of Supervisor Johnston the following resolution and directed that the same be entered in full upon the margin of the minutes of said Board of April 14, 1894, opposite the entry therein regarding said district.

"Whereas, There was presented to and filed with the Board of Supervisors of Alameda county at a regular meeting thereof, on the 26th day of March, 1894, a petition for the formation of a Sanitary District in Golden Gate, Alameda county, signed by J. H. Dieckman, W. Martin Evans and about fifty other residents of said Golden Gate, which said petition came on for hearing before said Board on the 14th day of April, 1894, and was declared by said Board to be signed by more than twenty-five freeholders and residents of the proposed district, and,

Whereas, The resolution at said time made and entered upon the minutes of said Board recited said petition as having been presented to said Board on the 26 day of March, 1894, and through a clerical error of the Clerk of said Board instead of the 26th day of March, 1894.

Now Therefore, It is ordered in open session of said Board that the minutes of said Board for the 14th day of April, 1894, be changed and corrected so that it shall appear therein as the fact exists, that said petition was presented to said Board on the 26th day of March, 1894."

Adopted by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Johnston, Pelouze, Chairman Bailey, 5. Noes—None.

Upon motion of Supervisor Church the reading of the minutes of June 24th was passed until the next meeting.

RELIEF OF INDIGENTS.

The following named persons made application for relief, viz:

L. C. Wagner, 1611 New Broadway, native of Iowa, married, four children. Referred to Supervisor Pelouze.

Mrs. Myra Tanner, 1848 Grove street, native of Ohio, widow. Referred to Supervisor Pelouze.

WEBB VS. MCNAMEE.

The complaint of Andrew C. Webb against A. McNamee for selling liquor to minors, set for hearing this day was then brought up for consideration. Mr. J. F. Burris appeared as counsel for Mr. McNamee and Mr. L. D. Manning and the district attorney appeared for the complainant. Mr. Burris stated that after argument and when the Board had decided to listen to the evidence that he would admit the special facts charged for the purpose of saving time. The District Attorney, however, advised the Board to listen to the testimony, claiming that the offer of the defendant to admit the facts charged in the complaint would not be satisfactory or sufficient. It was decided that the attorney for Mr. McNamee should prepare briefs in the matter and serve them upon the district attorney within one week. The Board thereupon continued the hearing until Monday, July 8th, at two o'clock.

BRIDGES IN THE SAN RAMON DISTRICT.

Supervisor Talcott read a communication concerning bridges in the San Ramon Valley and asked that the Board as a Committee of the Whole visit and inspect. Thereupon it was decided to as a Committee of the Whole make inspection on Friday, June 28th.

RECESS.

The chair then declared a recess until two o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Board reassembled at two o'clock. Roll call showed all members present.

AWARDING OF CONTRACTS.

This being the hour for finally considering and awarding contracts for furnishing supplies for the ensuing fiscal year, on proposals presented June 24, 1895, the district attorney addressed the Board concerning their power in the matter of letting the contracts, calling attention to the terms and conditions prescribed in the schedules and advised them that the bids should be upon articles mentioned in schedules adopted, that it was within their discretion to award contracts either to those having the lowest in aggregate or the lowest on each article and that they could if they so thought best, reject any or all bids.

The Clerk then read the proposal of F. Borsi, the only one offered for fruit and vegetables. Upon motion of Supervisor Johnston, seconded by Supervisor Church, the contract for furnishing fruit and vegetables was awarded to F. Borsi by the following called vote. Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Pelouze, Johnston, Chairman Bailey, 5. Noes—None.

The proposal for fish was next brought up for consideration. One bid only had been presented, that of A. Paladini. The expert reported that the advertisement was not annexed to the proposal and that the bidder was not doing business in this county. Thereupon the bid was rejected.

The proposal for furnishing beef and mutton, schedule No. 7, was then brought up for consideration. The expert reported that the proposal of Rice & White was the lowest. Mr. White called attention to one article claiming that his bid was $4.50 instead of $4 as estimated by the expert. The proposal was examined by the members of the Board. Mr. White stated that the change in the figures from $4 to $4.50 had been made before the proposal had been filed. Thereupon the contract was awarded to Rice & White at the aggregate bid of $4430 by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Johnston, Charman Bailey, 4. Absent—Supervisor Pelouze, 1.

The proposal for dry goods, schedule No. 6, was then brought up for consideration. Mr. Nusbaumer addressed the Board in behalf of Mr. Herrschor, one of the bidders, and stated that inasmuch as the terms mentioned in the schedule gave the Board power to reject bids or parts of bids and to award the contracts to the party presenting the lowest bid on each article, that the Board should announce the rule it was going to adopt in letting all other contracts under consideration before the Board. Supervisor Talcott thereupon moved that the Board take a recess of ten minutes and go into a Committee of the Whole in executive session and consider the matter and decide upon a rule to be followed in awarding the other contracts. The motion was carried and a recess then declared for ten minutes, at the expiration of which time the Board reassembled.

The question then came up on awarding the contract and it was developed by a statement made by Supervisor Pelouze that the Board had decided in executive session as Committee of the Whole to allow contracts to those presenting a bid upon all articles upon which they made proposals, that any proposal not showing a bid upon each article would be rejected and that in awarding the contract the bidder bidding upon all articles and being the lowest bidder in the aggregate of estimate should be awarded the contract. Thereupon Supervisor Church moved that the bid of Jos. Harris for furnishing dry goods, clothing, etc., to the County Infirmary be accepted and the contract be awarded to him. The roll was ordered called and the contract awarded by the following vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Johnston, Pelouze, Chairman Bailey, 5. Noes—None.

The proposal for furnishing coal to the County Infirmary, schedule No. 9, was next taken up for consideration. Two proposals had been presented, one each by J. C. Wilson & Co. and James P. Taylor. The bid of J. C. Wilson & Co. being the lowest, aggregating $3623, was thereupon awarded to them by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Pelouze, Johnston, Chairman Bailey, 5. Noes—None.

The next proposal brought up for consideration was that for furnishing the several departments of the County Government with coal and fuel, schedule No. 2. J. C. Wilson & Co., Jas. P. Taylor and the Oregon Navigation Co. had presented proposals. The expert reported that the proposals of Jas. P. Taylor and the Oregon Navigation Company showed that an estimate had not been made on each and every article. Thereupon on motion those bids were rejected and the bid of J. C. Wilson & Co. was accepted and the contract awarded to them by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Johnston, Pelouze, Chairman Bailey, 5. Noes—None.

Stationery proposals, schedule No. 3, were then considered. Edward P. Taylor, C. B. Daniels, M. S. Smith & Co. and F. Tabriner presented proposals. Upon examination it was found that all were incomplete, the bidders not having figured on each and every item. Upon motion of Supervisor Church, seconded by Supervisor Johnston all of the bids were rejected.

The matter of awarding contract for groceries was next brought up. Phelan & Fish, F. Borsi, H. C. Howard, Jos. Herrscher and Theodore Lanz had presented bids. The expert reported that the bid of Jos. Herrscher was upon each and every item and that the other four proposals showed estimates on only certain articles. A discussion then arose concerning the question of awarding. Supervisor Johnston moved that the bid for groceries be rejected. Seconded by Supervisor Talcott. The roll was ordered called and the motion lost by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Johnston, 2. Noes—Supervisors Church, Pelouze, Chairman Bailey, 3.

Supervisor Church moved that the contract for furnishing groceries, schedule No. 5, to the County Infirmary, be awarded to Jos. Herrscher, seconded by Supervisor Pelouze. The roll was ordered called and the contract awarded by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Pelouze, Chairman Bailey, 4. Noes—Supervisor Johnston, 1.

The bids for drugs were then taken up, schedule No. 1. I. Tabriner, Osgood Bros. and E. H. and E. C. Reilly presented proposals. The expert stated that the bids of I. Tabriner and P. H. and E. C. Reilley were incomplete and that Osgood Bros.' bid was on each and every article. Some discussion arose concerning bids and it was found that the schedule bid upon by I. Tabriner showed but two items not bid upon. Supervisor Talcott then moved that the bid of I. Tabriner be accepted, seconded by Supervisor Church. The motion carried by the following vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Pelouze, Chairman Bailey, 5. Noes—None.

LEBERER ROAD.

The matter of the Leberer road set for hearing this day was then brought up. Supervisor Talcott moved that it be continued until the next meeting. So ordered.

FURTHER CONSIDERATION OF PROPOSALS FOR DRUGS.

Mr. Osgood of the firm of Osgood Bros. asked leave to address the Board. It being granted, he stated that he felt that the Board in awarding the contract to I. Tabriner after the rule had been announced concerning the award of contracts wherein it had been decided to require all bidders to bid on every article, worked an injustice, that his bid was on each and every article though in the aggregate it was about $900 more than Mr. Tabriner's. He stated that if the Board did not desire to accept his bid because of his excess in the aggregate of proposal, that it would be nothing more than right that all the bids be rejected and new bids be advertised for and the dealers placed upon equal footing and given another opportunity to bid. Supervisor Talcott inquired of the Clerk whether advertising for drugs, in addition to the other articles to be advertised would increase the expense. The Clerk stated that it would cost no more to advertise for drugs as it would be inserted in the same general advertisement. Supervisor Talcott thereupon moved a reconsideration of the vote whereby the contract for furnishing drugs was awarded to I. Tabriner, seconded by Supervisor Johnston. Roll was ordered called and the action of the Board reconsidered by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Talcott, Church, Johnston, Pelouze, Chairman Bailey, 5. Noes—None. Supervisor Church then moved that all proposals presented for furnishing drugs be rejected. Carried.

Supervisor Pelouze thereupon moved that the Clerk be instructed to advertise for proposals for fish, stationery, drugs and chemicals. Carried.

The following resolution was introduced, read by the Clerk, and unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, By the Board of Supervisors of Alameda county, California, that the Clerk of this Board be and he is hereby directed to advertise in the Oakland Tribune, daily newspaper printed in the City of Oakland, for at least ten days, for bids for furnishing the County Infirmary and the several departments of the county government at the Court House and the Hall of Records, County Jail, and Receiving Hospital of the County of Alameda with supplies consisting of fish, drugs and chemicals, etc., stationery, etc., from date of contract to June 30th, 1896, inclusive, as per schedules to be furnished by the Clerk of this Board adopted this day and according to the conditions and requirements of schedules contained and that such advertisement shall require bidders to file with each proposal or bid a check payable to the order of Frank C. Jordan, Clerk of this Board, certified to by some responsible bank for an amount which shall not be less than 10 per cent of the aggregate amount of each proposal. Said check to be forfeited to the County of Alameda as agreed and liquidated damages should the party or parties to whom the contract shall be awarded, fail to enter into the contract within ten days after the award or to give the bond required by the Board for the faithful performance of the contract. Said advertisement also to recite that payments by the Board will be made in the manner prescribed by the legislature of the State of California and that bids must be addressed to the Board of Supervisors of Alameda county and be enclosed in sealed envelopes, filed on or before the hour of 12 M., Monday, July, 8th, 1895. Said advertisement also to recite that the Board of Supervisors reserves the right to reject any or all bids as the public interest may require." The resolution was adopted by unanimous vote of the Board.

The schedules for drugs, fish, and stationery upon which proposals were presented on June 24th were adopted in entirety as schedules upon which proposals should be presented and Monday, July 8th, at 12 o'clock M., as recited in the resolution was fixed as the time when bids would be opened and action upon the same taken.

H. V. HERBERT EMPLOYED FOR DETECTIVE WORK.

The district attorney then addressed the Board concerning the employment of assistance in his office for detective work in the prosecution of criminal cases. He stated that some criticism had been made concerning the bills presented during the last few months and stated to the Board that the work was necessary for the proper presentation and prosecution of criminal cases tried during that time and in order that there might be no further difficulty and that expenses might be reduced as much as possible he recommended that the Board employ some one person to assist him. Such person to receive a stated sum, to serve the pleasure of the Board, allowing traveling expenses when engaged on detective work for the office requiring absence from the county. Thereupon the following resolution was introduced and adopted by unanimous vote:

"Resolved, That H. V. Herbert be and he is hereby appointed for detective work for the district attorney at a salary of $125 per month and traveling expenses outside the said county to be paid out of the County General Fund, to date from July 1, 1895, at the pleasure of the Board." The roll was ordered called and the resolution adopted by the following called vote: Ayes—Supervisors Church, Talcott, Johnston, Pelouze, Chairman Bailey, 5. Noes—None.

AN EPOCH OF TERROR.

Hideous Monsters Swarmed Over the Earth's Surface.

IT'S A LONG, LONG TIME AGO.

Man Did Not Appear Until Millions of Years After.

A GREAT CATASTROPHE CAME.

Alameda County Was Covered by Ice a Mile Thick.

The Scientific discourses that the Rev. V. Marshall Law is delivering at the Church of the Advent in East Oakland are attracting much attention inasmuch as he brings science and religion on the same platform and logically explains away many difficulties that confront the inquiring Christian. His subjects are well thought out and admirably prepared and should be read by all who desire to know something of the world in which they live. His subject last night was 'Reptiles, Mammals, Ice and Man' and the deductions he drew were as follows:

According to the most conservative scientific estimates at least sixteen millions of years have passed since the earth was a molten, glowing mass of stone. Of these sixteen millions of years twelve million have already been placed behind us in our telling, of the earth's story, which brings us to the close of the carboniferous or coal age geologically and to the close of the fourth day genetically.

We now begin the fifth day, or the age of reptiles and birds, which is to take three millions of years more, leaving the last million for mammals and the other higher land animals, including man, which and who appeared on the sixth day.

In the Scriptural account we are told that after the heavenly lights had been assigned to their duties on the fourth day, the work of the fifth day ushered in the "moving creatures" of the sea, and the fowls which fly above the earth. The "sea monsters" were without any kind of doubt sea reptiles. To this geology agrees perfectly, for immediately after the deposit of the coal measures, began the age of reptiles and reptilian birds. We are not surprised that God should here again supplement evolution and interpose His creative power by shunting off this new kind of creature upon the prevailing marine life. The waters were still warm and contained belated specimens of the vegetation of the coal period, including great forests of Cycads growing out of the borders of the swamps and over the marshy lands. The oceans were in the main still comparatively shallow, but in places were attaining considerable depth, owing to the cooling and crinkling of the earth's crust. The reptiles which dominated the earth in those times were great monsters unlike any of the reptiles we know at present.

Let us take a little walk over there under that forest of tall Cycads, Conifers and club-mosses, and try to see how they looked two or three millions of years ago.

Hark! What terrible noise is that? It sounds as though a flock of Mississippi river steamboats had gone dart, and were trying to outnoise each other with their hoarse whistles. Guided by these unearthly noises we will get a little closer. There! just over there! the sight freezes our very blood! A horrible sea saurian, fifty feet long, with a body like a whale and great paddles for feet, a head eight feet long and eyes as large as a dinner plate, is just crawling up on the shore. As he comes he bellows like a colossal bull. He is followed by thousands of his kind, some larger and some smaller. Striving for the sunniest bank they engage in deadly conflict to make the waters red with their coarse, brutal blood. This battle attracts myriads of smaller and more active reptiles—veritable water buzzards—fish-lizzards, called by the scientists Ichthyosauers. They have short necks, immense eyes and long teeth, with which they lacerate the sides of the contending Enaliosauers.

And what is that forest of weeds appearing away on the horizon? It approaches! They are not weeds, but the long, slender necks of thousands of other lizzard-like reptiles, the Plesiosauers. Their bodies are thirty feet long and very heavy, while from them projects long, slender, serpent-like necks, which rise twenty or thirty feet in the air, and they are surmounted by serpent-like heads, from which dart angry, hissing tongues, as they mingle in the fray and inflict their deadly bites upon the others. The bellowing has become deafening.

Then come the snake-like reptiles, waving their long bodies through the water. They are 80 or 100 feet long, and have an elbow joint to their lower jaws with which to poke their prey down their slimy throats. As far as the eye can reach the sea is a living mass of horrid monsters. The battle is general. The stench from their bodies is sickening. For hours the conflict lasts, until at last, worn out and mangled or dead, the combatants cease from struggling, and those still living slink away beneath the waves and disappear, leaving the shore lined with dead bodies.

The night is coming on. It is uncanny and dangerous and lonely! Let us climb into the nearest Cycad and hide among its fern-like leaves. The moon begins to rise, and with it comes the sound of flight in the air. What can it be? The leaves are still so it is not the rising breeze. O, there, there! what monsters are those flying towards us? They look like great bats. Their wings have a stretch of 40 to 60 feet. It is a flock of Pterodactyls. One almost touches us with his musty-smelling wings. He has great teeth and floats gracefully around and above the dead bodies of the sea reptiles. It is one of the air reptiles of the period. It is a bird-reptile. Existed there ever a creature so perfectly horrible? Hundreds more are coming. They will surely find us and swallow us at a single gulp. O that we were well out of this.

Well, we are out of it. God in His infinite wisdom, saw that the time was not a fit one for man to live in, and He held him back in the bosom of nature for a million or more of years, until those reptiles and reptilian birds had had their day. For three million of years did these monsters dominate the earth. For three millions of years did they struggle and fight and tear each other to pieces. We have heard of the proverbial scarcity of hen's teeth, but here was an age when the very birds of the air had awful teeth, and there was a menace to everything on the face of the planet. These reptiles occupied the whole earth. How startling for us to realize that birds are such near relatives of reptiles.

As we eat our quail on toast, and our Thanksgiving turkeys, it may not add to our appreciation of their toothsomeness to know that they are really a species of advanced reptile, but such is the fact. And strangest of all is the fact that the mention of them in Genesis, as coming together, or in close succession, is fully confirmed by that which scientists find in the strata of the earth. How could the writer of the sacred pages have known what to us appears so nearly incredible, that birds and reptiles are closely related, unless he had that knowledge from the very Creator Himself?

THE END OF THE ERA.

At last the fifth day draws to a close. The reptilian age drags its three millions of years along, and the cooling earth becomes a suitable home for animals of a still higher nature; then in the wisdom of the most high a change takes place and we enter upon the last million of years, which corresponds to the sixth day.

The more peaceful Zenozoic era has arrived, bringing with it the 'cattle' and "creeping thing' and 'beast," all corresponding to the account given of them in the creations of the sixth day in Genesis.

It may here be remarked that there is no conflict whatever between Genesis and geology, for these animals, according to the earth's flinty records follow the reptile age, and the Scriptures tell exactly the same story. The animals which succeed the reptilian age are a grade higher in organization, and the "creeping things' here alluded to are land reptiles, which are clearly distinguishable from the sea reptiles of the former period. The earth has been slowly preparing for their reception, and now they appear according to the plan of God's economy. They are true animals, only one grade below man.

The animals of the sixth day reign upon the earth for nearly a million years, according to the best estimates of conservative geologists, and then comes a radical change to the earth's surface, involving the entire difference in climate and all its physical conditions. A cataclysm or world-catastrophe occurred which may be likened to an earthquake which extended clear around the globe. The ocean beds and continents rose and fell like great waves, and when they came at last to rest, the age of ice was ushered in. Marine upheavals changed the direction of great ocean currents like the Gulf Stream, which, being stopped or turned otherwise, transformed the tropical climates into those of arctic coldness.

The whole of the northern and southern polar regions were clad in a mantle of ice, which thickened from age to age destroying all except a few of the hardier animals of the earth and nearly all the vegetable life then existing. What a cheerless spectacle that must have been to superior intelligences looking upon our planet from other realms! The snows steadily falling and constantly accumulating, were, by their own weight transformed into solid ice, which covered the whole continent to a depth of hundreds of feet.

Here in Alameda and Contra Costa counties the ice was probably not less than a mile in thickness. Right over our heads, up through the solid mass of ice, we might have gone to the surface, if endowed with supernatural powers, and there would have found the snow falling and the unrestricted wintry winds blowing, blowing, while it was snowing, and snowing while it was blowing, as the dreadful age of ice and snow dragged its chilling length along into years and decades and aeons. Not a living thing visible, all buried in the tremendous beds of snow and ice, spring, summer and autumn transformed into one long winter which lasted for thousands of years.

But this mass of ice, a mile to five miles in thickness was not stationary. It was constantly moving from the poles toward the equator. Not rapidly, for, look as carefully as you might, were you living then, you could not have seen it move. It traveled southward only about eighteen inches a year, judging by the present rate of movement in Alpine glaciers. This solid mass of ice filled all the mountain ravines and even covered the tops of the mountains themselves, so that mountains and ice became one solid mass.

Remember now, that the warm earth underneath, and other influences of which we know nothing, caused this great field of thick ice to travel equatorwards a little every year. But you will say the mountains sticking up through the ice would act like pegs or spikes of stone to anchor the glacier and hold it still. This might be true of small masses of ice, but for a glacier miles in thickness and thousands of miles in length and breadth, a mountain top furnished but little obstruction, and the field of ice broke off the tops of the mountains and carried them along toward the south, imbedded firmly in the snow and ice.

In the course of years at only eighteen inches a year the broken tops of the mountains were carried several hundred miles from their starting place, and when these rocks worked to the bottom of the glacier by the thawing underneath, and the adding of snows above, also when the ice began to break up, as it did after thousands of years, these rocks were rubbed against each other and rounded off and crushed up into smaller pieces, and these were in turn rolled about and polished off, so that when the ice had all melted they would look something like balls of stone.

In this condition the melting glaciers dropped them all over the country and you know them as "boulders." Some are so small you can pick them up and throw them, while others are as large as a horse or even a church. We know these boulders came from away north of here because we can find the mountains from which many of them were broken many miles to the north. We know about what direction to go to find the original mountain because the mountain sides and tops were scratched by the stones frozen in the ice as they passed over flat places and these scratches show the direction from which the ice came.

At length the ocean beds again changed, starting the gulf stream and other currents of the ocean back toward the north, and the influence of this warmed up the freezing atmosphere and the glaciers broke up and melted into torrents of water which flowed back into the sea. It was like the breaking up of a river in the spring, when the ice goes out, only on an immense scale—a scale so large that it covered the whole of North America.

There were elks living at the time this breaking up occurred, also hardy cave bears, hairy elephants and other animals called mammoths, which were something like but much larger than elephants. And, wonderful to relate, about the time the break up of these glaciers occurred man first appeared upon the earth. Genesis tells us he was made last of all the animals, and here, too, in geology, we find him last. We find stone arrow heads, knives, stone vessels, and sometimes we find the charcoal which was left from his fires, and all these first appear at the close of this great ice age, which occurred about seven to ten thousand years ago.

HOW DO WE KNOW?

But, the boys will ask, how does geology find out about these things and about the kind of animals and plants which lived so long ago. Listen: When the waters of a river or the sea wash constantly against the rocks they wear away fine particles of the rocks, which become sediment that settles to the bottom of the sea or river in fine smooth layers. Now, if a tree overhangs the water and its leaves or branches fall into the water, or there is a flood, and animals are drowned by the waters, these leaves and trees and animals float about and finally lodge somewhere, and the water covers them up in the fine sand or sediment, burying them entirely out of sight. After a time other plants and animals or parts of them are buried in the waters by the fine sand, and so on, one layer above another, and thus, as the different kinds of plants and animals lived and died, some of them would be systematically buried in this way. The oldest would be buried the deepest, and the next oldest would be buried just above them, and so on up to the present time.

After the plants and animals had been buried a long time they would be heaved up by the shrinking and breaking of the earth's crust and the consequent change of the ocean's bed, whereby it becomes dry land instead of the bottom of the ocean. Thus exposed to the sun and wind, these layers would dry out and petrify or become stone, with the plants and animals still hidden in them. After a long, long time these plants and animals would themselves also turn to stone just as they were buried, or possibly after they had partially decayed.

If we get these rocks and break them open we find these stone plants and animals, which show us just how they looked when they lived so many thousands of years ago. In ten or fifteen millions of years there would be many layers of this stone sediment piled one upon the other, so that it is estimated that these layers all told are about seven miles in thickness. They are not everywhere as thick as that, for part of the time the sea was making rocky in Europe, while America was dry land. Then Europe became dry land and America settled down beneath the waves and the sea made rocky layers over it, and so it is only in particular places that the rocks or strata, as they are called, would be seven miles in thickness.

Now, if we were to sink a shaft or dig a hole seven miles deep where the various animals and plants were buried and we were to let a man down this morning clear to the bottom and we should call down and ask him what he found at the very bottom that looked like a plant or animal, he would answer back, "I find Eozoon Canadense," a fossil that looks like the white of egg turned to stone. Turning to Genesis we find that the first bit of life recorded there is where it says, "The Spirit of God brooded upon the face of the waters." That is the nearest we can come. So, while it does not tell us much in either case whether we read the rocks or the account in Genesis, they tell so nearly the same story that we can find no disagreement between them.

We call down again to know what next he finds. He replies, 'I find sea weeds and some sea animals that look almost like the weeds." Turning to the Bible, we find that this is probably the case for the dry land has not yet appeared, and so all the life there must be marine life. Here again there seems little to be learned from either Genesis or geology, but that little is not conflicting.

We might go on in detail and show how each succeeding form of life as it is read in the rocky leaves of the earth, is in at least an ideal harmony with the account of that life as related in Genesis. As we come near the surface we call down and inquire as to the order of the latest forms of life, and our informant down the shaft calls back, "Reptiles of the sea, birds, mammals, land reptiles, man." Wonderful! We call again, "Is this order the story of geology?" 'Yes sir." You may turn now and inquire about this order as it is written in the first chapter of Genesis, and you will find the agreement is perfect. Surely the sacred book is inspired, is divine, for when that book was written man knew nothing of geology, but in so far as a short record in a few verses can tell the same story as that contained in volumes of geological research, they are the same.

And when you recall that the various acts which are recorded in accurate order in the first chapter of Genesis are at least ten in number and that with this number it was possible to arrange them in 3,628,800 different ways, and that whoever wrote Genesis got the right order the first time it was put on record, no other explanation than that Almighty God was the informant of the writer will fit the case whatever. That any man should be able to guess the right order out of more than three millions of possible wrong orders shows plainly that something more than human intelligence guided the sacred penman.

NATURE IS ELOQUENT.

But as we cannot sink a shaft seven miles deep, how do men get at the records thus deeply hidden in the bosom of the earth? Here the processes of nature come to our assistance, for the shrinking and breaking of the crust by the contractions and coolings within, and also by the cuttings made in the solid rocks by the water courses in their onward flow to the ocean, we do not require to do much digging after these records, for they are fractured and turned up to the light of day like this. (Illustrated with two handfuls of books). You have all seen these upturned edges of rocky layers as you passed through some railroad cut or mountain canyon. You noticed how they were tilted upwards. In this way they are exposed so that we may easily read what geology has to tell us.

In closing today I cannot refrain from telling (not quoting) to you the beautiful symbol of the human spirit which Professor Le Conte sees in the glacier. The water of the glacier descends from the sky as a snowflake of spotless whiteness and purity, free from every taint of the earth earthy. When it first rests upon the bosom of the glacier it is the emblem of all that is innocent and immaculately white and unsullied. As it mingles with the ice and snow upon which it has fallen it gradually becomes soiled. Its whiteness vanishes. The horrid winds blow their dust over it. It tries in vain to appear white. At last it becomes loaded down with foul dirt, it is broken and crushed among the grinding rocks. In this unhappy plight it passes on down towards the sea, growing more and more bound up with its unlovely associations and, freed from the bondage of glacial debris, it runs joyfully into the great ocean, only to be caught up in mists and borne again heavenwards, the same bright and pure thing it was when it first descended.

So the human spirit first descends in purity and innocence upon the earth and takes the phsical human frame for its home. It remains comparatively pure for a little time. Then it becomes contaminated with the earth, and takes on unlovely habits. It is imprisoned by decaying flesh and loaded down by the griefs and ills of life. Weary at length with the struggle, it throws down its load of earthiness and sin and disease and pain, and speeds away again to the great ocean of eternity, back into the spiritual empyrean where the home of God is and where there is matchless whiteness and celestial purity. Thus may the devout spirit drink from the glaciers' fountain.

BEWARE OF FOXES.

Rev. Campbell Coyle at the First Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Campbell Coyle preached at the First Presbyterian church last night on the text from Solomon—"The little foxes that spoil the vines." He said:

"Examine into the history of the world, into the evolutions of life, or into nature, and you will be impressed with the simple but sublime truth, that the ultimate force back of every movement has been small; so small, indeed as to escape notice were it not for the wonderful effects that flow out of it. The germinal principle is always small. First the acorn, then the oak. But the acorn, as we view it as a whole, is not the starting point. At its center lies a point of force invisible to all eyes but God's; which, when the required conditions are met, begins to energize and expand, and after a while plants its roots deep in the earth and shakes out its foliage, and the tiny thing that was rocked in the cradle of the acorn stands there the crowned and sceptered monarch of the forest. History discloses the same truth.

"A young man, 20 years of age, a devout lover of books, was turning over the stained manuscripts of the ancient fathers in the library of Erfurth, when a guiding Providence led him to open a book he had never seen before. That book was the Bible, and that young man was Martin Luther. Immediately under the touch of the fire of that holy book his soul was aflame, and the reformation was under way.

"But this principle as is true on the side of evil as on that of good. And I am not sure but its workings there are more marked, at any rate they are more noticeable. It takes a number of good influences to produce a noble life, whereas a single influence that is evil may blight a life forever. A scrueth of a pin will let life out of the body, and the germs of disease so small that the keenest-eyed microscope is needed to find them may defeat the best medical skill. Discontent, if allowed to grow, may develop into treason and take up arms against a great nation.

"Hatred is murder at the core. The way to ruin in thousands of instances has been through the gateway of some modest indulgence. That first drink, that first oath, that first lie, that first act of impurity—one teardrop of repentance could have washed the record clean—but you persisted, and the one sin has become a thousand, and you are enslaved. No prisoner taken in battle and bound to Roman chariot wheel; no negro in bondage on Southern plantation was ever in deeper slavery than you. It is the little foxes that spoil the vines. It is the barnicles on the bottom of the ship that impede the progress. It is the grasshopper that blights the harvest field. Take care of the little things and the great will take care of themselves. But that is just where we fail.

"I have seen a tree beautiful and luxuriant in its growth of foliage. The birds met for choir rehearsal in its branches. The cattle lay in its shade all the long summer afternoon. The mother often sat with her children under it to escape the heat of noon. But after a while its leaves grew yellow and withered, and hung lifeless on their stems, each on its little gibbet. Whence this wholesale execution? Upon examination I found that a tiny insect lay in ambush under each leaf, and, leech-like, was sucking the vitality out of that noble tree. The tree was great, the insect, small, but see that battlefield strewn with death! I have seen men, noble men in their appearance, whose brains were of no ordinary character, whose hearts were like the month of June, but they were careless at first about little things, little sins as they are affectionately called. First one bad habit after another began to settle upon them. They were wholly unconscious of any harm. But by and by you see them begin to wither and fade, and that noble human tree is a grim ruin. Disease invades its trunk and poisonous vines cling round about it and absorb its life, and all too soon it falls with a crash among its fellows. The little foxes did it.

"'It is the little rift within the lute
That by and by will make the music mute,
And ever widening slowly silence all,—
The little rift within the lover's lute,
Or little pitted speck in garnered fruit,
That, rotting inward, slowly moulders all.'

"This fox tribe is a very numerous one and it would be quite impossible for me to mention all the foxes that are nibbling away at the delicate vines of character. It will be sufficent if I mention a few general ones and let them stand for the rest. Foxes are noted for their cunning, and the faults which I shall speak of may, with reason, be called foxes because of their subtlety and power of deception.

THE CAUSES OF TROUBLE.

"Fox number 1—the fox of ill temper—That disposition that leads so many of us to growl and snap and snarl under the slightest provocation, or without provocation at all.

"Fox number 2—the fox of discontent—That quality, or rather that evil genius that so often possesses us, filling us with gloom or discontent, and causing us to drag shadows about with us wherever we go. That quality which depresses the spirit, burdens the heart with heaviness, blots out the sunlight and the stars and makes life a dungeon of despair. Oh, the fox of discontent. The vine of your life was beautiful; the leaves were fresh and green, and the grapes hung in rich clusters over the wall of character.

"Fox number 3—the fox of evil-speaking—One of the saddest things we have to encounter as we move along through life is the painfully common tendency to speak unkindly of one another. The world is full of it, and the church is full of it, and we are all more or less guilty? Criticism does not indicate a very high order of talent. It is easy to speak unkind words and write unkind things about another, but there is not an atom of Christ-like spirit in it. How many homes have been blighted, how many hearts saddened and broken by the process of unkindly speaking and misrepresentation. Why look for the flaws and hold them up for criticism when there is much good in every man? Christ found some good in Judas, and much good in Mary Magdalene.

"Fox number 4 and last—The fox of delay in religious things—Why is it that hundreds upon thousands of men and women put off accepting the Lord Jesus Christ as their saviour from sin? If you were shipwrecked and floating about in the sea how eagerly you would grasp at any plank or piece of wreckage that might come within your reach. But if you have not laid hold of the life line thrown out to you by the Son of God your peril is just as real as if you were wrecked in mid ocean and had nothing to keep you afloat. There is nothing more dangerous than delay. It blunts the conscience, and blights the life and hardens the heart. It destroys that sensitiveness which in the noblest souls so quickly responds to the wishes of God.

"Young people, see to it that this fox of delay, so subtle and cunning in his operation, does not destroy the promising vines of your life and rob you of heaven at last. Let Him who said 'I am the vine' into your heart that He may become the vine dresser of your life, and then you will not only be saved, but you will bear much fruit."

AN EPOCH OF TERROR.

Hideous Monsters Swarmed Over the Earth's Surface.

IT'S A LONG, LONG TIME AGO.

Man Did Not Appear Until Millions of Years After.

A GREAT CATASTROPHE CAME.

Alameda County Was Covered by Ice a Mile Thick.

The Scientific discourses that the Rev. V. Marshal Law is delivering at the Church of the Advent in East Oakland are attracting much attention inasmuch as he brings science and religion on the same platform and logically explains away many difficulties that confront the inquiring Christian. His subjects are well thought out and admirably prepared and should be read by all who desire to know something of the world in which they live. His subject last night was "Reptiles, Mammals, Ice and Man," and the deductions he drew were as follows:

According to the most conservative scientific estimates at least sixteen millions of years have passed since the earth was a molten, glowing mass of stone. Of these sixteen millions of years twelve million have already been placed behind us in our telling of the earth's story, which brings us to the close of the carboniferous or coal age geologically and to the close of the fourth day genetically.

We now begin the fifth day, or the age of reptiles and birds, which is to take three millions of years more, leaving the last million for mammals and the other higher land animals including man which and who appeared on the sixth day.

In the Scriptural account we are told that after the heavenly lights had been assigned to their duties on the fourth day, the work of the fifth day ushered in the "moving creatures" of the sea and the fowls which fly above the earth. The "sea monsters" were without any kind of doubt sea reptiles. To this geology agrees perfectly, for immediately after the deposit of the coal measures, began the age of reptiles and reptilian birds. We are not surprised that God should here again supplement evolution and interpose His creative power by shunting off this new kind of creature upon the prevailing marine life. The waters were still warm and contained belated specimens of the vegetation of the coal period, including great forests of Cycads growing out of the borders of the swamps and over the marshy lands. The oceans were in the main still comparatively shallow but in places were attaining considerable depth, owing to the cooling and crinkling of the earth's crust. The reptiles which dominated the earth in those times were great monsters unlike any of the reptiles we know at present.

Let us take a little walk over there under that forest of tall Cycads, Conifers and club-mosses, and try to see how they looked two or three millions of years ago.

Hark! What terrible noise is that? It sounds as though a flock of Mississippi river steamboats had gone daft, and were trying to outnoise each other with their hoarse whistles. Guided by these unearthly noises we will get a little closer. There! just over there! the sight freezes our very blood! A horrible sea saurian, fifty feet long, with a body like a whale and great paddles for feet, a head eight feet long and eyes as large as a dinner plate, is just crawling up on the shore. As he comes he bellows like a colossal bull. He is followed by thousands of his kind, some larger and some smaller. Striving for the sunniest bank they engage in deadly conflict to make the waters red with their coarse, brutal blood. This battle attracts myriads of smaller and more active reptiles—veritable water buzzards—fish-lizzards, called by the scientists Ichthyosauers. They have short necks, immense eyes and long teeth, with which they lacerate the sides of the contending Enaliosauers.

And what is that forest of weeds appearing away on the horizon? It approaches! They are not weeds, but the long, slender necks of thousanrs of other lizzard-like reptiles, the Plesiosauers. Their bodies are thirty feet long and very heavy, while from them projects long, slender, serpent-like necks, which rise twenty or thirty feet in the air, and they are surmounted by serpent-like heads, from which dart angry, hissing tongues, as they mingle in the fray and inflict their deadly bites upon the others. The bellowing has become deafening.

Then come the snake-like reptiles, waving their long bodies through the water. They are 80 or 100 feet long, and have an elbow joint to their lower jaws with which to poke their prey down their slimy throats. As far as the eye can reach the sea is a living mass of horrid monsters. The battle is general. The stench from their bodies is sickening. For hours the conflict lasts, until at last, worn out and mangled or dead, the combatants cease from struggling, and those still living slink away beneath the waves and disappear, leaving the shore lined with dead bodies.

The night is coming on. It is uncanny and dangerous and lonely! Let us climb into the nearest Cycad and hide among its fern-like leaves. The moon begins to rise, and with it comes the sound of flight in the air. What can it be? The leaves are still so it is not the rising breeze. O, there, there! what monsters are those flying towards us? They look like great bats. Their wings have a stretch of 40 to 60 feet. It is a flock of Pterodactyls. One almost touches us with his musty-smelling wings. He has great teeth and floats gracefully around and above the dead bodies of the sea reptiles. It is one of the air reptiles of the period. It is a bird-reptile. Existed there ever a creature so perfectly horrible? Hundreds more are coming. They will surely find us and swallow us at a single gulp. O that we were well out of this.

Well, we are out of it. God in His infinite wisdom, saw that the time was not a fit one for man to live in, and He held him back in the bosom of nature for a million or more of years, until those reptiles and reptilian birds had had their day. For three million of years did these monsters dominate the earth. For three millions of years did they struggle and fight and tear each other to pieces. We have heard of the proverbial scarcity of hen's teeth, but here was an age when the very birds of the air had awful teeth, and there was a menace to everything on the face of Thanksgiving turkeys, it may not add to our appreciation of their toothsomeness to know that they are rally a species of advanced reptile, but such is the fact. And strangest of all is the fact that the mention of them in Genesis, as coming together, or in close succession, is fully confirmed by that which scientists find in the strata of the earth. How could the writer of the sacred pages have known what to us appears so nearly incredible, that birds and reptiles are closely related, unless he had that knowledge from the very Creator Himself?

THE END OF THE ERA.

At last the fifth day draws to a close. The reptilian age drags its three millions of years along, and the cooling earth becomes a suitable home for animals of a still higher nature; then in the wisdom of the most high a change takes place and we enter upon the last million of years, which corresponds to the sixth day.

The more peaceful Zenozoic era has arrived, bringing with it the "cattle" and "creeping thing" and "beast" all corresponding to the account given of them in the creations of the sixth day in Genesis.

It may here be remarked that there is no conflict whatever between Genesis and geology, for these animals, according to the earth's flinty records, follow the reptile age, and the Scriptures tell exactly the same story. The animals which succeed the reptilian age are a grade higher in organization, and the "creeping things" here alluded to are land reptiles, which are clearly distinguishable from the sea reptiles of the former period. The earth has been slowly preparing for their reception, and now they appear according to the plan of God's economy. They are true animals, only one grade below man.

The animals of the sixth day reign upon the earth for nearly a million years, according to the best estimates of conservative geologists, and then comes a radical change to the earth's surface, involving the entire difference in climate and all its physical conditions. A cataclysm or world-catastrophe occurred, which may be likened to an earthquake which extended clear around the globe. The ocean beds and continents rose and fell like great waves, and when they came at last to rest, the age of ice was ushered in. Marine upheavals changed the direction of great ocean currents like the Gulf Stream, which, being stopped or turned otherwise transformed the tropical climates into those of arctic coldness.

The whole of the northern and southern polar regions were clad in a mantle of ice, which thickened from age to age, destroying all except a few of the hardier animals of the earth and nearly all the vegetable life then existing. What a cheerless spectacle that must have been to superior intelligences looking upon our planet from other realms! The snows steadily falling and constantly accumulating, were by their own weight, transformed into solid ice, which covered the whole continent to a depth of hundreds of feet.

Here in Alameda and Contra Costa counties the ice was probably not less than a mile in thickness. Right over our heads, up through the solid mass of ice, we might have gone to the surface, if endowed with supernatural powers, and there would have found the snow falling and the unrestricted wintry winds blowing, blowing, while it was snowing and snowing while it was blowing, as the dreadful age of ice and snow dragged its chilling length along into years and decades and aeons. Not a living thing visible, all buried in the tremendous beds of snow and ice, spring, summer and autumn transformed into one long winter which lasted for thousands of years!

But this mass of ice, a mile to five miles in thickness was not stationary. It was constantly moving from the poles toward the equator. Not rapidly, for, look as carefully as you might, were you living then, you could not have seen it move. It traveled southward only about eighteen inches a year, judging by the present rate of movement in Alpine glaciers. This solid mass of ice filled all the mountain ravines and even covered the tops of the mountains themselves, so that mountains and ice became one solid mass.

Remember now, that the warm earth underneath, and other influences of which we know nothing, caused this great field of thick ice to travel equatorwards a little every year. But you will say the mountains sticking up through the ice would act like pegs or spikes of stone to anchor the glacier and hold it still. This might be true of small masses of ice, but for a glacier miles in thickness and thousands of miles in length and breadth, a mountain top furnished but little obstruction, and the field of ice broke off the tops of the mountains and carried them along toward the south, imbeded firmly in the snow and ice.

In the course of years at only eighteen inches a year the broken tops of the mountains were carried several hundred miles from their starting place, and when these rocks worked to the bottom of the glacier by the thawing underneath, and the adding of snows above, also when the ice began to break up, as it did after thousands of years, these rocks were rubbed against each other and rounded off and crushed up into smaller pieces, and these were in turn rolled about and polished off, so that when the ice had all melted they would look something like balls of stone.

In this condition the melting glaciers dropped them all over the country and you know them as "boulders." Some are so small you can pick them up and throw them, while others are as large as a horse or even a church. We know these boulders came from away north of here because we can find the mountains from which many of them were broken many miles to the north. We know about what direction to go to find the original mountain because the mountain sides and tops were scratched by the stones frozen in the ice as they passed over flat places and these scratches show the direction from which the ice came.

At length the ocean beds again changed, starting the gulf stream and other currents of the ocean back toward the north, and the influence of this warmed up the freezing atmosphere and the glaciers broke up and melted into torrents of water which flowed back into the sea. It was like the breaking up of a river in the spring, when the ice goes out, only on an immense scale—a scale so large that it covered the whole of North America.

There were elks living at the time this breaking up occurred, also hardy cave bears, hairy elephants and other animals called mammoths, which were something like but much larger than elephants. And, wonderful to relate, about the time the break up of these glaciers occurred man first appeared upon the earth. Genesis tells us he was made last of all the animals, and here, to, in geology, we find him last. We find stone arrow heads, knives, stone vessels, and sometimes we find the charcoal which was left from his fires and all these first appear at the close of this great ice age, which occurred about seven to ten thousand years ago.

HOW DO WE KNOW?

But, the boys will ask, how does geology find out about these things and about the kind of animals and plants which lived so long ago. Listen: When the waters of a river or the sea wash constantly against the rocks they wear away fine particles of the rocks which become sediment that settles to the bottom of the sea or river in fine smooth layers. Now, if a tree overhangs the water and its leaves or branches fall into the water, or there is a flood, and animals are drowned by the waters, these leaves and trees and animals float about and finally lodge somewhere, and the water covers them up in the fine sand or sediment, burying them entirely out of sight. After a time other of them would be systematically buried in this way. The oldest would be buried the deepest, and the next oldest would be buried just above them and so on up to the present time.

After the plants and animals had been buried a long time they would be heaved up by the shrinking and breaking of the earth's crust and the consequent change of the ocean's bed, whereby it becomes dry land instead of the bottom of the ocean. Thus exposed to the sun and wind, these layers would dry out and petrify or become stone, with the plants and animals still hidden in them. After a long, long time these plants and animals would themselves also turn to stone just as they were buried, or possibly after they had partially decayed.

If we get these rocks and break them open we find these stone plants and animals, which show us just how they looked when they lived so many thousands of years ago. In ten or fifteen millions of years there would be many layers of this stone sediment piled one upon the other, so that it is estimated that these layers all told are about seven miles in thickness. They are not everywhere as thick as that for part of the time the sea was making rocks in Europe, while America was dry land. Then Europe became dry land and America settled down beneath the waves and the sea made rocky layers over it, and so it is only in particular places that the rocks or strata, as they are called, would be seven miles in thickness.

Now, if we were to sink a shaft or dig a hole seven miles deep where the various animals and plants were buried and we were to let a man down this morning clear to the bottom and we should call down and ask him what he found at the very bottom that looked like a plant or animal, he would answer back, "I find Eozoon Canadense," a fossil that looks like the white of egg turned to stone. Turning to Genesis we find that the first hint of life recorded there is where it says, "The Spirit of God brooded upon the face of the waters." That is the nearest we can come. So, while it does not tell us much in either case, whether we read the rocks or the account in Genesis, they tell so nearly the same story that we can find no disagreement between them.

We call down again to know what next he finds. He replies, "I find sea weeds and some sea animals that look almost like the weeds." Turning to the Bible, we find that this is probably the case, for the dry land has not yet appeared, and so all the life there must be marine life. Here again there seems little to be learned from either Genesis or geology, but that little is not conflicting.

We might go on in detail and show how each succeeding form of life as it is read in the rocky leaves of the earth, is in at least an ideal harmony with the account of that life as related in Genesis. As we come nearer the surface we call down and inquire as to the order of the latest forms of life, and our informant down the shaft calls back, "Reptiles of the sea, birds, mammals, land reptiles man." Wonderful! We call again, "Is this order the story of geology?" "Yes, sir." You may turn now and inquire about this order as it is written in the first chapter of Genesis, and you will find the agreement is perfect. Surely the sacred book is inspired, is divine, for when that book was written man knew nothing of geology, but in so far as a short record in a few verses can tell the same story as that contained in volumes of geological research, they are the same.

And when you recall that the various acts which are recorded in accurate order in the first chapter of Genesis are at least ten in number and that with this number it was possible to arrange them in 3,628 800 different ways, and that whoever wrote Genesis got the right order the first time it was put on record, no other explanation than that Almighty God was the informant of the writer will fit the case whatever. That any man should be able to guess the right order out of more than three millions of possible wrong orders shows plainly that something more than human intelligence guided the sacred penman.

NATURE IS ELOQUENT.

But as we cannot sink a shaft seven miles deep, how do men get at the records thus deeply hidden in the bosom of the earth? Here the processes of nature come to our assistance, for the shrinking and breaking of the crust by the contractions and coolings within, and also by the cuttings made in the solid rocks by the water courses in their onward flow to the ocean, we do not require to do much digging after these records, for they are fractured and turned up to the light of day like this. (Illustrated with two handful of books). You have all seen these upturned edges of rocky layers as you passed through some railroad cut or mountain canyon. You noticed how they were tilted upwards. In this way they are exposed so that we may easily read what geology has to tell us.

In closing today I cannot refrain from telling (not quoting) to you the beautiful symbol of the human spirit which Professor Le Conte sees in the glacier. The water of the glacier descends from the sky as a snowflake of spotless whiteness and purity, free from every taint of the earth earthy. When it first rests upon the bosom of the glacier it is the emblem of all that is innocent and immaculately white and unsullied. As it mingles with the ice and snow upon which it has fallen it gradually becomes soiled. Its whiteness vanishes. The horrid winds blow their dust over it. It tries in vain to appear white. At last it becomes loaded down with foul dirt, it is broken and crushed among the grinding rocks. In this unhappy plight it passes on down towards the sea, growing more and more bound up with its unlovely associations and, freed from the bondage of glacial debris, it runs joyfully into the great ocean, only to be caught up in mists and borne again heavenwards, the same bright and pure thing it was when it first descended.

So the human spirit first descends in purity and innocence upon the earth and takes the phsical human frame for its home. It remains comparatively pure for a little time. Then it becomes contaminated with the earth, and takes on unlovely habits. It is imprisoned by decaying flesh and loaded down by the griefs and ills of life. Weary at length with the struggle, it throws down its load of earthiness and sin and disease and pain, and speeds away again to the great ocean of eternity, back into the spiritual empyrean where the home of God is and where there is matchless whiteness and celestial purity. Thus may the devout spirit drink from the glaciers' fountain.

BEWARE OF FOXES.

Rev. Campbell Coyle at the First Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Campbell Coyle preached at the First Presbyterian church last night on the text from Solomon—"The little foxes that spoil the vines." He said

"Examine into the history of the world, into the evolutions of life, or into nature, and you will be impressed with the simple but sublime truth, that the ultimate force back of every movement has been small; so small, indeed as to escape notice were it not for the wonderful effects that flow out of it. The germinal principle is always small. First the acorn, then the oak. But the acorn, as we view it as a whole, is not the starting point. At its center lie a point of force invisible to all eyes but God's, which, when the required conditions are met, begins to energize and expand, and after a while plants its roots deep in the earth and shakes out its foliage, and the tiny thing that was rocked in the cradle of the acorn stands there the crowned and sceptered mon-fathers in the library of Erfurth, when a guiding Providence led him to open a book he had never seen before. That book was the Bible, and that young man was Martin Luther. Immediately under the touch of the fire of that holy book his soul was aflame, and the reformation was under way.

"But this principle as is true on the side of evil as on that of good. And I am not sure but its workings there are more marked, at any rate they are more noticeable. It takes a number of good influences to produce a noble life, whereas a single influence that is evil may blight a life forever. A scratch of a pin will let life out of the body, and the germs of disease so small that the keenest-eyed microscope is needed to find them may defeat the best medical skill. Discontent, if allowed to grow, may develop into treason and take up arms against a great nation.

"Hatred is murder at the core. The way to ruin in thousands of instances has been through the gateway of some modest indulgence. That first drink, that first oath, that first lie, that first act of impurity—one teardrop of repentance could have washed the record clean—but you persisted, and the one sin has become a thousand, and you are enslaved. No prisoner taken in battle and bound to Roman chariot wheel; no negro in bondage on Southern plantation was ever in deeper slavery than you. It is the little foxes that spoil the vines. It is the barnicles on the bottom of the ship that impede the progress. It is the grasshopper that blights the harvest field. Take care of the little things and the great will take care of themselves. But that is just where we fail.

"I have seen a tree beautiful and luxuriant in its growth of foliage. The birds met for choir rehearsal in its branches. The cattle lay in its shade all the long summer afternoon. The mother often sat with her children under it to escape the heat of noon. But after a while its leaves grew yellow and withered, and hung lifeless on their stems, each on its little gibbet. Whence this wholesale execution? Upon examination I found that a tiny insect lay in ambush under each leaf, and, leechlike, was sucking the vitality out of that noble tree. The tree was great, the insect, small, but see that battlefield strewn with death! I have seen men, noble men in their appearance, whose brains were of no ordinary character, whose hearts were like the month of June, but they were careless at first about little things, little sins as they are affectionately called. First one bad habit after another began to settle upon them. They were wholly unconscious of any harm. But by and by you see them begin to wither and fade, and that noble human tree is a grim ruin. Disease invades its trunk and poisonous vines cling round about it and absorb its life, and all too soon it falls with a crash among its fellows. The little foxes did it.

" 'It is the little rift within the lute
That by and by will make the music mute,
And ever widening slowly silence all,—
The little rift within the lover's lute,
Or little pitted speck in garnered fruit,
That, rotting inward, slowly moulders all.'

"This fox tribe is a very numerous one and it would be quite impossible for me to mention all the foxes that are nibbling away at the delicate vines of character. It will be sufficent if I mention a few general ones and let them stand for the rest. Foxes are noted for their cunning, and the faults which I shall speak of may, with reason, be called foxes because of their subtlety and power of deception.

THE CAUSES OF TROUBLE.

"Fox nunmber 1—the fox of ill temper—That disposition that leads so many of us to growl and snap and snarl under the slightest provocation, or without provocation at all.

"Fox number 2—the fox of discontent—That quality, or rather that evil genius that so often possesses us, filling us with gloom or discontent, and causing us to drag shadows about with us wherever we go. That quality which depresses the spirit, burdens the heart with heaviness, blots out the sunlight and the stars, and makes life a dungeon of despair. Oh, the fox of discontent. The vine of your life was beautiful; the leaves were fresh and green, and the grapes hung in rich clusters over the wall of character.

"Fox number 3—the fox of evil-speaking—One of the saddest things we have to encounter as we move along through life is the painfully common tendency to speak unkindly of one another. The world is full of it, and the church is full of it, and we are all more or less guilty? Criticism does not indicate a very high order of talent. It is easy to speak unkind words and write unkind things about another, but there is not an atom of Christ-like spirit in it. How many homes have been blighted, how many hearts saddened and broken by the process of unkindly speaking and misrepresentation. Why look for the flaws and hold them up for criticism when there is much good in every man? Christ found some good in Judas, and much good in Mary Magdalene.

"Fox number 4 and last—The fox of delay in religious things—Why is it that hundreds upon thousands of men and women put off accepting the Lord Jesus Christ as their saviour from sin? If you were shipwrecked and floating about in the sea how eagerly you would grasp at any plank or piece of wreckage that might come within your reach. But if you have not laid hold of the life line thrown out to you by the Son of God your peril is just as real as if you were wrecked in mid ocean and had nothing to keep you afloat. There is nothing more dangerous than delay. It blunts the conscience, and blights the life and hardens the heart. It destroys that sensitiveness which in the noblest souls so quickly responds to the wishes of God.

"Young people, see to it that this fox of delay, so subtle and cunning in his operation, does not destroy the promising vines of your life and rob you of heaven at last. Let Him who said 'I am the vine' into your heart that He may become the vine dresser of your life, and then you will not only be saved, but you will bear much fruit."
